Victor Lawson leaves his Chicago Evening News to the Illinois Trust Co. to operate or sell it, as they choose.

John J. Mitchell, head of that trust company, is as able a business man as there is in Chicago.

Nevertheless, this advice is offered: Sell the Daily News while it is still a valuable property.

If a great bank were left to the greatest of editors, wherever he may be, Mr. Mitchell would advise him to sell the bank, and he would be right.

A newspaper like a baby must grow or die. Putting a newspaper in the hands of a trust company or a committee, is like leaving a baby in a straight jacket.

Leave it in a straight jacket too long and you will never get it started again. So it is with a newspaper.

Mr. Lawson left three-quarters of his entire fortune to the Chicago Congregational Missionary society, the Chicago Theological seminary and the Young Men's Christian association of Chicago.

This would indicate that when he made the will Victor Lawson was not very close to the little people that made his paper and his fortune, especially to those that stood outside in the rain, waiting to get the "help wanted" advertisement.

Shakespeare's "Hamlet" in modern clothing, with knickerbockers, bobbed hair and cigarettes, is, according to London critics, a great success. It takes extraordinary conditions to make a failure of such a Shakespeare.

Once in London, a lady from the continent did the Lady MacBeth sleep walking scene with a very tight and plainly visible corsets under her nightgown. Even that couldn't kill the play.

The next step probably will be Hamlet playing the ukulele in the ghost scene, soft jazz music by the band.

To know such a Shakespeare, read him in a book. Whoever needs the methods of modern actors to help Shakespeare's lines couldn't understand those lines anyhow.

While other makers cut prices, Henry Ford decides to paint his cars, change the looks and keep the price.

Once upon a time, before he used the self-started, Ford told his agents, "I have a starter for you." When the agents, much delighted, asked to see it, Ford said, "I have cut the price $50. That will start your Fords.

An interesting birthday party at Morristown, N. J., yesterday. John Aikman Stewart, oldest alumni of Columbia university, oldest trustee of Princeton university and oldest banker in the world, celebrated his one-hundred and third birthday. Mr. Stewart, chairman of the board of the United States Trust Co. in New York city, takes life quietly—"easy drives, quiet talks, much silence and reflection." That's why he has lived to begin his one hundred and fourth year. Anybody "could" do it.

Rev. C. A. Merrill, of Massachusetts, dropped dead playing tennis. You don't need to be told that he was more than 50 years old. Men past 50 should play tennis only with their grandchildren, moving around slowly, letting the children win. Any strain on the heart from a cold bath in the morning to a cold cocktail at night,

Martin Vrijech is being held in the Midland jail awaiting the arrival of extradition papers from Harrisburg prior to being taken to Gary, Ind., where he is charged with the murder of a farmer named George Simmons, whom it is alleged he shot and killed July 16, 1923.

NEW RECTORY OF ST. ALOYSIUS CHURCH OPENED LAST EVENING

ADJOINS CHURCH

Structure One of Finest in Cleveland Diocese.

Constructed at a cost of approximately $50,000, the new rectory of the St. Aloysius Catholic church, West Fifth street, numbered among the finest in the Cleveland diocese, was opened last night for public inspection. More than a thousand persons viewed the interior of the home, built on the site of the former rectory, adjacent to the church building.

In connection with the opening of the rectory ladies of the parish entertained at a fete on the lawn adjoining.

Excellent workmanship in all details marks the construction of the building. A stone finish presents an exterior view of both substantiality and beauty.

The interior of the rectory, in all of its 21 rooms, is elegantly furnished and equipped.

The building of the rectory was directly supervised by the late Rev. T. A. Dunne, whose tireless efforts in connection with the vast project were consummated recently by death, with his goal in sight.

Rev. Thomas E. Walsh, formerly of Youngstown, who succeeded Rev. Dunne, and Rev. W. J. Fowler, his assistant, carried the plans to completion.

The completion of the rectory places the Catholic church property, which includes the church itself, recently renovated throughout, and a modernly constructed nuns' convent, adjoining the St. Aloysius school, on a par with many of the leading parishes of the diocese.

ARMED BANDITS GET $9,000 OF BIG PAYROLL

Hold up Car at Railroad Crossing in Philadelphia.

SEVEN TAKE PART

Gunmen Make Escape in Auto Driven by Companion.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 28.—Seven heavily armed bandits, wearing stocking masks, early today held up the Pennsylvania Rapid Transit payroll car, containing $80,000 in the central part of Philadelphia. The bandits escaped with three tin boxes containing $9,144.42, the payroll for one of the car barns, after holding at bay the motorman, conductor and a guard with sawed off shot guns and revolvers, according to police.

The men lay in wait for the pay car in a freight car where the pay car crosses the Philadelphia and Reading railroad tracks. The bandits overlooked the rest of the money.

As the pay car approached the railroad crossing six men leaped from a freight car. Two bandits pointed shot guns in the motorman's face and another held a revolver against the conductor's head. Three others leaped on the rear platform of the pay car, and after knocking down the guard with the butt end of their revolvers, hurriedly picked the tin boxes and leaped from the car without stopping to search for the remainder of the money in another part of the car.

The bandits then joined the seventh member of the gang who was holding a fireman on a freight engine at bay with a shot gun.

YOUTH NEARLY DROWNS IN RUN

George Dunn, 7, is Rescued by O. J. Herrington.

Little George Dunn, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dunn of Mapletree street, East End, probably owes his life to Oliver Herrington of Avondale street.

Herrington plunged into a creek near Virginia avenue, East End, this morning and prevented the child, who had slipped over the bank, from drowning.

Workmen have been digging out the creek recently in an effort to clear away the debris and dirt that has clogged the stream bed and caused damage to the Second Presbyterian church property by overflowing.

The Dunn child was playing around the place this morning when, stepping too close to the edge of the creek bank, he suddenly toppled in.

Herrington drove around a nearby corner as he slipped over. He took in the situation at a glance and, leaping from his truck, jumped into the water, several feet deep. He pulled the youngster up to the bank again, safe and sound.

REV. J. F. DIMIT PASTOR FOR 16 YEARS, WILL BE RETURNED HERE

Local Minister to Attend Pittsburgh Conference Meeting.

HERE SINCE 1909

Second Oldest Pastor in City From Service Viewpoint.

Rev. John F. Dimit will be returned as pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church for the 17th successive year at the annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Protestant denomination which will be held in the First Church, Northside, Pittsburgh, beginning Tuesday, September 8.

The congregation of the local church, at a recent business meeting extended Rev. Dimit a unanimous call for another year. The wishes of the congregation are considered in the assignment of pastors in connection with the annual conference meetings.

The local church at the Pittsburgh meeting will be represented by Rev. Mr. Dimit and Samuel Spencer, who is the lay delegate. The meeting will probably close on Monday, September 14th.

Rev. Dimit assumed charge of the East Liverpool church in the fall of 1909, succeeding Rev. Mr. Sisson, who was forced to resign because of failing health. From the viewpoint of service, he is the oldest pastor in the city, with the exception of Rev. J. G. Reinartz, pastor of the St. Johns Lutheran church.

During Rev. Mr. Dimit's pastorate the local church has experienced a wonderful growth in membership. A new church, costing approximately $125,000 was completed about a year and a half ago, under Rev. Dimit's direction.

Last year's conference meeting was held in this city.

Second Oldest Pastor in City From Service Viewpoint.

Rev. John F. Dimit will be returned as pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church for the 17th successive year at the annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Protestant denomination which will be held in the First Church, Northside, Pittsburgh, beginning Tuesday, September 8.

The congregation of the local church, at a recent business meeting extended Rev. Dimit a unanimous call for another year. The wishes of the congregation are considered in the assignment of pastors in connection with the annual conference meetings.

The local church at the Pittsburgh meeting will be represented by Rev. Mr. Dimit and Samuel Spencer, who is the lay delegate. The meeting will probably close on Monday, September 14th.

Rev. Dimit assumed charge of the East Liverpool church in the fall of 1909, succeeding Rev. Mr. Sisson, who was forced to resign because of failing health. From the viewpoint of service, he is the oldest pastor in the city, with the exception of Rev. J. G. Reinartz, pastor of the St. Johns Lutheran church.

During Rev. Mr. Dimit's pastorate the local church has experienced a wonderful growth in membership. A new church, costing approximately $125,000 was completed about a year and a half ago, under Rev. Dimit's direction.

Last year's conference meeting was held in this city.

ROAD PROGRAM BEING FRAMED

Prosecuting Attorney Brookes Working on Legislation.

Initial legislation, of which there will be considerable, is now being prepared by Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes, which will have to do with a three-year road building program as proposed by the county commissioners. It may follow that this legislation will be in shape to be acted upon by the commissioners next Monday, and if not then, it will be completed in time to be considered at a meeting of the board September 8.

A special meeting of the commissioners was held in Lisbon Wednesday afternoon when a three-year road construction program was gone over thoroughly. It is known that the state highway department looks with favor upon speedier road building in Columbiana county, and it is up to the board of commissioners to work out a road program, and at the same time devise ways and means to obtain money to meet the appropriation that has been assured by the state highway department.

It has been intimated by the commissioners for many months that it was the desire of the board to put through a road program during the next few years that would result in the connection of all intercounty highways and main market roads that have been built in part during the years that the 10-mill levy has been in effect. With this idea in view, a road building program to extend over a period of three years is now being designed, and should the program be adopted there will be no "dead ends" to improved highways in any part of Columbiana county.

Such a program would result in the connecting of about every city and village within the county, and this means that about every one of the 18 townships in the county would be concerned in the proposed road building program.

Should it be possible for the county commissioners to finance this program to meet state and federal appropriations, the board will have sufficient money at its command to build additional roads to connect with the intercounty highways and also the main market roads.

Such roads, it is pointed out, are not extensively traveled, and either cinder or slag can be used to surface these roads in order that connections can be made with the concrete roads.

When the new road program is worked out, it will likely be determined that all surfacing will be done with concrete, a type of road that is now being built generally in this county.

Just as soon as the legislation having to do with this new road program is completed by Mr. Brookes and adopted by the commissioners, the matter of financing the series of roads will then be finally determined upon.

CLARKSON GRANGE TO HOLD PICNIC

Final arrangements have been made for the annual picnic and outing of Clarkson Grange No. 1802 which will be held Sept. 4 at the Grange hall in Clarkson. For several years, the event has been held at Echo Dell, but on account of the condition of the roads leading to that spot, it has been decided to have the event at the usual place of meeting. This will be the sixth annual summer outing of this grange.

Walter F. Kirk, a member of the state legislature and a member of the executive committee of the Ohio state grange will be the speaker during the afternoon.

Included in the sporting program will be a race for fat men and one for women; 200 yard dash for young men and also one for young women; 100 dash for children, both boys and girls; nail driving contest for women and also one for girls. A pie eating contest will close the sporting events.

A prize has also been hung up for the most delapidated automobile that will be driven into Clarkson that day.

An invitation has been extended to members of all granges in the county to attend this outing, as a welcome to all non-members of the grange.

"We hope to have the best meeting in years," Secretary James F. Veness declared in announcing the program. This will be the first time Mr. Kirk will have talked in this county.

"PASSION PLAY" TO BE PRESENTED

A new service is in preparation for the Lisbon public on next Sunday evening at the Lisbon operahouse, under the auspices of the First Reformed church and directed by the pastor, Rev. O. J. Harvil. An array of talent has been secured for this service. A solist of commanding influence has been booked and two quartets—male and mixed—will be present. A reader of reputation will contribute to the evening's program.

The "Passion Play" in motion pictures will bring the chief message of the evening. An orchestra will play from 7:10 to 7:30, when the program starts. There will be no admission fee, but a free will offering will be lifted to meet expenses. This is a sacred service.

His wife has now through he counsel, K. L. Coburn of Salem, asks for a divorce, alimony, custody of her children and a restraining order against her husband.

Mrs. Yonovich, who resides on R. D. No. 6 Salem, charges her husband with bibitiual drunkeness, extreme cruelty, in that he ill treated her.

She declares that she put $2,000 into the farm that she and her husband owns, and that he put $2,000 in the deal, and that the deed is made to them jointly. She also asks the court to have Sheriff George Wright restrained from selling the farm to satisfy the note, now in default, which her husband gave to liquidate his liquor fine. A restraining order is also asked from the court against her husband from in anyway interfering with the plaintiff, or from selling the farm or any chattles thereon.

Hessian Fly Fails To Inflict Usual Amount of Damage

The Hessian fly, the worst insect pest of wheat in Ohio, did four percent less damage throughout the state last year principally because farmers sowed their crop at the right time, a state survey shows.

"Fly-free dates were particularly well observed last fall," says county agent Lloyd Lower, "but some counties still have on infestation as high as 28 percent. Sowing dates should be observed this fall as rigidly as before. The safest time to sow wheat in Columbiana county is between Sept. 28 and October 4th."

"By postponing wheat sowing until this period the Ohio grower will outwit the Hessian fly. This insect emerges as a fly from the old stubble on about the above date in this county and lives only a few days. If the insect fails to find new wheat plants on which to lay its eggs it will die without having reproduced.

"The survey shows that Drake, Fairfield and Champaign counties have an infestation of more than 20 percent this year, and other counties of the state range to as low as one-half of one per cent. The figures also show that as a general thing infestation was much reduced in districts where the fly-free dates were most rigidly observed.

"County-wide co-operation is necessary. One or two early sown fields in a community may be a menace to the entire district."

The End of August Brings Clearaway Sale Prices in Almost Every Section of the Store

Women as shoppers may be divided into three classes. Those who shop where fancy dictates; those who shop here and there wherever there happens to be a "special sale"; and those who concentrate on a reliable store of long standing that has stood by them through all phases of business conditions, always maintaining honest quality at honest prices.

In the long run, which class of shopper is the gainer? Unquestionably it is those who receive constant, unwavering value in their favorite store. The steady 100% value they receive for every dollar spent totals surprising savings at the end of a year, as there is never a regretted purchase—there is never a loss.

Our patrons are largely of this last class and new ones are being added to our ranks every day.

It may follow that this legislation will be in shape to be acted upon by the commissioners next Monday, and if not then, it will be completed in time to be considered at a meeting of the board September 8.

A special meeting of the commissioners was held in Lisbon Wednesday afternoon when a three-year road construction program was gone over thoroughly. It is known that the state highway department looks with favor upon speedier road building in Columbiana county, and it is up to the board of commissioners to work out a road program, and at the same time devise ways and means to obtain money to meet the appropriation that has been assured by the state highway department.

It has been intimated by the commissioners for many months that it was the desire of the board to put through a road program during the next few years that would result in the connection of all intercounty highways and main market roads that have been built in part during the years that the 10-mill levy has been in effect. With this idea in view, a road building program to extend over a period of three years is now being designed, and should the program be adopted there will be no "dead ends" to improved highways in any part of Columbiana county.

Such a program would result in the connecting of about every city and village within the county, and this means that about every one of the 18 townships in the county would be concerned in the proposed road building program.

Should it be possible for the county commissioners to finance this program to meet state and federal appropriations, the board will have sufficient money at its command to build additional roads to connect with the intercounty highways and also the main market roads.

Such roads, it is pointed out, are not extensively traveled, and either cinder or slag can be used to surface these roads in order that connections can be made with the concrete roads.

When the new road program is worked out, it will likely be determined that all surfacing will be done with concrete, a type of road that is now being built generally in this county.

Just as soon as the legislation having to do with this new road program is completed by Mr. Brookes and adopted by the commissioners, the matter of financing the series of roads will then be finally determined upon.

CLARKSON GRANGE TO HOLD PICNIC

Final arrangements have been made for the annual picnic and outing of Clarkson Grange No. 1802 which will be held Sept. 4 at the Grange hall in Clarkson. For several years, the event has been held at Echo Dell, but on account of the condition of the roads leading to that spot, it has been decided to have the event at the usual place of meeting. This will be the sixth annual summer outing of this grange.

Walter F. Kirk, a member of the state legislature and a member of the executive committee of the Ohio state grange will be the speaker during the afternoon.

Included in the sporting program will be a race for fat men and one for women; 200 yard dash for young men and also one for young women; 100 dash for children, both boys and girls; nail driving contest for women and also one for girls. A pie eating contest will close the sporting events.

A prize has also been hung up for the most delapidated automobile that will be driven into Clarkson that day.

An invitation has been extended to members of all granges in the county to attend this outing, as a welcome to all non-members of the grange.

"We hope to have the best meeting in years," Secretary James F. Veness declared in announcing the program. This will be the first time Mr. Kirk will have talked in this county.

"PASSION PLAY" TO BE PRESENTED

A new service is in preparation for the Lisbon public on next Sunday evening at the Lisbon operahouse, under the auspices of the First Reformed church and directed by the pastor, Rev. O. J. Harvil. An array of talent has been secured for this service. A solist of commanding influence has been booked and two quartets—male and mixed—will be present. A reader of reputation will contribute to the evening's program.

The "Passion Play" in motion pictures will bring the chief message of the evening. An orchestra will play from 7:10 to 7:30, when the program starts. There will be no admission fee, but a free will offering will be lifted to meet expenses. This is a sacred service.

Other marraige licenses issued were to Paul Lucician and Olympia Ventresco, of Salem, who who are to be married by the Rev. DIVORCE SOUGHT BY SALEM WOMAN

After Joe Yonovich was fined $1,000 for violating the liquor laws, he gave a note with security for the payment of the fine. But he has left the county and is residing with Mike Tepavac on Wells street, Steubenville.

His wife has now through he counsel, K. L. Coburn of Salem, asks for a divorce, alimony, custody of her children and a restraining order against her husband.

Mrs. Yonovich, who resides on R. D. No. 6 Salem, charges her husband with hibitiual drunkeness, extreme cruelty, in that he ill treated her.

She declares that she put $3,000 into the farm that she and her husband owns, and that he put $2,000 in the deal, and that the deed is made to them jointly. She also asks the court to have Sheriff George Wright restrained from selling the farm to satisfy the note, now in default, which her husband gave to liquidate his liquor fine. A restraining order is also asked from the court against her husband from in anyway interfering with the plaintiff, or from selling the farm or any chattles thereon.

Hessian Fly Fails To Inflict Usual Amount of Damage

The Hessian fly, the worst insect pest of wheat in Ohio, did four percent less damage throughout the state last year principally because farmers sowed their crop at the right time, a state survey shows.

"Fly-free dates were particularly well observed last fall," says county agent Lloyd Lower, "but some counties still have on infestation as high as 28 percent. Sowing dates should be observed this fall as rigidly as before. The safest time to sow wheat in Columbiana county is between Sept. 28 and October 4th."

"By postponing wheat sowing until this period the Ohio grower will outwit the Hessian fly. This insect emerges as a fly from the old stubble on about the above date in this county and lives only a few days. If the insect fails to find new wheat plants on which to lay its eggs it will die without having reproduced.

"The survey shows that Drake, Fairfield and Champaign counties have an infestation of more than 20 percent this year, and other counties of the state range to as low as one-half of one per cent. The figures also show that as a general thing infestation was much reduced in districts where the fly-free dates were most rigidly observed.

"County-wide co-operation is necessary. One or two early sown fields in a community may be a menace to the entire district."

Those who shop where fancy dictates; those who shop here and there wherever there happens to be a "special sale"; and those who concentrate on a reliable store of long standing that has stood by them through all phases of business conditions, always maintaining honest quality at honest prices.

In the long run, which class of shopper is the gainer? Unquestionably it is those who receive constant, unwavering value in their favorite store. The steady 100% value they receive for every dollar spent totals surprising savings at the end of a year, as there is never a regretted purchase—there is never a loss.

SHOWER OF OVER-RIPE FRUIT GREETS WIDOW 70, AS SHE MARRIES MAN, 30

CATANIA, Sicily.—A whole neighborhood in this Sicilian city has been in a state of tumult on account of a singular marriage. The disturbances have been so great that the police have had to interevne.

Providenza Leone, a robust woman, seventy-six and quite able to take care of herself, decided, after being a widow for a long period, to marry Tommaso Nicoletti, a bachelor of thirty. She had kept a shop for fifty years and had prospered so that her worldly goods were not to be despised, and her next of kin had had their eyes on her possessions as a sure thing for themselves. Consequently, when they heard of the projected wedding they were furious and determined to prevent it at any cost.

At the hour set for the ceremony these relatives and their friends, who were gathered together in front of the bride's house began to make a verbal demonstration, and their words were accompanied by a primitive orchestra, in which every possible sort of instrument had a part, and the discord and noise were terrific.

As the bridal couple started to go to the Town hall for the civil marriage the crowd covered them with a shower of over-ripe fruit and vegetables. In front of the church the same thing happened. The priest was ready to celebrate the religious part of the wedding; but the police and the carabinieri had to be called to get the disturbers out of the church and permit the ceremony to take place.

MANY FEATURES AT STATE FAIR

Wheeling Fair Management Plans for Big Crowds This Year.

The leading purchasers of "big-time" outdoor acts, according to Frank Wirth, husband of the famous equestrienne, May Wirth, are the large fairs of the United States and Canada, which are constantly seeking novel and sensational features for the entertainment of their enormous crowds. One of the largest buyers of the West Virginia state fair, Wheeling, which, according to Mr. Wirth, has booked through his New York agency, an $11,000.00 program of stellar attractions for the annual exposition, September 7th-12th, including such notable features as the English Ballet; the Gaudsmidts; Sully, Rogers and Sully; the Great Cahill; the Phunny Phord, and Fred's Pigs.

Two noted bands will play each day and evening at the fair. Corvone's 107th Field Artillery band and Lampham's band of soloists. Lampham has played before at the fair, proving so popular that a return engagement was requested, and is too well-known to fair visitors to require any introduction. Corvono's band, called the American Legion band, played for the president of France during the World war and escorted President Woodrow Wilson on his first visit to France. Corvono led the 160-piece Great Lakes Naval band on its tour of the country in behalf of the third and fourth Liberty loans, and enjoys a high reputation among America's leading band masters. On the opening night of the night show of the fair (Labor Day) the two bands will join to give a massed concert.

As the grand climax of each night's show a brilliant pyrotechnic spectacle will be shown.

Entries in exhibit departments and in the racing card are unusually heavy, and there is every promise that the coming fair will surpass all previous ones in every respect.

Locked in his bed room by his mother to prevent his marriage, a youth of County Monahan, Ireland, could not meet his fance at the altar, but escaped after 48 hours, carried the girl by speeding motor to a minister and was quickly married.

Messages sent by wireless to Eastern United States from the West Indies cost 36 cents a word.

VALUED MOSAIC IS UNEARTHED

ROME.—Monsignor Sascioli, director of St. Peter's Museum, has unearthed in the underground vaults of St. Peter's basilica an original unrestored mosaic by the thirteenth century artista Giotti, representing the head of an angel.

This treasure was found beneath another subject, which was popularly supposed to be by Giotti. It now seems that the latter was an imitation done over Giotti's original work.

The mosiac was part of Giotti's great mosaic over the principal entrance to the portico of St. Peter's.

RICH DISCOVERIES IN SOUTH WALES

SYDNEY—Important gold discoveries have been made at Springbrook, New South Wales, and at Blackhill, near Ballarat, Victoria state. That at Springbrook is said to be very rich, assays for the lode yielding six ounces to the ton.

Old-timers are bestirring themselves at Ballarat, the scene of many famous gold rushes of the past. The Blackhill reefs are nearly three feet thick, and it is reported that crushings are giving big yields.

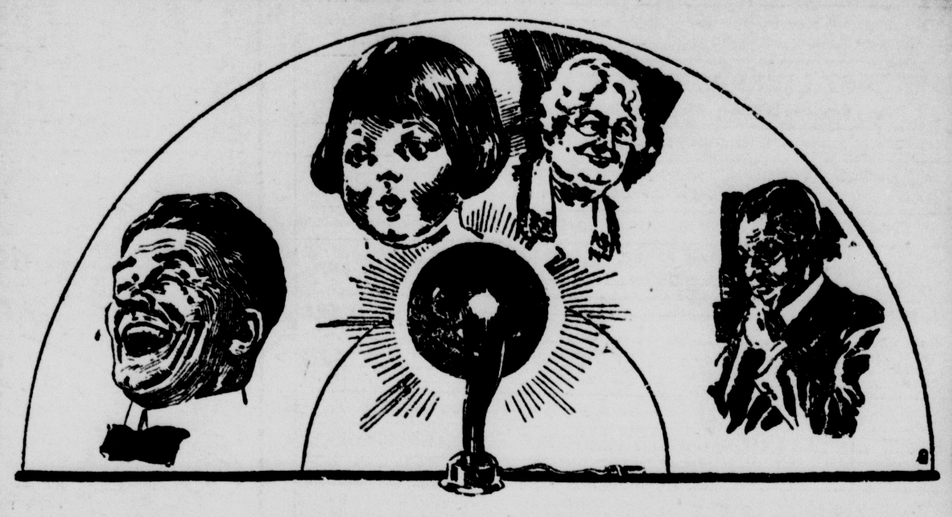

Rome, Italy, is to spend $50,000,000 in public works by 1936.

Roots and Herbs Used in Medicine

The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., is recognized as the greatest user of roots and herbs in the world. Over half a million pounds are used annually in manufacturing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. These herbs are gathered with the greatest care at the season of the year when the medicinal elements which they contain are at their best. This, in part, accounts for the wonderful efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in restoring ailing women to health and strength.

Wheeling Fair Management Plans for Big Crowds This Year.

The leading purchasers of "big-time" outdoor acts, according to Frank Wirth, husband of the famous equestrienne, May Wirth, are the large fairs of the United States and Canada, which are constantly seeking novel and sensational features for the entertainment of their enormous crowds. One of the largest buyers of the West Virginia state fair, Wheeling, which, according to Mr. Wirth, has booked through his New York agency, an $11,000.00 program of stellar attractions for the annual exposition, September 7th-12th, including such notable features as the English Ballet; the Gaudsmidts; Sully, Rogers and Sully; the Great Cahill; the Phunny Phord, and Fred's Pigs.

Two noted bands will play each day and evening at the fair. Corvone's 107th Field Artillery band and Lampham's band of soloists. Lampham has played before at the fair, proving so popular that a return engagement was requested, and is too well-known to fair visitors to require any introduction. Corvono's band, called the American Legion band, played for the president of France during the World war and escorted President Woodrow Wilson on his first visit to France. Corvono led the 160-piece Great Lakes Naval band on its tour of the country in behalf of the third and fourth Liberty loans, and enjoys a high reputation among America's leading band masters. On the opening night of the night show of the fair (Labor Day) the two bands will join to give a massed concert.

As the grand climax of each night's show a brilliant pyrotechnic spectacle will be shown.

Entries in exhibit departments and in the racing card are unusually heavy, and there is every promise that the coming fair will surpass all previous ones in every respect.

VALUED MOSAIC IS UNEARTHED

ROME.—Monsignor Sascioli, director of St. Peter's Museum, has unearthed in the underground vaults of St. Peter's basilica an original unrestored mosaic by the thirteenth century artista Giotti, representing the head of an angel.

This treasure was found beneath another subject, which was popularly supposed to be by Giotti. It now seems that the latter was an imitation done over Giotti's original work.

The mosiac was part of Giotti's great mosaic over the principal entrance to the portico of St. Peter's.

RICH DISCOVERIES IN SOUTH WALES

SYDNEY—Important gold discoveries have been made at Springbrook, New South Wales, and at Blackhill, near Ballarat, Victoria state. That at Springbrook is said to be very rich, assays for the lode yielding six ounces to the ton.

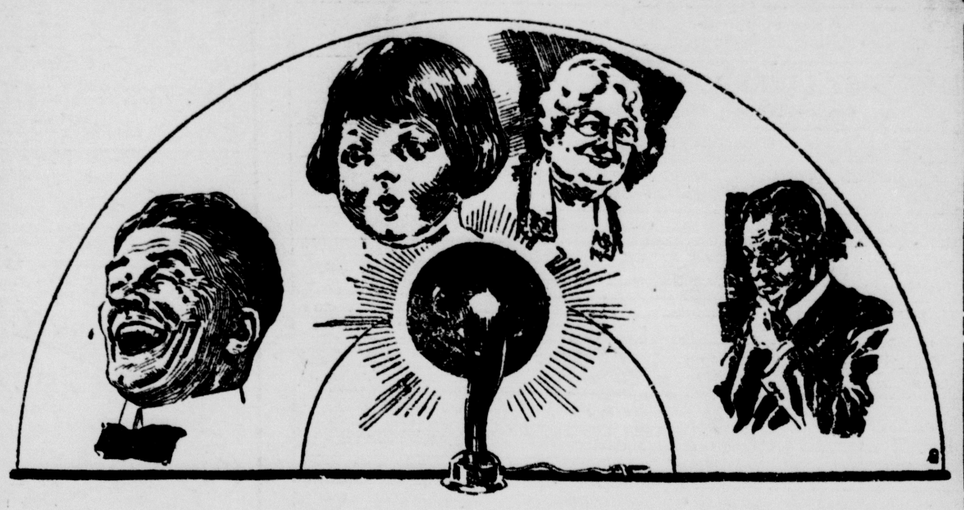

Old-timers are bestirring themselves at Ballarat, the scene of many famous gold rushes of the past. The Blackhill reefs are nearly three feet thick, and it is reported that crushings are giving big yields.

Rome, Italy, is to spend $50,000,000 in public works by 1936.

Roots and Herbs Used in Medicine

The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., is recognized as the greatest user of roots and herbs in the world. Over half a million pounds are used annually in manufacturing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. These herbs are gathered with the greatest care at the season of the year when the medicinal elements which they contain are at their best. This, in part, accounts for the wonderful efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in restoring ailing women to health and strength.

Fair Living Costs

An economist gives as his explanation of the high retail food costs the fact that such large numbers of purchasers in these days must buy their food in small quantities. The apartment house dweller has no satisfactory storage space for fruits and vegetables. Those articles must be purchased by the pound in quantities small enough to be used up in a few days.

It costs the grocer about as much to deliver these small purchases as it did to handle the larger ones of former days. Hence, the things cost the buyer more in proportion than ever before. There are other complexities in modern life which add to its costliness.

It should be remembered, however, that many of these things add also to the comfort and health of the modern home. Everything must be paid for in labor or in money. If we are to rejoice in freedom from some past labors we must expect to pay something for that freedom.

Wherever living costs can be reduced by sensible standardization, better methods of production and distribution, by the elimination of waste and the fullest utilization of goods, the intelligent consumer will do his part to effect such cost reduction. But where living costs can be reduced only by giving up health, comfort or freedom, intelligent consumers will recognize their fairness and pay them cheerfully.

Sensible And Also Pretty

To a college girl in Evanston, Ill., goes credit for the discovery of a valuable business principle.

Just out of school, and feeling around for something profitable to do, she heard a friend complain that her daughter "would not wear warm pajamas because they were not pretty." It was even so. The girl-graduate looked around the stores and found that light pajamas were pretty, but warm, comfortable ones, suitable for winter, were not. That gave her the business opportunity she was seeking. She bought some flannel in charming colors and patterns and started making pajamas for some of her friends, on trial. The idea took so well that now she has an established trade, sells pajamas all over the United States and in some foreign lands, and is making money with them.

People will not buy sensible clothing if it is not attractive to the eye. They will buy clothing that is not sensible if it is attractive. The ideal way is to make clothing both sensible and beautiful. The same principle applies to other forms of merchandise.

Housing Need Ended

Even while the building boom throughout the country continues, the department of labor finds that the housing shortage is ended. As regards homes, at least, further building might be expected henceforth only in the amount required for normal replacement. Further construction on the scale of the last few years, the department warns, will mean overproduction, with lower prices and depression in the building industry.

The building may let up now; and it may not. The question arises, what is normal in housing accommodations? There are many evidences that the American people have risen to new standards. If so, hereafter they will require better homes and more housing space than ever before, per unit of population. They may also require replacements more frequently. It may prove to be almost as hard to "saturate" the market for homes as the market for automobiles.

Jazz For Work

The use of a jazz band to help Miss Ederle in her channel swim was a new testimonial to the stimulating influence of music. It is evident that music has power not only to soothe the savage breast but to rouse the civilized breast to unusual exertion.

There is probably far more potency in music in general than most people have ever suspected. The particular kind of potency depends on the kind of music played. Some kinds appeal direct to the soul, rousing the finer spiritual forces. Some appeal to the mind or imagination. Others stir the physical forces. Jazz is one of the latter.

The use of jazz to stimulate physical activity might be more widely extended. Why confine it entirely to pastime or sport? If it made people work as hard as it makes them dance, jazz might be a mighty useful force in the world.

That Morphologic Index

Here is a new way to tell whether one is fat or lean. First the investigator gets the individual's morphologic index, and that tells the whole tale. If the index is low the individual is a brachymorph, and that is a short, fat person. If the index is high the individual is a dolichomorph, and that is long and thin.

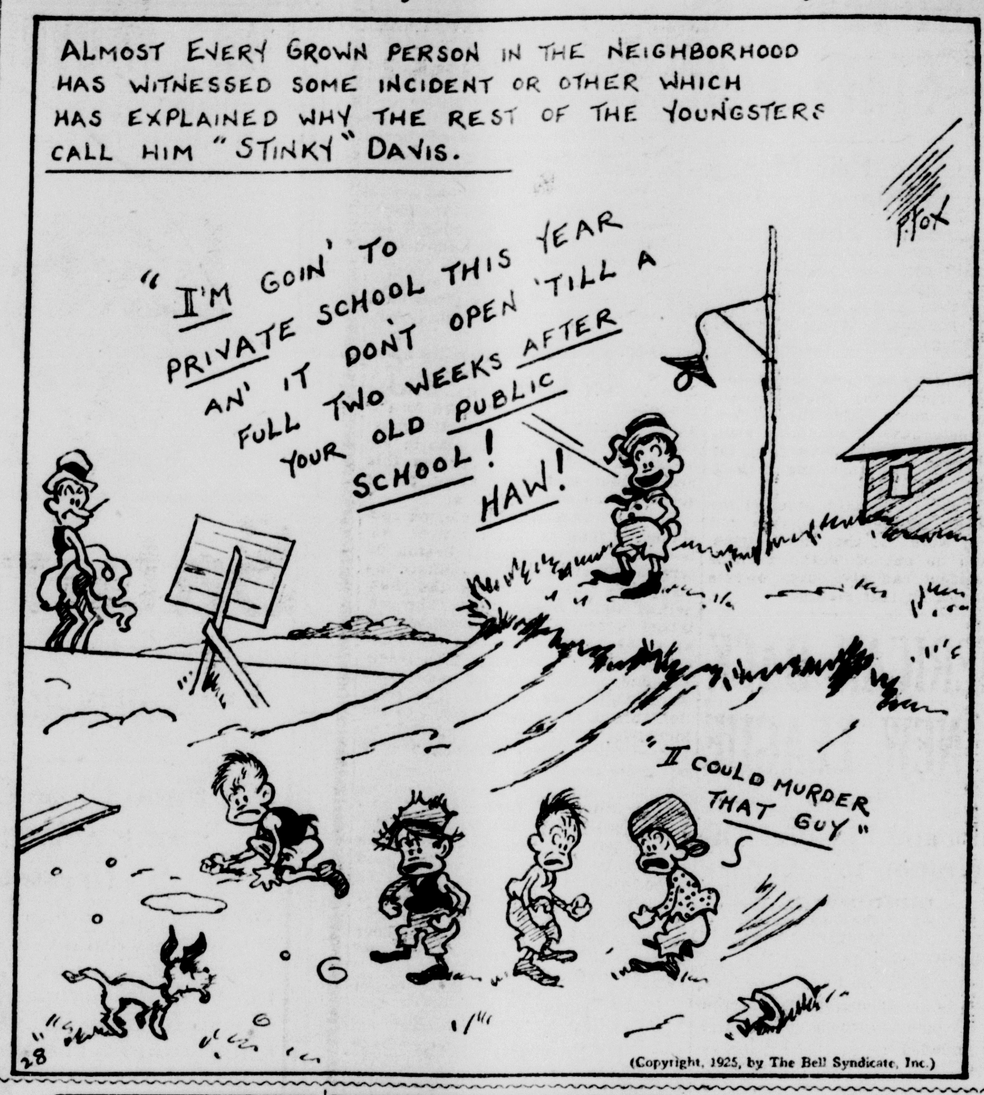

Anyone eager to find out his own true condition may follow these simple instructions. Divide the length of the arm plus the length of one leg by the volume of the body trunk and the result is the wanted—it is wanted, isn't it?—index.

Looking in a mirror may seem to get at the same truths more quickly, but it's a much less scientific way.

After all this fuss about swimming the English channel, don't blame little Willie when he tries to swim the creek.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Thoughts and scenes while strolling around New York: The spray of the Plaza fountain. Rising and falling. Like the heartbeat of the city. Pigeons and the honk of geese. Jaundiced Jehus. Whatever became of Oliver Osborne?

A mansion whose only approach is by motor. A sardonic fling at the pedestrian—and book agent. A white-haired man with a fraternity hat band. Atta cake-eater! The cries of flower peddlers. Angling for Fifth avenue promenaders. George Arliss and monocle.

The tea-hounds. Languorous eyelids. Pen wiper mustaches. The parents of a movie child wonder. Sporting a liveried limousine. Howard Chandler Christy, the artist. The asepsis aroma of a hospital. Nurses whispering in the hall. A court yard filled with wheel chairs.

A woman beating a man with an umbrella. Hold 'er Newt, she's a rearin'! A cop and they vanish. The big apartment house on Seventh avenue called "Tragedy Hall." Doughnut and coffee holes. Woolly white dogs with neck bells. Ladies in wrappers. Men in shirt sleeves.

All night jewelry stores. With entire stock in windows. A guitar twangs from an open window. A woman in kid curlers. Singing "All Alone." No wonder! Radios in bootblack parlors. The fringe of the Rialto. Chorus boys and villainous heavies. Pert ingenues and oily haired leads.

The beehive of movie offices with Earl Carroll's bungalow atop. Drug stores that cater to chorus girls. Three steam riveters in a block. And me with second company nerves. Charles K. Harris. The sophisticated crowd of loungers about the Columbia burlesque house.

Broadway lights begin the nightly dance. Wonder what it will all be like 50 years from now.

The midnight movie audiences on Broadway present a strange assortment. They are mostly night workers—printers, cafeteria cashiers and pressmen. There are a few who are sleeping off earlier in the evening indulgences, but I saw only four women in one crowded theater. The morning movie audiences are also mostly men and I am told the larger number are New Yorkers. They are salesmen, collectors and others whose time is largely their own and they kill a little of it with a bit of romance and comedy.

George M. Cohan rarely talks business in his office—indeed he seldom goes there. But if he is trapped by an appointment he takes his man to a little areaway in the rear of the theater that bears his name where he can plunge his hands deep in his trouser pockets and walk up and down. Cohan admits he cannot talk well sitting down. He differs from many actors who can strut sitting down.

Most big executives have some nervous mannerism. They like to fidget. Henry L. Doherty slicks back his hair. A. L. Erlanger fiddles his watch chain. Will Hayes writes his initials over and over again on a blotter. George Horace Lorimer plucks at an eyebrow. Otto Kahn rubs the back of his hand slowly. Roy Howard pulls the lobe of his right ear. And there is a big financier who, only when a big deal is hinging, chews tobacco furiously.

There are fewer chewers of the weed in New York than in perhaps any other city—or it may be white vests are out of fashion. At any rate many of the tobacco shops do not keep chewing tobacco, although they keep snuff and the number of snuff users of both sexes in the city is quite large. Building workers sometimes chew, but the majority smoke. Cigarettes, so the tobacconists say, have claimed nearly all the old time tobacco chewers.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Labor and Education.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—Organized labor wants education to have a purposeful function in the expanding spirit of all the people. There can be no question but that life under our democratic ideals makes increasingly large demands upon all citizens. Only through enlarged educational opportunities can labor hope to take advantage of the opportunities contained in such demands.

Labor realizes that if workers have not opportunities to keep pace with changes attending scientific discovery and research and the reformulation of organized information, they are restricted by the barriers much more effective and deep-reaching than those interposed by economic classes, for the possession of information and the training of intellectual powers will enable them to overcome all other obstacles.

Such are highlights in a discussion by Matthew Woll of the questions of labor and larger educational opportunities and the possible cooperation of the American Library association in carrying forward labor's program. Mr. Woll is one of the leading officials of the American Federation of Labor, chairman of its commtitee on education, and chairman of the executive committee of the Workers' Education Bureau.

Fundamental in labor's educational program, he says, it labor's clear-cut distinction between propaganda and education. Facts and truths are the materials with which education, as labor conceives it, deals.

"We would not even if we could," says Mr. Woll, "make of education propaganda instrumentality for any cause. American labor does not conceive of itself as a class inevitably in conflict with all other classes. On the contrary, it believes that upon broad, basic issues the interests of all groups become unified. In education our contention has been for the inclusion of all elements rather than special attention to traditionally limited groups.

"American labor, far from being at war with the rest of the nation, seeks the way to permanent betterment by trying to coordinate labor's interests with the welfare of other social and industrial groups."

As To Public Schools.

So far as the program concerns public schools, continues this authority, labor has steadily sought to broaden and enrich the curriculum and to make the method that of giving the individual control of his resources and abilities so that he may have keener joy in living, do better work, and steadily reach higher levels of understanding. As the age limit for compulsory education has been successively advanced, labor has increasingly realized that education is not something completed with any fixed period of development, but is a process paralleling mental development and that it ought to parallel the whole span of life.

"Thus we found the frontiers of adult education in the traditional university and college training from which we ourselves had been debarred," says Mr. Woll. "Many of us are making sacrifices that our boys and girls shall have academic training. Our invasion of the once exclusive region of higher education has disclosed to us that if we can not go to the university campus, the university can develop a bigger life and its service can flow through ramifications that reach to the humblest walks of men."

For adult education of wage earners labor is giving its undivided moral and financial support to the Workers' Education Bureau which exists, according to its declared purpose, to collect and disseminate information relative to efforts at education conducted by any part of organized labor; to coordinate and assist in every possible manner the educational work now being carried on by the organized workers, and to stimulate the creation of additional enterprises in labor education in the United States.

The bureau is a federation of trade unions and workers education bodies. Upon its executive committee are are representations of the American Federation of Labor, national and international unions which pay the bureau dues on a per capita basis, and local unions as well as workers' educational enterprises.

A Workers' Bookshelf.

For use in its work the bureau is developing a Workers' Bookshelf and a series of syllabi and pamphlets dealing with various trade union policies, social and labor problems. These publications are to meet special needs and to supplement more general writings, and they are said to have set a high standard for textbook writing by their combination of scholarship, simplicity and good printing. Mr. Woll says that because they realize that they need the assistance of many other groups to make the undertaking successful they have sought the cooperation of friendly teachers and socially minded citizens who have had valuable experience to contribute.

Obviously, in Mr. Woll's opinion, there is opportunity for vital cooperation between libraries and workers' education undertakings. Study classes must have books and if the public libraries can furnish them under conditions that make them easily accessible to the worker-students great good will be done. In addition to meeting the known needs of study classes, it is pointed out, there are innumerable ways in which librarians by suggestions and constructive advice can help individuals as well as groups in self-conducted study and quests for culture.

Mr. Woll says that the Federation is now concerned with the problem of increasing the opportunities for technical training, which has a direct bearing upon that essential to the maintenance of craftsmanship, the training of apprentices.

In this connection the program or immediate plan is three-angled: First to secure from affiliated organizations lists of books and treatises on the technical problems of their trades and industries; second, to secure the assistance of the public librarians of the country in making books available on the shelves of public libraries to workers' classes; and, third, to add to the number and increase the quality of such books.

It is suggested that the American Library association could be the clearing agency to interest persons competent to write such books in rendering service as well as to help establish standards to which the books should conform so as to combine authority with simplicity.

"Our trade union movement is something more than an agency concerned with hours, wages and conditions of work," says Mr. Woll, in conclusion. "We have concerned ourselves with such matters as are necessary for the establishment of primary standards of justice pre-requisite to opportunities essential to satisfaction in living. We workers want freedom and opportunity to create and our trade union movement is the agency by which we may possess that heritage.

"We are not seeking to dispossess any other group, but to put into the common life of all greater richness and beauty. We want to find a way to give reality to Democratic ideals and we realize that education must be increasingly important in our methods."

George M. Cohan rarely talks business in his office—indeed he seldom goes there. But if he is trapped by an appointment he takes his man to a little areaway in the rear of the theater that bears his name where he can plunge his hands deep in his trouser pockets and walk up and down. Cohan admits he cannot talk well sitting down. He differs from many actors who can strut sitting down.

Most big executives have some nervous mannerism. They like to fidget. Henry L. Doherty slicks back his hair. A. L. Erlanger fiddles his watch chain. Will Hayes writes his initials over and over again on a blotter. George Horace Lorimer plucks at an eyebrow. Otto Kahn rubs the back of his hand slowly. Roy Howard pulls the lobe of his right ear. And there is a big financier who, only when a big deal is hinging, chews tobacco furiously.

There are fewer chewers of the weed in New York than in perhaps any other city—or it may be white vests are out of fashion. At any rate many of the tobacco shops do not keep chewing tobacco, although they keep snuff and the number of snuff users of both sexes in the city is quite large. Building workers sometimes chew, but the majority smoke. Cigarettes, so the tobacconists say, have claimed nearly all the old time tobacco chewers.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Labor and Education.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—Organized labor wants education to have a purposeful function in the expanding spirit of all the people. There can be no question but that life under our democratic ideals makes increasingly large demands upon all citizens. Only through enlarged educational opportunities can labor hope to take advantage of the opportunities contained in such demands.

Labor realizes that if workers have not opportunities to keep pace with changes attending scientific discovery and research and the reformulation of organized information, they are restricted by the barriers much more effective and deep-reaching than those interposed by economic classes, for the possession of information and the training of intellectual powers will enable them to overcome all other obstacles.

Such are highlights in a discussion by Matthew Woll of the questions of labor and larger educational opportunities and the possible cooperation of the American Library association in carrying forward labor's program. Mr. Woll is one of the leading officials of the American Federation of Labor, chairman of its commtitee on education, and chairman of the executive committee of the Workers' Education Bureau.

Fundamental in labor's educational program, he says, it labor's clear-cut distinction between propaganda and education. Facts and truths are the materials with which education, as labor conceives it, deals.

"We would not even if we could," says Mr. Woll, "make of education propaganda instrumentality for any cause. American labor does not conceive of itself as a class inevitably in conflict with all other classes. On the contrary, it believes that upon broad, basic issues the interests of all groups become unified. In education our contention has been for the inclusion of all elements rather than special attention to traditionally limited groups.

"American labor, far from being at war with the rest of the nation, seeks the way to permanent betterment by trying to coordinate labor's interests with the welfare of other social and industrial groups."

As To Public Schools.

So far as the program concerns public schools, continues this authority, labor has steadily sought to broaden and enrich the curriculum and to make the method that of giving the individual control of his resources and abilities so that he may have keener joy in living, do better work, and steadily reach higher levels of understanding. As the age limit for compulsory education has been successively advanced, labor has increasingly realized that education is not something completed with any fixed period of development, but is a process paralleling mental development and that it ought to parallel the whole span of life.

"Thus we found the frontiers of adult education in the traditional university and college training from which we ourselves had been debarred," says Mr. Woll. "Many of us are making sacrifices that our boys and girls shall have academic training. Our invasion of the once exclusive region of higher education has disclosed to us that if we can not go to the university campus, the university can develop a bigger life and its service can flow through ramifications that reach to the humblest walks of men."

For adult education of wage earners labor is giving its undivided moral and financial support to the Workers' Education Bureau which exists, according to its declared purpose, to collect and disseminate information relative to efforts at education conducted by any part of organized labor; to coordinate and assist in every possible manner the educational work now being carried on by the organized workers, and to stimulate the creation of additional enterprises in labor education in the United States.

The bureau is a federation of trade unions and workers education bodies. Upon its executive committee are representations of the American Federation of Labor, national and international unions which pay the bureau dues on a per capita basis, and local unions as well as workers' educational enterprises.

A Workers' Bookshelf.

For use in its work the bureau is developing a Workers' Bookshelf and a series of syllabi and pamphlets dealing with various trade union policies, social and labor problems. These publications are to meet special needs and to supplement more general writings, and they are said to have set a high standard for textbook writing by their combination of scholarship, simplicity and good printing. Mr. Woll says that because they realize that they need the assistance of many other groups to make the undertaking successful they have sought the cooperation of friendly teachers and socially minded citizens who have had valuable experience to contribute.

Obviously, in Mr. Woll's opinion, there is opportunity for vital cooperation between libraries and workers' education undertakings. Study classes must have books and if the public libraries can furnish them under conditions that make them easily accessible to the worker-students great good will be done. In addition to meeting the known needs of study classes, it is pointed out, there are innumerable ways in which librarians by suggestions and constructive advice can help individuals as well as groups in self-conducted study and quests for culture.

Mr. Woll says that the Federation is now concerned with the problem of increasing the opportunities for technical training, which has a direct bearing upon that essential to the maintenance of craftsmanship, the training of apprentices.

In this connection the program or immediate plan is three-angled: First to secure from affiliated organizations lists of books and treatises on the technical problems of their trades and industries; second, to secure the assistance of the public librarians of the country in making books available on the shelves of public libraries to workers' classes; and, third, to add to the number and increase the quality of such books.

It is suggested that the American Library association could be the clearing agency to interest persons competent to write such books in rendering service as well as to help establish standards to which the books should conform so as to combine authority with simplicity.

"Our trade union movement is something more than an agency concerned with hours, wages and conditions of work," says Mr. Woll, in conclusion. "We have concerned ourselves with such matters as are necessary for the establishment of primary standards of justice pre-requisite to opportunities essential to satisfaction in living. We workers want freedom and opportunity to create and our trade union movement is the agency by which we may possess that heritage.

"We are not seeking to dispossess any other group, but to put into the common life of all greater richness and beauty. We want to find a way to give reality to Democratic ideals and we realize that education must be increasingly important in our methods."

EXPERTS PROBE YOUNG SUICIDE

Dentist Was Haunted by Scenes of Past.

BY COPELAND C. BURG.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—Ghosts of the past caused the dramatic Dr. Thomas W. Young tragedy.

That was the theory on which medical experts were working today in their investigation of the suicide by means of a radio wire tourniquet around his throat in Dr. Young's cell at the height of a sensational trial for the murder of his wealthy wife, Grace Crocan Young.

Harrassing ghostly visions caused Dr. Young to become unbalanced, led to the killing with somnoform, deadly dental gas, of his wife, and finally brought the little dentist's suicide, investigating alienists declared.

"Visions of ghosts pursue me," Dr. Young told alienists who examined him several days ago.

He mentioned particularly the ghost of a brother, said by authorities to have ended his life several years ago in Washington, Pennsylvania.

"I would see my brother's vision just as I dropped off to sleep almost every night," Dr. Young told the specialists. "My brother's vision was always in a big hall. I could see his form plaintly."

FEDERAL AGENTS BREAK UP RING

42 Men Including Sheriff Arrested in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 28.—Federal prohibition officials announced today that the indictment of 42 men, including Walter L. Cohen, negro comptroller of customs and a leader in the Republican party in Louisiana, together with Dr. L. A. Meraux, sheriff of St. Bernard parish, was only the first of a series to entangle in court action a gigantic organized traffic in contraband liquor.

The accused persons, including three deputies of Meraux' and three former members of the New Orleans police force, are all named in a single indictment, which outlines an alleged plot to smuggle 4,250 cases of liquor from Havana to New Orleans at the instance of Alonzo Patterson, and Arthur Battistella, alleged rum ring heads.

According to Assistant Attorney General Arthur N. Sager, the grand jury so far has considered only importation cases. Next will be supplied evidence concerning the interstate shipment carloads of liquor by the ring to "connections" in the principal cities of the Mississippi valley and elsewhere.

The grand jury continued its deliberations today under instructions of Federal Judge H. D. Clayton, of Alabama.

Halt Bootlegging Of Aliens Into U. S. Legion Head Urges

NEW LONDON, Con., Aug. 28.—Drastic action to curb "bootlegigng" of undesirable aliens into the United States should be taken at once, James A. Drain, national commander of the American legion declared in addressing the Connecticut department of the legion today.

"This type of bootlegging," Drain said, "presents a problem which for seriousness, extent and danger of its future consequences to the future well-being of the country challenges comparison with the better known problems of rum running."

A harvest of thousands of dollars is being reaped every month in "bootlegging" aliens, Drain asserted.

Stream Pollution Is Discussed at Columbus Parley

COLUMBUS, Aug. 28.—Plans were being made today looking toward a permanent organization of Ohio steel industries with a view to preventing acid waste from these plants polluting Ohio rivers and streams.

At a conference here between Health Director Monger and 25 representatives of these plants, J. D. Waddell of Nines was chosen to select an executive committee of seven, to be appointed from Ohio six steel plant districts—Cleveland, Canton, Youngstown, Ohio river, Mansfield and western Ohio.

Problem of preventing acid pollution of streams will be considered at district meeting and local organization offered. A research committee to be appointed at a general meeting to be held this fall, it was announced.

WILL DISCUSS ROAD POLICIES

COLUMBUS, Aug. 28.—Explanation of highway policies adopted by State Highway Director Schlessinger is expected to mark a conference here today between Governor Donahey, director Schlessinger and division highway engineers.

For the present, at least it was understood, no drastic changes in policy are contemplated. Gravel roads construction, it was indicated, may be even more extensive than heretofore.

Democratic Leader Dead.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 28.—Frank P. Pollock, one of the most prominent Democratic politicians of Hamilton and Clermont counties, is dead at his home in Norwood. At the time of death he was serving as state highway official having been appointed by Governor Donahey.

Queen May Visit Grandson When he Returns From Africa

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Queen Alexandra may make her last visit to London this autumn to welcome home her grandson, the Prince of Wales, upon his return from his South African and South American tours.

The queen mother has been in virtual retirement for many months, her health is said to be excellent despite failing eyesight, she has elected to remain in her villa at Sandringham, where the air is more bracing than in London.

Marlborough house, the London residence of the queen mother, remains almost deserted, as the Prince of Wales chooses to continue to reside at St. James palace rather than take over the home which his grandmother has offered him.

MINERS STRIKE NEXT TUESDAY

158,000 Workers Receive Lewis' Strike Order.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 28.—At the stroke of midnight next Monday 158,000 coal miners in the anthracite region will lay down their picks and shovels. Copies of the suspension order signed by John L. Lewis, president of the mine workers' union, here last night and by five other union officials will be received today by 325 local miner unions.

Failure to renew the two-year agreement between operators and miners which expires Sept. 1, was responsible for the strike proclamation. The operators refused to accede to the miners' demands which included a $1 a day increase in wages and recognition of the "check-off."

The antthracite conciliation board will meet here today to determine the number of maintenance men to be left in the mines. A deadlock between the miner and operator representatives on this board delayed the issuance of the suspension order yesterday afternoon. Lewis and his advisors finally decided they could not wait any longer and have the local unions prepared to suspend by Sept. 1st.

No Need for Increase.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Aug. 28.—The nation need entertain no fears of the prices of bituminous coal being pocketed when operations are suspended in the anthracite fields on September 1, George S. Brackett, secretary of the Northern West Virginia Coal Operators' association, told International News Service today.

"At this time of year," Brackett said, "there is always a rush to store the bins for winter and, of course, this causes an increase in coal prices. But I do not believe any sharp or unjust price raising will result from the impending anthracite strike."

Backett, who is in close touch with the bituminous coal situation throughout West Virginia and Kentucky, expressed the belief that there would be no shortage of low-volatile bituminous coal, regarded as the best substitute for anthricite. He estimated that there is a surplus of approximately 20 millions tons of this coal in central Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky.

"The public will be well taken care of", Brackett added. "While most of the coal produced in northern West Virginia mines is of the high volative type, it is quite satisfactory for use in home and in an emergency it would tide over the important industries.

"Production is going forward on a large scale with a view to meeting the increased demands for West Virginia coal when the anthracite mines shut down. The strike no doubt will prove a boon to the bituminous industry."

Brackett said hundreds of cars of coal are being loaded daily for shipment to the Great Lakes region and that whatever amount was necessary could easily be diverted to the anthracite consuming sections.

Man and Woman Die From Effects Of Headache Powder

TOLEDO, Aug. 28.—Henry Miller, 35, and Melitta Odolni, 22, died today in the county hospital from poison believed to have been contained in headache powder.

The couple were found by police early this morning in a helpless condition in Taylor's tailor shop in Central avenue. Miller died soon after reaching the hospital.

The woman told police that she and Miller had been together in Taylor's shop and that they had sent out for headache powders, soon after taking them they became violently ill.

An investigation was launched by the coroner.

TODAY

is foolishness at all times—especially after 50.

Slashing of gasoline prices continues in the east and elsewhere. Standard Oil, Tidewater Oil, Gulf Refining and the Texas Co. are having a costly fight.

Later, presumably they will get together in the old quiet way and motor owners will pay back what they are saving now, with compound interest.

Nevertheless, if you haven't an automobile, get one. Don't be a bird without wings.

Mark Sullivan says that if the miners don't strike, many coal mines will be closed, anyhow. Expecting a strike, mine owners have accumulated great coal supplies, and will close down for a while during the marketing of those supplies.

That's not a pleastant prospect for the miners. If they strike, they will be out of work. If they don't strike, they will be out of work. Perhaps the President can give mine owners some advice on that matter.

AMERICAN BACK OF NEW LEAGUE

Millionaire Finances Organization to Combat Communism.

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—An American millionaire is alleged by Moscow Communists to be financing the international league against communism, which, founded by the Swiss attorney, Theodore Ober, is called here "The Black Internatinoale."

Reports of the league, which have fallen into the hands of Communist investigators, have aroused the authorities to brand its activities as "a serious menace to the revolutionary movement."

According to the description of the league given by Moscow observers, it now comprises bureaus in France, Belgium, Germany, England, Spain, Hungary, Bulgaris, Austria, Jugo-Slavia and Italy. Its next intention is to establish national anti-communist centers in the United States, Argentine, Brazil, China, JJapan, Sweden, Denmark, Portugal, Roumania, Esthonia and Lithuania.

At the same time, it is alleged, the league intends to organize through the European bureaus of nations possessing colonies, centers for the spread of anti-communist propaganda in Africa and Asia.

Theodore Ober, organizer of the league, is the Swiss attorney who defended the ex-czarist officer Conradi, who killed the Soviet diplomatic representative, Vorovsky, and thus brought about the strained relations which still exist between Switzerland and Soviet Russia.

MAKES REPLY TO MARSHALL

Darrow Denies That he Sought Publicity in Scopes Trial.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 28.—Questioning the "ethics of a judge in another state giving his opinion, especially when he knows nothing about the case," Clarence Darrow censured yesterday by Justice Marshall of the Ohio supreme court for his actions in the Scopes case, replied today to the Ohio jurist. Darrow stopped in Kansas City on his way home from Kirard, Kans.

Darrow denied he had ever said, as Judge Marshall had quoted him, that "courts are cockpits in which lawyers may fight."

Replying to Judge Marshall's charge, evolution was not an issue in the Scopes case and purely a publicity move by Darrow, the Chicagoan said:

"Judge Marshall should have read the Tennessee statute. The caption was entitled, 'An Act to Prevent the Teaching of Evolution in Public Schools.' The caption is part of the statute.

"The admission of evidence as to the theory of evolution we believed was competent and the lawyers for the defense agreed. It should be assumed that the lawyers who spent much time on the subject were justified in raising the question. I should presume Judge Marshall knows this."

ACTRESS MARRIES EX FOOTBALL STAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 28. — Jeanne Eagles, stage star, and Ted Coy, famous Yale football star of 10 years ago, who were married at Stamford, Conn., Wednesday, are spending their honeymoon at Mrs. Coy's $70,000 summer home, near Ossining, N. Y., it was learned today. Mrs. Coy plans to continue her stage work during the coming winter at least, her friends said.

CHURCH ROBBED TWICE IN WEEK

MARION, O., Aug. 28.—Breaking a door lock thieves last night entered St. Mary's Catholic church and broke into the contribution box for the poor, but got no money, Father F. X. Cotter, pastor reported to police today. This is the second time that the church has been broken into this week. The first time a large silver and gold coffer was taken and the tabernacle in the new main altar was ruthlessly destroyed.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—New factors in motor manufacturing, which are expected to result in lower production costs, were used as the principal arguments in boosting prices of motor stocks in the early trading today. The most important of these are the possible adaptation of the English models of small or "bug type" cars, and the manufacture of a type of engine which will secure a much larger mileage per gallon of gasoline.

Chrysler Motor continued its spectacular advance and reached a new high at 149¾, up 8 points. Jordan, Studebaker and White Motors forged ahead a point or more in active buying. Hudson Motors was also in demand on reports that earnings this year would amount to about $11 a share on the common stock.

St. Paul common and preferred continued strong as the result of announcement that powerful Boston interests will attempt to rehabilitate the compang's finances through the channels of higher freight rates. The preferred topped 16 and the common sold up to 8¼. Railroad stocks in other sections of the list were more freely supplied on profit taking and prices were slightly reactionary. The reaction spread, in the second hour, to the industrial stocks and specialties, United States Steel dropping back a full point to 122¼.

BABE SLAYER OPENS FIGHT

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 28.—Attorneys for Cosmo Ferranto, condemned to die early next Friday for the murder of a two-year old baby, today opened an eleventh hour fight to have the sentence commuted.

Ferranto has attempted suicide twice since he was placed behind prison bars.

EXPERTS PROBE YOUNG SUICIDE

Dentist Was Haunted by Scenes of Past.

BY COPELAND C. BURG.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—Ghosts of the past caused the dramatic Dr. Thomas W. Young tragedy.

That was the theory on which medical experts were working today in their investigation of the suicide by means of a radio wire tourniquet around his throat in Dr. Young's cell at the height of a sensational trial for the murder of his wealthy wife, Grace Crocan Young.

Harrassing ghostly visions caused Dr. Young to become unbalanced, led to the killing with somnoform, deadly dental gas, of his wife, and finally brought the little dentist's suicide, investigating alienists declared.

"Visions of ghosts pursue me," Dr. Young told alienists who examined him several days ago.

He mentioned particularly the ghost of a brother, said by authorities to have ended his life several years ago in Washington, Pennsylvania.

"I would see my brother's vision just as I dropped off to sleep almost every night," Dr. Young told the specialists. "My brother's vision was always in a big hall. I could see his form plaintly."

FEDERAL AGENTS BREAK UP RING

42 Men Including Sheriff Arrested in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 28.—Federal prohibition officials announced today that the indictment of 42 men, including Walter L. Cohen, negro comptroller of customs and a leader in the Republican party in Louisiana, together with Dr. L. A. Meraux, sheriff of St. Bernard parish, was only the first of a series to entangle in court action a gigantic organized traffic in contraband liquor.

The accused persons, including three deputies of Meraux' and three former members of the New Orleans police force, are all named in a single indictment, which outlines an alleged plot to smuggle 4,250 cases of liquor from Havana to New Orleans at the instance of Alonzo Patterson, and Arthur Battistella, alleged rum ring heads.

According to Assistant Attorney General Arthur N. Sager, the grand jury so far has considered only importation cases. Next will be supplied evidence concerning the interstate shipment carloads of liquor by the ring to "connections" in the principal cities of the Mississippi valley and elsewhere.

The grand jury continued its deliberations today under instructions of Federal Judge H. D. Clayton, of Alabama.

Halt Bootlegging Of Aliens Into U. S. Legion Head Urges

NEW LONDON, Con., Aug. 28.—Drastic action to curb "bootlegigng" of undesirable aliens into the United States should be taken at once, James A. Drain, national commander of the American legion declared in addressing the Connecticut department of the legion today.

"This type of bootlegging," Drain said, "presents a problem which for seriousness, extent and danger of its future consequences to the future well-being of the country challenges comparison with the better known problems of rum running."

A harvest of thousands of dollars is being reaped every month in "bootlegging" aliens, Drain asserted.

Stream Pollution Is Discussed at Columbus Parley

COLUMBUS, Aug. 28.—Plans were being made today looking toward a permanent organization of Ohio steel industries with a view to preventing acid waste from these plants polluting Ohio rivers and streams.

At a conference here between Health Director Monger and 25 representatives of these plants, J. D. Waddell of Nines was chosen to select an executive committee of seven, to be appointed from Ohio six steel plant districts—Cleveland, Canton, Youngstown, Ohio river, Mansfield and western Ohio.

Problem of preventing acid pollution of streams will be considered at district meeting and local organization offered. A research committee to be appointed at a general meeting to be held this fall, it was announced.

WILL DISCUSS ROAD POLICIES

COLUMBUS, Aug. 28.—Explanation of highway policies adopted by State Highway Director Schlessinger is expected to mark a conference here today between Governor Donahey, director Schlessinger and division highway engineers.

For the present, at least it was understood, no drastic changes in policy are contemplated. Gravel roads construction, it was indicated, may be even more extensive than heretofore.

Queen May Visit Grandson When he Returns From Africa

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Queen Alexandra may make her last visit to London this autumn to welcome home her grandson, the Prince of Wales, upon his return from his South African and South American tours.

The queen mother has been in virtual retirement for many months, her health is said to be excellent despite failing eyesight, she has elected to remain in her villa at Sandringham, where the air is more bracing than in London.

Marlborough house, the London residence of the queen mother, remains almost deserted, as the Prince of Wales chooses to continue to reside at St. James palace rather than take over the home which his grandmother has offered him.

MINERS STRIKE NEXT TUESDAY

158,000 Workers Receive Lewis' Strike Order.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 28.—At the stroke of midnight next Monday 158,000 coal miners in the anthracite region will lay down their picks and shovels. Copies of the suspension order signed by John L. Lewis, president of the mine workers' union, here last night and by five other union officials will be received today by 325 local miner unions.

Failure to renew the two-year agreement between operators and miners which expires Sept. 1, was responsible for the strike proclamation. The operators refused to accede to the miners' demands which included a $1 a day increase in wages and recognition of the "check-off."

The antthracite conciliation board will meet here today to determine the number of maintenance men to be left in the mines. A deadlock between the miner and operator representatives on this board delayed the issuance of the suspension order yesterday afternoon. Lewis and his advisors finally decided they could not wait any longer and have the local unions prepared to suspend by Sept. 1st.

No Need for Increase.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Aug. 28.—The nation need entertain no fears of the prices of bituminous coal being pocketed when operations are suspended in the anthracite fields on September 1, George S. Brackett, secretary of the Northern West Virginia Coal Operators' association, told International News Service today.

"At this time of year," Brackett said, "there is always a rush to store the bins for winter and, of course, this causes an increase in coal prices. But I do not believe any sharp or unjust price raising will result from the impending anthracite strike."

Backett, who is in close touch with the bituminous coal situation throughout West Virginia and Kentucky, expressed the belief that there would be no shortage of low-volatile bituminous coal, regarded as the best substitute for anthricite. He estimated that there is a surplus of approximately 20 millions tons of this coal in central Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky.

"The public will be well taken care of", Brackett added. "While most of the coal produced in northern West Virginia mines is of the high volative type, it is quite satisfactory for use in home and in an emergency it would tide over the important industries.

"Production is going forward on a large scale with a view to meeting the increased demands for West Virginia coal when the anthracite mines shut down. The strike no doubt will prove a boon to the bituminous industry."

Brackett said hundreds of cars of coal are being loaded daily for shipment to the Great Lakes region and that whatever amount was necessary could easily be diverted to the anthracite consuming sections.

TODAY

is foolishness at all times—especially after 50.

Slashing of gasoline prices continues in the east and elsewhere. Standard Oil, Tidewater Oil, Gulf Refining and the Texas Co. are having a costly fight.

Later, presumably they will get together in the old quiet way and motor owners will pay back what they are saving now, with compound interest.

Nevertheless, if you haven't an automobile, get one. Don't be a bird without wings.

Mark Sullivan says that if the miners don't strike, many coal mines will be closed, anyhow. Expecting a strike, mine owners have accumulated great coal supplies, and will close down for a while during the marketing of those supplies.

That's not a pleastant prospect for the miners. If they strike, they will be out of work. If they don't strike, they will be out of work. Perhaps the President can give mine owners some advice on that matter.

AMERICAN BACK OF NEW LEAGUE

Millionaire Finances Organization to Combat Communism.

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—An American millionaire is alleged by Moscow Communists to be financing the international league against communism, which, founded by the Swiss attorney, Theodore Ober, is called here "The Black Internatinoale."

Reports of the league, which have fallen into the hands of Communist investigators, have aroused the authorities to brand its activities as "a serious menace to the revolutionary movement."

According to the description of the league given by Moscow observers, it now comprises bureaus in France, Belgium, Germany, England, Spain, Hungary, Bulgaris, Austria, Jugo-Slavia and Italy. Its next intention is to establish national anti-communist centers in the United States, Argentine, Brazil, China, JJapan, Sweden, Denmark, Portugal, Roumania, Esthonia and Lithuania.

At the same time, it is alleged, the league intends to organize through the European bureaus of nations possessing colonies, centers for the spread of anti-communist propaganda in Africa and Asia.

Theodore Ober, organizer of the league, is the Swiss attorney who defended the ex-czarist officer Conradi, who killed the Soviet diplomatic representative, Vorovsky, and thus brought about the strained relations which still exist between Switzerland and Soviet Russia.

MAKES REPLY TO MARSHALL

Darrow Denies That he Sought Publicity in Scopes Trial.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 28.—Questioning the "ethics of a judge in another state giving his opinion, especially when he knows nothing about the case," Clarence Darrow censured yesterday by Justice Marshall of the Ohio supreme court for his actions in the Scopes case, replied today to the Ohio jurist. Darrow stopped in Kansas City on his way home from Kirard, Kans.

Darrow denied he had ever said, as Judge Marshall had quoted him, that "courts are cockpits in which lawyers may fight."

Replying to Judge Marshall's charge, evolution was not an issue in the Scopes case and purely a publicity move by Darrow, the Chicagoan said:

"Judge Marshall should have read the Tennessee statute. The caption was entitled, 'An Act to Prevent the Teaching of Evolution in Public Schools.' The caption is part of the statute.

"The admission of evidence as to the theory of evolution we believed was competent and the lawyers for the defense agreed. It should be assumed that the lawyers who spent much time on the subject were justified in raising the question. I should presume Judge Marshall knows this."

ACTRESS MARRIES EX FOOTBALL STAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 28. — Jeanne Eagles, stage star, and Ted Coy, famous Yale football star of 10 years ago, who were married at Stamford, Conn., Wednesday, are spending their honeymoon at Mrs. Coy's $70,000 summer home, near Ossining, N. Y., it was learned today. Mrs. Coy plans to continue her stage work during the coming winter at least, her friends said.

CHURCH ROBBED TWICE IN WEEK

MARION, O., Aug. 28.—Breaking a door lock thieves last night entered St. Mary's Catholic church and broke into the contribution box for the poor, but got no money, Father F. X. Cotter, pastor reported to police today. This is the second time that the church has been broken into this week. The first time a large silver and gold coffer was taken and the tabernacle in the new main altar was ruthlessly destroyed.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—New factors in motor manufacturing, which are expected to result in lower production costs, were used as the principal arguments in boosting prices of motor stocks in the early trading today. The most important of these are the possible adaptation of the English models of small or "bug type" cars, and the manufacture of a type of engine which will secure a much larger mileage per gallon of gasoline.

Chrysler Motor continued its spectacular advance and reached a new high at 149¾, up 8 points. Jordan, Studebaker and White Motors forged ahead a point or more in active buying. Hudson Motors was also in demand on reports that earnings this year would amount to about $11 a share on the common stock.

St. Paul common and preferred continued strong as the result of announcement that powerful Boston interests will attempt to rehabilitate the company's finances through the channels of higher freight rates. The preferred topped 16 and the common sold up to 8¾. Railroad stocks in other sections of the list were more freely supplied on profit taking and prices were slightly reactionary. The reaction spread, in the second hour, to the industrial stocks and specialties, United States Steel dropping back a full point to 122¾.

BABE SLAYER OPENS FIGHT

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 28.—Attorneys for Cosmo Ferranto, condemned to die early next Friday for the murder of a two-year old baby, today opened an eleventh hour fight to have the sentence commuted.

A petition was sent to Governor Donahey. The chief executive of the state was asked to study the circumstances of the case. Ferranto is said to have been partially insane when he stabbed little Ernest Ferritto.

Ferranto has attempted suicide twice since he was placed behind prison bars.

FIRE DAMAGES TOLEDO HOTEL

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 28.—Fire early today completely gutted the Toledo hotel, forcing eighty guests to flee in their night clothes.

According to Assistant Fire Chief Trepenskie, the blaze originated from rubbish gathered in an air shaft. The blaze shot up to the top of the building, but was prevented from spreading. Trepensgie estimates the loss at $30,000.

The Toledo Blade occupies an adjoining building.

YOUNG PERSHING GETS JOB AND GOES TO WORK

Son of "General Jack" Swelters in Paris Auto Shop.

16 YEARS OLD

By FRANK E. MASON

PARIS — Sixteen-year-old Warren Pershing, son of Gen. John J. Pershing has sown the seeds of a social revolution that may shatter one of the oldest traditions of the best families of France. Warren Pershing has gone to work. While French boys, who consider 25 years a good age to begin to look for a job, are playing tennis or swimming at the seashore, Warren, dressed in grimy overalls, is perspiring in a Paris automobile repair shop as a mechanic's apprentice.

The Paris newspapers are full of accounts of Warren Pershing's energy and initiative. French fathers, who themselves never worked until the age of 25 or 30, are beginning to suggest to indolent sons that if an American generals' son can work at the age of 16, druing his school holidas, they should make themselves useful at the age of 20.

Simone Tery's interview with Warren, published in Le Quotidien, is typical of the stories in the Paris press.

"I found the son of the American generalissimo astride the mudguard of a limousine. His head was buried in the motor. From behind he had the appearance of a large Teddy Bear, dressed from head to foot in grimy, greasy khaki.

"'Is your work interesting?' I asked.

"Warren jumped and turned toward me the face of a child. Sixteen years. He appeared to be no more than 13. His peaches and cream complexion is surmounted by a wealth of beautiful blond hair, apparently curled by the angels. Under eyebrows so blond as to be almost unnoticeable, his small blue eyes appear a little hard and cold.

"'How did you happen to have the idea to leave your school in Lausanne and spend your summer vacation working here?'

"'My father thought it was a good idea, and so did I.'

"'Where you ever in Europe before you started going to school in Lausanne?'

"'Yes.'

"'Where?'

"'Oh, around — everywhere,' with a wave of the youngster's hand, as he continued his work.

"'No.'

"'You're well pleased to be alone'?

"'I've always done what I wanted to.' He appeared to think over this last answer which bothered him. He decided to correct it. "'That is, I've almost always.'"

Belgium's falling cost of living has apparently stopped.

Betting is being banned in Ireland.

AUTO CLUB OPENS FIGHT ON SPEED TRAPS AND ROAD SIDE COURTS

State Auditor Joseph Tracy was requested today by Wesley S. Thurstin, Jr., Ohio State Automobile association president, to instruct his examiners to make findings against all justices of the peace who have collected fines and costs from motorists.

At the same time Thurstin said the state Automobile association is contemplating starting inquiry to ascertain what right the justice of peace has to try motorists and will insist upon his removal from office if the practice does not cease.

Justices of the peace do not have final jurisdiction in speed cases, but do have the power to inquire into them and then bind the alleged offender over to the probate or common pleas court.

The Ohio State Automobile association special speed trap committee, of which E. M. Diehl, secretary of the Columbiana County Motor club is a member, sponsors this opinion which is supported by a statement from Attorney General C. C. Crabbe which reads:

"Justices do not have final jurisdiction under speed laws. Decided by common pleas court cases of Burns versus state."

In the decision, no final jurisdiction is granted to Justices of the peace by the legislature in criminal cases arising under chapter designated as motor vehicles from Section 12603 to 12628-1 inclusive, of the general code of Ohio, and no jurisdiction can be extended by implication.

"Representing more than 150,000 Ohio auto club members, the Ohio State Automobile association has always been opposed to the reckless driver," Thurston said. "Justice of peace courts will find the state association just as ardent in its fight to oust the reckless driver as it is ambitious to curb the activities of the alleged speed courts, but the association insists all cases be tried in proper courts."

England has an anti-golf campaign.

Builds Barn Big Enough to Exercise 100 Cows

Waukesha, Wis.—A furnace-heated "pasture" large enough to accommodate 100 cattle is one of the latest innovations in dairying, now being planned by Howard T. Greene, owner of Brook Hill farm, near here. The structure is to be a huge barn in which the dairy cows can wander as they might in an open field.

Mr. Greene was faced with the problem of turning high-priced pasture land into grain crops and at the same time providing comfort for his milk-producing cows. He solved the difficulty by constructing a barn 190 feet long by 50 feet wide.

"Land is too high priced to provide pasture for several hundred cows," Mr. Greene declared. "The barn will have to serve as a makeshift for the pasture and will give the cows room to exercise. No stanchions will be placed in the barn, for I want the cattle to have the comfort of moving around, which they would not get were they quartered in stanchions.

The walls and floors of the structure will be insulated. Flues provide for circulation of hot air supplied by a furnace in an adjoining building. The barn will be divided into four sections, each to hold 25 cows.

Under the proposed plan each cow will pass a third of the day in the roomier quarters of the "exercise barn," where formerly it would be on pasture. Other parts of the day will be passed in a regular barn in stanchions.

MAN RUN DOWN BY AUTO TWICE.

WORCESTER, Mass.—As Gustaf Johnson, fifty-six, was walking on Malden street, an automobile, operated by Fred Riley, struck the pedestrian, knocked him down and passed over him.

Riley, stopping with a jerk backed up and again ran over the unfortunate Johnson. Johnson was seriously injured.

Editor Held for Killing Bystander in Political Brawl

Carl C. Magee, Albuquerque editor and storm center of New Mexico politics, is in custody in East Last Vegas, after killing a bystander when in a fight with D. J. Leahy, a political enemy, he drew a revolver and fired. When a district judge Leahy sentenced Magee to jail for criticizing his court in editorials.

WOMAN BITES DEPUTY SHERIFF

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — That it is bad policy to bite an officer of the law was demonstrated in court here when a young lady of the flapper type was fined $50 and $10 costs for taking a bite at three deputy sheriffs

The girly went on the "biting spree" when the officers objected to her conduct at a roadhouse. A young lady companion was fined $25 for disorderly conduct when it was shown she was not guilty of biting.

BROOKLYN GIRL IS ENGINEER

BOSTON—Perhaps, some day, Miss Mary Olga Soroka, of Brooklyn, N. Y., will be building a skyscraper.

She is a senior of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and will be the only girl to receive a degree qualifying here as a civil engineer.

She is taking a summer course in advanced mathematics, science and English literature. Miss Soroka came from the Washington Irving school, in Brooklyn, to the institute of technology on a scholarship.

STATE CHURCH MEET LISTED

Disciples of Christ to Meet Next Month in Cameron.

Hancock county will be represented at the state convention of the Disciples of Christ to be held at Cameron September 14-17. Program is being arranged that will bring many of the leading speakers and workers of the Christian church, also a number of leaders from other churches to participate in the convention.

Rev. W. E. Pierce, the pastor of the First Christian church, where the convention is to be held, has advised local disciples that preparation is being made to entertain not less than 300 delegates. This church has just recently completed a new and up-to-date building, said to be one of the most modern in the state, and it will lend itself in an ideal way to the work of the convention.

Besides many of the leading preachers of the state who are to appear on the program, several noted preachers of other states are being invited. The coming of Arthus Nash, "Golden Rule Nash," of Cincinnati, is creating a great deal of interest. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, of New York city, has been asked to deliver one address. Dr. D. N. Jemison, of Cincinnati, founder of the Modern Knights of St. Paul, has already accepted a place on the program. Dr. P. M. Welshimer, of Canton, O., many years head of the largest Bible school in the world, will be one of the speakers.

Physician Advises People

"My wife suffered for years with stomach trouble which did not yield to any treatment. She took a dose of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy last Saturday with wonderful results. I have never seen anything like it before. I have recommended Mayr's Wonderful Remedy to several that I know need this treatment." It removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at Jesse D. Holloway and Druggists Everywhere.

STATE FAIR WILL HAVE MINE EXHIBIT

With her tremendous coal deposits, West Virginia now ranks second only to Pennsylvania in production of this basic commodity. Coal mining is the leading industry of the Mountain state, and it is, therefore, natural that the management of the coming West Virginia state fair, Wheeling, Sept. 7-12, has included, as one of its major attractions, one that will represent coal mining.

Through federal and state aid, coal mining has been a much less hazardous occupation than formerly. The United States Bureau of Mines and state mining departments, co-operating with the mining companies, have succeeded in greatly reducing the death and accident rates in mining, by the installation of safety devices, teaching safety and mine rescue methods, and close and regular inspection of mines. West Virginia has one of the most efficient and progessive mining departments in the country, of which R. M. Lambie is chief, assisted by an able corps of deputy inspectors, and the West Virginia department, co-operating with the United States Bureau of Mines, will put on the mining display at the state fair.

The mine exhibit this year will be quite different from that of former years. It will be located on the first floor of the exposition building, instead of in a tent, as formerly. There will be an interesting display of coal, safetly and mine rescue appliances, etc., but the main feature of the exhibit will be a two-hour show of moving pictures. One will be a reel, taken by the West Virginia Department of Mines, showing actual scenes in West Virginia coal mines.

The other reel was filmed by the United States Bureau of Mines and is a romance entitled "When a Man is a Miner."

WELLSBURG CAR TRACKS DITCHED

The city of Wellsburg carried out recent threats yesterday when a large force of workmen tore up the tracks of the Bethany street car line at the southern entrance to town, after the company had failed to pave between their tracks.

For some time the cars have been operating only to the city limits, due to street repairs, and will likely continue to do so now that their line only runs to the corporate boundary.

This drastic action was taken by council Tuesday night only after failure of the owners of the line, the Wellsburg, Bethany and Washington company, and the operators, the Buffalo Valley Collieries company, to comply with orders last June to pave between their tracks.

Officials of the Wellsburg, Bethany and Washington company make no secret of the fact. It is claimed that the operators have failed to live up to their contract, and that they will junk the line if it is passed back to them.

Birth Announced.

Announcement has been made of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Johnson at their home in Middle Run.

Convention Plans Arranged

Plans have been completed for the convention of the Christian churches of Hancock county to be held in the First Christian church Sunday afternoon and evening.

CHANGES MADE IN WORKMEN'S LAW

Amendments to the West Virginia workmens compensation law passed by the last legislature are now in effect, according to notices sent by Commissioned Lee Ott to all employers enrolled under the act.

Section No. 9 of the law has been changed so that superintendents, traveling salesmen, assistant managers and assistant superintendents are now eligible for the benefits. Heretofore, for no apparent reason, these classes have been without any rights of compensation under the state law.

Section No. 27 has been so amended that maximum disbursements for medical, surgical and hospital treatment are raised from $300 to $800, while through section No. 31, as it now reads the range of compensation is from $8 to $16 a week, the minimum rate having formerly been fixed at $5.00.

TRACTION LINE TO QUIT SERVICE

The public service commission today added the petition of the Sisterville-New Martinsville Traction company to the list of those asking discontinuance of service as a result of road building. Where the other carriers have asked permission to curtail service because of competition following completion of state highways, however, the latest application is unique in that it gives as ground for wishing to discontinue its service that the state is using the right of way in the construction of a highway. The traction company serves Paden City and Brooklyn in addition to the county seats of Tyler and Wetzel counties.

No Preaching Services

Due to the absence of the pastor, Rev. W. J. H. McKnight, who is spending his vacation in Buffalo, N. Y., there will be no preaching services Sunday in the First United Presbyterian church.

POTTERY WORKERS TO HOLD OUTING

At a meeting held this week of the clayshop employes of plant No. 4 of the Homer Laughlin China company it was decided to hold an outing on Saturday, Sept. 5, at Kelly's park, near Leetonia. Committees were named to arrange details. It is planned to have a program of sports in the afternoon with a baseball game between the married and single men as the feature. There will will no dancing in the afternoon, this feature being reserved for night.

PITCHER JAMES THOMAS WEDS

Coming as a surprise to his many friends in Newell is the announcement of the marriage of James Thomas, star pitcher of the Homer Laughlin China team of the Industrial league, and Miss Mary Coulson of Scio, O., which is also the home of the twirler.

The young couple quietly slipped off to New Cumberland on August 20, one day prior to the Homer Laughlin China company outing at Cascade park, New Castle, Pa., and were married. They attended the picnic the following day, after which the bride returned to her home. Thomas had planned to return to Scio in the fall, but it is probable he and his wife will remain here where he is employed in No. 6 plant.

LEAGUE GAME HERE SATURDAY

Announcement was made today that the Homer Laughlin China and Wellsville teams of the Industrial league would play off a postponed game here Saturday afternoon beginning at 4 o'clock. This game was originally scheduled for Wellsville but with their consent it was decided to stage it on the Newell diamond.

The following Saturday, Knowles, Taylor and Knowles will play here, it being one of the two postponed games with the locals. It is possible that both may be played on the same afternoon, but this has not been definitely determined. There is a possibility that league games may be scheduled here for Labor day.

Class Initiated.

Class of candidates were initiated last evening at a meeting of Pride of Newell Rebekah lodge No. 278 held in the Odd Fellows' hall. Refreshments were served by the social committee of the lodge.

Special Court Term.

Arrangements are being perfected for the holding of a special session of the Hancock county circiut court at New Cumberland next month. Number of cases will be heard by Judge J. Harold Brennan of Wheeling who will preside. The regular term of court is not scheduled to open until November.

Mission Band To Meet.

Members of the Sunbeam Mission Band of the First Presbyterian church will meet tomorrow afternoon in the Sunday school room of the church. Miss Jean Spore will be the leader. The subject will be "The Children of China." Program of music and recitations has been arranged.

MONKEYS ESCAPE FROM PARK ZOO

SIOUX CITY, Ia.—Man's developed twentieth century intelligence pitted against the jungle-gained knowledge of a half-dozen monkeys in a battle of wits in Stone Park Zoo, Sioux City, Ia., with final bulletins from the scene showing minor victories for the human contestants. In support of the evolutionary theory of progressive development of mental processes and the generally accepted superiority of human mental equipment, there had been captured but one of a party of six rehesus simians who fled from their large cage in Stone Park Saturday night and since that time have roamed abroad on the trees.

One monkey was beguiled inside the bars by peanuts and candies and two frolic about the cage while the other three, one ferocious and the largest of the family, have roamed far into the woods and all hope has been given up of recovering them untless they come back of their own free will.

Park officials valued the monkeys at from $25 tao $355, and also reported that an opossum had escaped with seven of her family of eleven. Park officials were inclined to believe that human hands had played a part in their liberation.

GRANGE, FOOTBALL STAR, NOT ONLY "RED HEAD" WHO DISTRIBUTES ICE

NESHAMINY FALLS, Pa. — "Red" Grange, the amous Illinois half-back, has a rival. Not a rival as a gridiron star though, but a san ice-distributor. And by the way, this rival is a girl—her friends call her "Red," her last name is Nuneviller, and when she "dresses up" she is known as Miss Peggy Nuneviller, 19 years of age.

She doesn t look a bit like an "iceman." For she is pretty and the personification of grace, when she swings a 50-pound piece of ice on her shoulder and starts up four flights of stairs to deliver the load to the fourth door of a tenement.

With the aid of her sister, who is 16, "Red"—she likes to be called that, she says—she delivers about eight tons of ice daily. On Saturdays they deliver ten tons.

Not only does "Red" deliver ice to customers, but she drives her truck to the icehouse to get her stock in trade, and loads it on the truck herself.

"Red" has been the city's iceman for two years. She said she started the work "just or fun," helping her father. When her father went into another business "Red" Nuneviller continued and found it very profitable.

Neshaminy's "iceman" 'takes her "vacation' 'in the Winter time. She said: "Oh, I work in a Philadelphia factory. If you dont think thats a vacation, try tossing ice around all summer."

"Red" Nuneviller has read about her rival "Red' 'Grange. She said she admires him "immensely,' 'and would like to meet him.

"I'm not so sure," she sair, "that I couldn't play football. Maybe I will try it sometime. It isn't as hard as carrying ice."

Feed for Young Chicks

The young chicks should not be fed until they are 48 hours old, whether they are with hen or in a brooder. The first feed should consist of baked johnny-cake broken up into small pieces, or hard-boiled eggs mixed with stale bread crumbs or rolled oats, using a sufficient quantity of the latter to make a dry, crumbly mixture or a mash of two quarts of rolled oats, one part bran and one part middlings by weight, mixed with milk or with boiled egga.

Locomotives recently ordered by the government of Ccechoslovakia for its lines will travel sixty-five miles an hour on level stretches and thirty-five miles an hour in the mountains.

Nearly 40 sets of piano keys may be made from an elephant's tooth.

The "Dunce" Didn't Have a Fair Chance In School

Because they could not keep up with the rest of their class many pupils were regarded as stupid. Now it turns out that about half the children in many schools are afflicted with Goiter. This malady produces a nervous, oversensitive condition and unmistakably affects the ability to concentrate or study diligently.

Goiter is Preventable

Medical science has made this discovery and also establishes the fact that Goiter is caused by a lack of Iodine in the food or water supply.

MULKEY'S IODINE SALT is recommended in all families where there are children. It is to be used just like ordinary salt in all cooking and on the table.

GRANGE, FOOTBALL STAR, NOT ONLY "RED HEAD" WHO DISTRIBUTES ICE

NESHAMINY FALLS, Pa. — "Red" Grange, the amous Illinois half-back, has a rival. Not a rival as a gridiron star though, but a san ice-distributor. And by the way, this rival is a girl—her friends call her "Red," her last name is Nuneviller, and when she "dresses up" she is known as Miss Peggy Nuneviller, 19 years of age.

She doesn t look a bit like an "iceman." For she is pretty and the personification of grace, when she swings a 50-pound piece of ice on her shoulder and starts up four flights of stairs to deliver the load to the fourth door of a tenement.

With the aid of her sister, who is 16, "Red"—she likes to be called that, she says—she delivers about eight tons of ice daily. On Saturdays they deliver ten tons.

Not only does "Red" deliver ice to customers, but she drives her truck to the icehouse to get her stock in trade, and loads it on the truck herself.

"Red" has been the city's iceman for two years. She said she started the work "just or fun," helping her father. When her father went into another business "Red" Nuneviller continued and found it very profitable.

Neshaminy's "iceman" takes her "vacation" in the Winter time. She said: "Oh, I work in a Philadelphia factory. If you dont think thats a vacation, try tossing ice around all summer."

"Red" Nuneviller has read about her rival "Red' 'Grange. She said she admires him "immensely,' 'and would like to meet him.

"I'm not so sure," she sair, "that I couldn't play football. Maybe I will try it sometime. It isn't as hard as carrying ice."

Feed for Young Chicks

The young chicks should not be fed until they are 48 hours old, whether they are with hen or in a brooder. The first feed should consist of baked johnny-cake broken up into small pieces, or hard-boiled eggs mixed with stale bread crumbs or rolled oats, using a sufficient quantity of the latter to make a dry, crumbly mixture or a mash of two quarts of rolled oats, one part bran and one part middlings by weight, mixed with milk or with boiled eggs.

The "Dunce" Didn't Have a Fair Chance In School

Because they could not keep up with the rest of their class many pupils were regarded as stupid. Now it turns out that about half the children in many schools are afflicted with Goiter. This malady produces a nervous, oversensitive condition and unmistakably affects the ability to concentrate or study diligently.

Goiter is Preventable

Medical science has made this discovery and also establishes the fact that Goiter is caused by a lack of Iodine in the food or water supply.

Trotters Trim Laughlin, 5 to 4, and Advance to Second Place

Deshler and Pollock Carry Off Honors In City League Contest

Sonny's Double in Fourth Clears Bases and Ties Count at 3 to 3; Pollock's Single, Following Hits by Kinsey and Bayley Produces Winning Counter in Last Inning; Laughlin's Final Effort to Knot Score are Fruitless.

Sonny Deshler pitched and batted the Trotter City Industrial league club to a decisive victory over the Laughlin team in a hard fought clash last evening on the Newell lot. The count was 5 to 4.

The victory put Trotter in second place and but a game behind the leaders, K. T. K., who lost to Wellsville as the Fowlerites were winning. Hits by A. Bayley, Kinsey and R. Pollock in the fifth clinched the contest.

Deshler got away to a bad start. Three hits and a sacrifice netted a run for Laughlin in the first. The West Virginians scored twice in the second on two singles, a walk and a fielder's choice.

Meanwhile Trotter had done nothing on the offensive. But in the fourth Sonny trotted out his stuff. The situation was put right up to him, with two out and the bases full as a result of a double by R. Pollock and walks to E. Bayley and Aufderheide. He made good by doubling to left and clearing the paths, making the count three all.

It was a rejuvenated Sonny that went out to pitch the fourth. Though Watson released a two-bagger at the start he was stopped at third as Sonny fanned DeLong, caused Thomas to go out at first and McConnell to fly to Herbert. Then, darkness impending, A. Bayley singled and stole second and counted on Kinsey's double. And R. Pollock's single scored Kinsey.

Laughlin made a desperate effort to overcome the two-run lead of their opponents in the final half of the fifth. But the club got but one of them. An error by Aufderheide who had taken A. Bayley's place in middle when the latter went to second and E. Bayley to short, made possible the near tie. The shift in the lineup was caused by the retirement of Shortstop Stroble who was hit hard in the leg by a batted ball.

Aufderheide muffed Tisher's long fly, permitting him to hold up at second. He went to third as Moran skied to R. Pollock and scored on the relayed wide throw of E. Bayley to Herbert which went into the crowd. Myers went out, E. Bayley to Heckathorne. H. Stroble, batting for Wilson, singled, but Hartman, swatting for Sayres, was retired, A. Bayley to Heckathorne. The fans, wildly excited, rose to their feet at the final chance for Laughlin to win, but their hopes were dashed as H. Stroble failed to go farther than second.

Charity Taeks K. O.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Charity was out for the full count today after a sock by Eddie Kane, manager of Sammy Mandell, Rockford, lightweight. Kane asked $50,000 as Mandell's guarantee to meet Sid Terris, New York lightweight, in a benefit bout for the Jewish Maternity hospital, according to James Johnston, promoter.

Again the yanks lost to Chicago, this time 6 to 5.

KAPLAN RETAINS FEATHER CROWN

WATERBURY, Conn., Aug. 28.—Kid Kaplan, featherweight champion of the world, held his title today by virtue of a rousing finish which won from the referee a draw in his 15-round bout last night with Babe Herman, the Pacific coast contender.

Herman outfought and outboxed the champion in a big majority of the rounds, but in the opinion of Jack Sheehan, the referee, Kaplan's showing in the final two rounds saved his title.

A crowd of 15,000 greeted the verdict with jeers or silence, and it was a friendly crowd drawn mostly from the champion's own state.

Herman was bitterly disappointed at the decision, apparently believing he had won by a wide margin, as did a majority of the crowd.

Had there been a newspaper decision, the bout would have been awarded almost unanimously to the Californian. The writers gave him no less than seven rounds to Kaplan's five, with three even, and the most favorable count gave him ten rounds to Kaplan's four with one even.

GUN CLUB TO HOLD SHOOT TOMORROW

Members of the East Liverpool Gun club will hold their regular shoot tomorrow at the traps near the country club.

Officers of the organization announced today that the events will start promptly at 3 o'clock.

The slipping Giants were nosed out again by the Reds, 3 to 2, and dropped to six games below the Pirates.

C. & P. NINE WINS FROM K. T. K., 6-5

Jones Victor in First Start for Wellsville Club.

Toeing the slab for the first time this season as a member of the Wellsville City Industrial league team, Pitcher Jones last evening turned in a 6 to 5 victory over K. T. K., the circuit leaders, at Columbian park. It was the C. & P. team's third win of the second half.

Jones was a puzzle the Potters found hard to solve. The five runs made by the locals in the fifth were mostly due to errors on the part of the visitors. Until the final frame, Jones delivered in excellent style and then gave way to Manning, a speed ball artist, as darkness descended over the field.

Runyan's all around performance was one of the game's features. He contributed some fast fielding and led the club's attack with three clean hits, his last blow in the sixth driving in the typing and winning runs.

The Katies used three pitchers, Bucher, who started, giving away to Sainor in the third with one out, and the latter being relieved by Stoffel in the last inning with two men on the bags, none out and K. T. K. leading, 5 to 4. Then Runyan's hit did the damage.

OAKMONT, Pa., Aug. 28. — Among the stars of the nation's golf links expected to arrive here today to prepare for the national amateur championship starting Monday, were Francis Ouimet, Jess Sweetser and Jess Guilford, former national champions, and Dave Herron, the man who beat Bobby Jones for the championship here in 1919.

Eddie Held, the St. Louis star, played the best golf of the day yesterday, turning in a score of 72 for a practice round. Jimmy Johnson, St. Paul player, made the course in 74. Both Held and Johnson are counted on to place among the 16 to qualify for the tournament in the medal play Monday and Tuesday.

More than 70 of golfdom's stars already here for the national tournament entered the 18-hold medal play at the neighboring Alleghany Country club today, among them Chick Evans and Bobby Jones.

WORLD SERIES CASH RETURNED

Won't Sell Tickets Till Flag is "in," Declares Dreyfus.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 28.—Hundreds of dollars are being received from hopeful followers of the Pittsburgh Pirates, bent on doing their world series ticket shopping early, Sam Dreyfus, secretary-treasurer of the club, announced today. But just as many dollars are being returned to their owners via the next mail.

"We won't accept a single order for world series tickets," Dreyfus said, "until the Pirtes actually are 'in' mathematically."

Dreyfus admitted it would be necessary to erect circus seats in the outfield, if Pittsburgh wins the pennant. But the management didn't know how many temporary seats would be built or even approximately how many they would accommodate.

Some say superstition figures in the Pirates' failure to make elaborate preparations for entertaining at a world series.

Chrysler Four smoothness is due to a floating platform spring which supports the front end of the motor and to live rubber bushings which insulate the rear motor bolts eliminating metal to metal contact—distinctive Chrysler design which keeps all vibration away from the frame and out of the body.

No other four has such high quality, or is built to such rigid precision standards and material specifications. More alloy steels are used in the Chrysler Four than in many cars which cost twice as much.

Trotters Trim Laughlin, 5 to 4, and Advance to Second Place

Deshler and Pollock Carry Off Honors In City League Contest

Sonny's Double in Fourth Clears Bases and Ties Count at 3 to 3; Pollock's Single, Following Hits by Kinsey and Bayley Produces Winning Counter in Last Inning; Laughlin's Final Effort to Knot Score are Fruitless.

Sonny Deshler pitched and batted the Trotter City Industrial league club to a decisive victory over the Laughlin team in a hard fought clash last evening on the Newell lot. The count was 5 to 4.

The victory put Trotter in second place and but a game behind the leaders, K. T. K., who lost to Wellsville as the Fowlerites were winning. Hits by A. Bayley, Kinsey and R. Pollock in the fifth clinched the contest.

Deshler got away to a bad start. Three hits and a sacrifice netted a run for Laughlin in the first. The West Virginians scored twice in the second on two singles, a walk and a fielder's choice.

Meanwhile Trotter had done nothing on the offensive. But in the fourth Sonny trotted out his stuff. The situation was put right up to him, with two out and the bases full as a result of a double by R. Pollock and walks to E. Bayley and Aufderheide. He made good by doubling to left and clearing the paths, making the count three all.

It was a rejuvenated Sonny that went out to pitch the fourth. Though Watson released a two-bagger at the start he was stopped at third as Sonny fanned DeLong, caused Thomas to go out at first and McConnell to fly to Herbert. Then, darkness impending, A. Bayley singled and stole second and counted on Kinsey's double. And R. Pollock's single scored Kinsey.

Laughlin made a desperate effort to overcome the two-run lead of their opponents in the final half of the fifth. But the club got but one of them. An error by Aufderheide who had taken A. Bayley's place in middle when the latter went to second and E. Bayley to short, made possible the near tie. The shift in the lineup was caused by the retirement of Shortstop Stroble who was hit hard in the leg by a batted ball.

Aufderheide muffed Tisher's long fly, permitting him to hold up at second. He went to third as Moran skied to R. Pollock and scored on the relayed wide throw of E. Bayley to Herbert which went into the crowd. Myers went out, E. Bayley to Heckathorne. H. Stroble, batting for Wilson, singled, but Hartman, swatting for Sayres, was retired, A. Bayley to Heckathorne. The fans, wildly excited, rose to their feet at the final chance for Laughlin to win, but their hopes were dashed as H. Stroble failed to go farther than second.

Charity Taeks K. O.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Charity was out for the full count today after a sock by Eddie Kane, manager of Sammy Mandell, Rockford, lightweight. Kane asked $50,000 as Mandell's guarantee to meet Sid Terris, New York lightweight, in a benefit bout for the Jewish Maternity hospital, according to James Johnston, promoter.

Again the yanks lost to Chicago, this time 6 to 5.

KAPLAN RETAINS FEATHER CROWN

WATERBURY, Conn., Aug. 28.—Kid Kaplan, featherweight champion of the world, held his title today by virtue of a rousing finish which won from the referee a draw in his 15-round bout last night with Babe Herman, the Pacific coast contender.

Herman outfought and outboxed the champion in a big majority of the rounds, but in the opinion of Jack Sheehan, the referee, Kaplan's showing in the final two rounds saved his title.

A crowd of 15,000 greeted the verdict with jeers or silence, and it was a friendly crowd drawn mostly from the champion's own state.

Herman was bitterly disappointed at the decision, apparently believing he had won by a wide margin, as did a majority of the crowd.

Had there been a newspaper decision, the bout would have been awarded almost unanimously to the Californian. The writers gave him no less than seven rounds to Kaplan's five, with three even, and the most favorable count gave him ten rounds to Kaplan's four with one even.

C. & P. NINE WINS FROM K. T. K., 6-5

Jones Victor in First Start for Wellsville Club.

Toeing the slab for the first time this season as a member of the Wellsville City Industrial league team, Pitcher Jones last evening turned in a 6 to 5 victory over K. T. K., the circuit leaders, at Columbian park. It was the C. & P. team's third win of the second half.

Jones was a puzzle the Potters found hard to solve. The five runs made by the locals in the fifth were mostly due to errors on the part of the visitors. Until the final frame, Jones delivered in excellent style and then gave way to Manning, a speed ball artist, as darkness descended over the field.

Runyan's all around performance was one of the game's features. He contributed some fast fielding and led the club's attack with three clean hits, his last blow in the sixth driving in the typing and winning runs.

The Katies used three pitchers, Bucher, who started, giving away to Sainor in the third with one out, and the latter being relieved by Stoffel in the last inning with two men on the bags, none out and K. T. K. leading, 5 to 4. Then Runyan's hit did the damage.

OLSO, FORMERLY CHRISTIANIA, REBUILT FROM RUINS OF FIRE

NEW YORK—Oslo, whose date line now figures so often in news of Amundsen, the Norwigean polar explorer, is the rechristened Christiana and capital of Norway. It was founded in 1047 and has a population of 242,000.

Since January 1, by royal decree, it has been known as Oslo, the old name of the city and a name older than the town. Before King Haraald Hadraade built the famous St. Mary's Church, in the eleventh century, the site had been used since time immemorial as a fair grounds.

Oslo was known as Oslo until 1624, when a great fire ruined the greater part of the city. Where upon King Christian IV. ordered the inhabitants to move a mile farther west under the guns of the Akersnus fortress. There he planned the present town and named it after himself—Cristiania.

The friction betwen Norway and Sweden over the dispute as to the ownership of Greenland overcame the inertia against changing the name of the town. The lower House of the Storthing, or Congress last june passed a bill to change the name of the town. On July 4, 1924, the Upper House made the bill a law. It came into effect January 1, the City Council having requested that the change not be effective until after the tercentenary of Christiania last September.

The city is now nearly all modern, but built on the originaldesigns of King Christian. The chief industries are iron foundries, weaving, spining and paper mills. Hugs quantities of matches are also made there. The shipping trade is extensive.

LONDON HAS OLD STYLE OMNIBUS

LONDON.—London has gone back to the horse-drawn omnibus of a hundred years ago.

Mindful of the fact that American tourists are interested in things ancient, two alert young Englishmen have started a horse-drawn omnibus service through the streets of London, so that tourists may experience the thrills their grandfathers had.

Snuff colored, large buttoned, becapped coats, and high hats are worn by the drivers of these omnibuses, and their vehicles are said to be nearly a hundred years old.

YOUTH KILLED BY HIS FAMILY

NAPLES.—Ferdinando Perna, a peasant, 25 years old, quarreled with his father, over a business matter. As they were disputing, the whole family of the young man, his mother, sister and brother threw themselves upon him and a veritable battle ensued. Perna was thrown to the ground, and killed.

The carabinieri have arrested the father, but the other members of the family are still in hiding.

State Civil Service Commission Will Conduct Examinations

The assembled examinations will be for the following positions in the state service: Male appraisal clerk, assistant physician, dentist, deputy game protector, deputy nursery and orchard inspector, grade 3 engineer, indexer, institutional and gr. 2 stenographers, office assistant, photographer (photostat operator), payroll inspectors and grade 3 bookkeepers.

Non-assembled examinations will be conducted for these positions: Painter, transitman, senior aid inspector, mechanics, laborers, janitor and janitress, planing mill foreman, firemen, dragline operator and craneman.

ICELAND STRUCK BY AUTO BOOM

REYRJAVIK, Iceland — Danish manufacturers are planning to enter into active competition with American manufacturers in the Icelandic automobile field. At present all automobiles in Iceland are American made. A recent conference between Danish and Icelandic business men has resulted in plans for a campaign for the substitution of Danish machines for American.

Because she had been bitten by a dog while viewing a display of gowns in a window, a London woman sued the store and the owner of the dog, who were compelled to pay costs of the suit.

That a woman passenger was justified in striking a bus conductor who tried to detain her when she refused to give her name during a dispute over a dog, was the verdict of a London court.

Congressman Sabath Has Ambition to Humanize Immigration Rules

As a Native of Bohemia, Illinois Legislator Shows Keen Interest in Matter Pertaining to Welfare of Immigrant.

A tremendous ambition to humanize the American immigration laws is the pet hobby of Representative Adolph J. Sabath (D. of Illinois), himself an immigrant and one of the outstanding immigration authorities of congress.

Coming to the United States from Bohemia in his youth, Sabah has maintained a deep personal interest in the welfare of immigrants. He knows their heartaches, their disappointments and their joys, and he has set his life to eliminate from the immigration statutes all provisions that unnecessarily inflict hardships upon those seeking a new home in America.

The story of Sabath's own life is a story of conquest against great odds. He was but a "shaver" when he landed in New York, an alien in a foreign land, but aflame with the fires of ambition. He went direct to Chicago, where he became a shoe clerk in one of the foreign settlements. He shortly became accustomed to American ways and American institutions, became a citizen and entered politics. He studied law, was admitted to the bar, was elected a municipal court judge for 12 years and then came to congress, where he has served ten consecutive terms.

Aids Immigrants.

Now he wants to take the sting out of our immigration laws. In the new selective service bill he initiaed the provisions which admit the wives and minor children of naturalized citizens, outside the quota limits. It is his belief that an American citizen has the right to bring his family from any corner of the globe to live beneath his roof. His next goal will be to amend the law so that the parents of a citizen may be admitted outside the immigration quotas.

While he demands humanized immigration, Sabath is a bitter foe of the "open door." He wants to keep out all undesirable aliens and has always maintained this stand.

For recreation, the Congressman takes long walks he loves to watch baseball games and sometimes indulges in golf. He would like to play golf regularly—if this secret can be told—but he's a little afraid of what the voters back in Chicago might say about it. Anyway, he keeps a bag of golfsticks in his office, and not so long ago his knowledge of the game was brought to light in a peculiar way.

The congressman's brother, Judge Joseph Sabath, of Chicago, visited the office, noticed the golf bag and asked:

"Do you play?"

The congressman said he did. Then Brother Joe said:

"I don't see how you can play with this outfit—there's no driver or putter in your bag."

"Oh, isn't there?" was all that Adolph could say.

A few days later Brother Joe sent the congressman the missing clubs, and now he's all set for golf.

Is a City Farmer.

Sabath is a city farmer, too. He has a farm out West on which he grows nothing but onions and potatoes, but he visits it often enough to make him familiar with all the farmer's problems. It is a sort of hobby, too, for he prizes highly the farm's crops.

The Chicagoan also has another claim to congressional distinction. He is one of the best-dressed men in the house. He favors silk shirts with narrow pin stripes, and the sartorial effect is the envy of his colleagues.

Sabath is a smoker, too, preferring the pipe. He is always content when supplied with his pipe, a can of tobacco and a box of matches—a big box, too. It is said he generally uses a box of matches for every smoke.

But here's his secret weakness: He loves pinochle and longs some day to acquire the pinochle championship of congress. But he doesn't get enough time to practice, so there's no telling whether that ambition ever will be fulfilled.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED.

TREASURE DIVERS STIR UP LEGEND

Upper Michigan Pioneers Think Expedition Will Raise Trader of 1849.

Northport, Mich.—Interest has been aroused among old settlers here by the report from Chicago that a seaplane is being outfitted to locate sunken treasure in this northern end of Lake Michigan. Various stories are making the rounds as to the character of the treasure. A sailing vessel with a government pay roll in gold, a ship laden with contraband whisky, these are the most popular.

So far as the oldest settler recollects, there never was any smuggling in these waters that ended with disaster. Only one instance of government interference is known. That was when the two-masted Merrimac attempted to smuggle liquor from Sarnia to Northport to be bootlegged to the Ottawa Indians. The revenue cutter, Andy Johnson, fired two shots over the Merrimac's bows as she attempted to run ashore in Northport harbor. This story is vouched for by Mrs. Jessie W. Hilton, granddaughter of Northport's first white settler, Rev. George N. Smith.

Recalls Indian Legend.

Mrs. Hilton said it is the Indian tradition that no sailing vessel entered the bay until the early '50s. When Nanaboshoo, the Ottawa god, blew his breath upon the waters of Lake Michigan and separated the shoal waters of Grand Traverse bay from their mother-bosom, white men were unknown. Only Indians paddled their dugouts around Cat Head point entrance to the bay. The Indians were superstitious about the bay, especially Hog island, now Ford's island, twenty nautical miles due south from Cat Head. Even now, few rest in their ninety-mile paddling from the straits to claim a haven on its deeply-wooded shores. Water demons, the Indians say, are ever waiting, ready to drag the unwary traveler to the depths.

However, Mrs. Hilton has evidence that there lay just within Cat Head point, at the entrance of Grand Traverse bay, a ship lost in the early fifties. Her grandfather, Reverend Mr. Smith, came upon a specter when he entered the bay in the little two-masted sailing vessel, Merrill, May, 1849. He had come from his Black river missionary field among the Ottawas to find a home for his Indians on the west shore of Grand Traverse bay. The ship, according to Reverend Mr. Smith, "lay down in the deep, a long stark spar pointing from its watery sepulcher." The following winter, when the bay was frozen, his Ottawa charges, fulfilling their belief that none should know of the resting place of the dead, cut off the spar level with the frozen surface.

According to the story which has come down to Mrs. Hilton, the sunken vessel was known as the Venus. It was owned by Capt. Peter Nelson and a man known as Robinson. They did a fur-trading business. George Bigelow, a stepson of Capt. Nelson, who kept Traverse light on Cat Head point in the early '50s, has told Mrs. Hilton that he remembers seeing the spar sticking from the water. The lighthouse referred to was erected in 1852 and is still in use.

No Ships Salvaged There.

Gil M. Dame, erstwhile politician and now president of Cherry Home corporation, voiced the belief of the people in the vicinity. "This section of the lake," said Mr. Dame, "never gives up its dead. No lost vessel has ever been salvaged. Down went the Sardenia, off Gardners' point on Cat Head bay. She was loaded with salt, enough to anchor a dreadnaught. She was never salvaged."

Gil Dame, also owned a ship, the W. C. Kimball, which he sold to Kehl & Stevens. On her maiden trip for her new owners, on May 8, she was lost with her crew of five, and has never been heard of since. Her deck load of shingles washed ashore all along Grand Traverse bay, and with it a trunk, but no trace of the crew, for, say old settlers, "this section of the lake never gives up its dead."

Mrs. James Stevens, widow of the captain, walked the shore day after day. She ended in the insane asylum, where she died two years ago.

The trunk washed ashore from the Kimball told a tale of fate. It belonged to a young Norwegian, Staley Johnson, who, after crossing the Atlantic, and making his way to Chicago had boarded the Kimball. Fate had let him cross the Atlantic, only to betray him on an inland sea.

A brother of Mrs. Hilton, Will P. Wolfe, was first mate of the Kimball. Wolfe was the friend of many well-known men, among them James Whitcomb Riley and Harry C. New, now postmaster general. Wolfe had been city editor of the Indianapolis News at a time when Riley, New, Harry Gingham and Luther Benson were on the staff. Maurice Benson, author of the "Tallahassie Girl," which he wrote in Northport, at Wolfe's residence, was also an intimate of the lost mate.

The Ottawas have a legend, Mrs. Hilton said, which relates that many, many years ago a great famine overcame all beasts of the Wisconsin shore. Death stalked abroad and many swam into the great waters never to return.

The airplane service between Barranquilla and Girardot, Colombia, is to be increased to twice-a-week trips in a plane with eight-passenger capacity instead of the two-passenger hydroplanes now in use.

The hands of the lad were burned. Evidently the umbrella came in contact with a live wire.

Northport, Mich.—Interest has been aroused among old settlers here by the report from Chicago that a seaplane is being outfitted to locate sunken treasure in this northern end of Lake Michigan. Various stories are making the rounds as to the character of the treasure. A sailing vessel with a government pay roll in gold, a ship laden with contraband whisky, these are the most popular.

So far as the oldest settler recollects, there never was any smuggling in these waters that ended with disaster. Only one instance of government interference is known. That was when the two-masted Merrimac attempted to smuggle liquor from Sarnia to Northport to be bootlegged to the Ottawa Indians. The revenue cutter, Andy Johnson, fired two shots over the Merrimac's bows as she attempted to run ashore in Northport harbor. This story is vouched for by Mrs. Jessie W. Hilton, granddaughter of Northport's first white settler, Rev. George N. Smith.

Recalls Indian Legend.

Mrs. Hilton said it is the Indian tradition that no sailing vessel entered the bay until the early '50s. When Nanaboshoo, the Ottawa god, blew his breath upon the waters of Lake Michigan and separated the shoal waters of Grand Traverse bay from their mother-bosom, white men were unknown. Only Indians paddled their dugouts around Cat Head point entrance to the bay. The Indians were superstitious about the bay, especially Hog island, now Ford's island, twenty nautical miles due south from Cat Head. Even now, few rest in their ninety-mile paddling from the straits to claim a haven on its deeply-wooded shores. Water demons, the Indians say, are ever waiting, ready to drag the unwary traveler to the depths.

However, Mrs. Hilton has evidence that there lay just within Cat Head point, at the entrance of Grand Traverse bay, a ship lost in the early fifties. Her grandfather, Reverend Mr. Smith, came upon a specter when he entered the bay in the little two-masted sailing vessel, Merrill, in May, 1849. He had come from his Black river missionary field among the Ottawas to find a home for his Indians on the west shore of Grand Traverse bay. The ship, according to Reverend Mr. Smith, "lay down in the deep, a long stark spar pointing from its watery sepulcher." The following winter, when the bay was frozen, his Ottawa charges, fulfilling their belief that none should know of the resting place of the dead, cut off the spar level with the frozen surface.

According to the story which has come down to Mrs. Hilton, the sunken vessel was known as the Venus. It was owned by Capt. Peter Nelson and a man known as Robinson. They did a fur-trading business. George Bigelow, a stepson of Capt. Nelson, who kept Traverse light on Cat Head point in the early '50s, has told Mrs. Hilton that he remembers seeing the spar sticking from the water. The lighthouse referred to was erected in 1852 and is still in use.

No Ships Salvaged There.

Gil M. Dame, erstwhile politician and now president of Cherry Home corporation, voiced the belief of the people in the vicinity. "This section of the lake," said Mr. Dame, "never gives up its dead. No lost vessel has ever been salvaged. Down went the Sardenia, off Gardners' point on Cat Head bay. She was loaded with salt, enough to anchor a dreadnaught. She was never salvaged."

Gil Dame, also owned a ship, the W. C. Kimball, which he sold to Kehl & Stevens. "On her maiden trip for her new owners, on May 8, she was lost with her crew of five, and has never been heard of since. Her deck load of shingles washed ashore all along Grand Traverse bay, and with it a trunk, but no trace of the crew, for, say old settlers, "this section of the lake never gives up its dead."

Mrs. James Stevens, widow of the captain, walked the shore day after day. She ended in the insane asylum, where she died two years ago.

The trunk washed ashore from the Kimball told a tale of fate. It belonged to a young Norwegian, Staley Johnson, who, after crossing the Atlantic, and making his way to Chicago had boarded the Kimball. Fate had let him cross the Atlantic, only to betray him on an inland sea.

A brother of Mrs. Hilton, Will P. Wolfe, was first mate of the Kimball. Wolfe was the friend of many well-known men, among them James Whitcomb Riley and Harry C. New, now postmaster general. Wolfe had been city editor of the Indianapolis News at a time when Riley, New, Harry Gingham and Luther Benson were on the staff. Maurice Benson, author of the "Tallahassie Girl," which he wrote in Northport, at Wolfe's residence, was also an intimate of the lost mate.

The Ottawas have a legend, Mrs. Hilton said, which relates that many, many years ago a great famine overcame all beasts of the Wisconsin shore. Death stalked abroad and many swam into the great waters never to return.

The airplane service between Barranquilla and Girardot, Colombia, is to be increased to twice-a-week trips in a plane with eight-passenger capacity instead of the two-passenger hydroplanes now in use.

COLUMBUS.—A $35,000 damage suit has been filed in federal court here against the Pennsylvania railroad company by Clarence M. Clark, of this city. Clark claimed that, while employed as a brakeman in the Columbus yards, he sustained injuries permanently barring him from future employment, when he hit a concrete post built nearer to the tracks than regulations, issued by the proper legal authorities, allow.

London's recent lawn-mower derby proved a great success.

MAN, 100 YEARS OLD STILL ACTIVE

LENINGRAD—Ivan Shcherbina, carpenter of the town Kremenchouk, has worked 100 years and is still going strong.

He claims to have worked longer than any man in the world, and to be the oldest active carpenter alive.

His claims are backed by the fact that he is now 105 years old, has been at the bench since he was five years old, and today drives a plane with the best of them.

He has survived five czars and three revolutions.

Ivan's home town trade union has just celebrated the centenary of his going to work by awarding him a pension of $2.50 a month. Besides this he reeceives a small social insurance pension.

But Ivan refuses to quit. Asked if he weren't ready to take a rest, Ivan replied that the habits of 100 years were too strong to break.

"I'll work until I die," he said.

Marathon Gasoline

To the man on the street who is the final judge of the quality of any commercial article, the essential properties of gasoline are five in number:—

1. EASE IN STARTING.
2. ACCELERATION.
3. POWER FOR HILL CLIMBING.
4. ABSENCE OF KNOCK.
5. MILES PER GALLON.

Each of these properties is directly dependent upon a specific type of gasoline stock. No refinery organization can make gasoline that will give complete satisfaction to the motorist if it does not have access to a great variety of crude oils, if it does not use the most modern processes and refining methods and if its crudes are not blended to give all of the properties possessed by good gasoline. In these respects WE are very happily situated.

FREE OIL

EAST END

SUNDAY SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET

Members of the Sunday school board of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church will meet this evening at 8 o'clock. The session was scheduled for last Tuesday evening but was postponed. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected. A full attendance is desired.

RECORD PRIMARY VOTE EXPECTED

Keen interest is being taken in the coming primaries for borough offices in Midland where a large number of candidates are in the field for the various offices to be filled at the November election. Supporters of the rival aspirants for burgess are working hard in behalf of their favorites and a record vote is expected to be cast.

Missionary Meeting.

Members of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the home of Mrs. George Cox, of Michigan avenue. Mrs. Caroline Mercer will be associate hostess.

Road Work Progressing.

Good progress is being made on the improvement of the road between state line and Smith's Ferry by Rinehart Bros., who hold the contract. Work on the highway between Midland and Smith's Ferry is also steadily advancing in charge of a Midland contracting firm.

Play Trotters Tonight.

Babcock-Wilcox team is scheduled to meet Trotters tonight on the latter's ground. Both teams are playing fast ball and a large crowd is expected to witness the contest. The former has won four straight from the leading contenders during the past week.

Woodburn Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Miss Hattie Woodburn will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home of her sister, Mrs. Sina Curtis, 956 St. George street. Rev. J. F. Dimit, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, will have charge. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Scouts Meet Tonight.

Boy and Girl Scouts will meet in regular session this evening in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Scoutmaster Harold Downard will be in charge of the meeting.

INHERITANCE LAW IS ABOLISHED

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—Another departure from Communism, instances of which have been becoming more frequent of late, was completed today when the council of the people's commissiars decided to abolish the law limiting inheritances to a maximum $5,000. Citizens of the Soviet may now will their entire fortunes to whomever they please.

The old law had many discriminations, permitting certain classes greater privileges than others in the matter of inheritances, and had been the cause of much discontent.

His Failure Hits Champs' Chances

The failure of "Zeb" Zachary, above, to hit his 1924 stride, has handicapped the Washington senators in their efforts to hold the pennant. He won 15 games last year and did good work as a game saver. He has won but half that number to date this year.

SHERDEL

Makes Good With Slow Ball as Biggest Asset.

Baseball wisemen will tell you that a pitcher to succeed in the big leagues must have a good curve or a good fast ball and something to mix it with.

Herewith is presented the name of Mr. William Sherdel, of the St. Louis Cardinals, who is having a measure of success in this, his eighth season in the big show, with a slow ball as his biggest asset.

Modest Bill just slowballs the opposition to death. They get lame backs swinging too quickly at his lobs and eventually become discouraged and all tired out.

If Bill continues to hold his present gait he will wind up the season in the ranks of the pitchers who can be called winning ones on their life-long records. This despite the fact that he has labored with the Cardinals who wallowed around the cellar the first three years he cavorted with them.

When the 1924 season ended he had won a total of 71 games and lost 74. Last year was but a fair one for him. He won eight and lost nine games. In 1922 and 1923, however, when the Cardinals were striking at the main ramparts of the Giant fort, Bill was going good. He won 17 and lost 13 games in 1922 and won 15 games and lost the same number in 1923.

Probably President Robinson, of the Dodgers, isn't really regretting his action in letting Dutch Ruether go last winter. Robbie labored for four years to make a winner or even dependable pitcher out of the southpaw, but got only spasmodic results. Last year, for instance, Dutch won only nine games and lost 13. Not much help there.

But right now Uncle Robbie probably casts an eye on the pitching records once in a while and inadvertently hesitates at the name of Walter Henry Ruether. For this erratic one is helping the Washington Senators step out in front in the American league and hold the pace. Not an heroic part, it is true, but he is doing his bit with considerable dependability.

And what probably does hurt Uncle Robbie is the fact that he let the left-hander go for a song. Washington paid something like $4,000 for him. This is a little sum, compared to the big checks being mailed hither and thither for untried rookies. Of course, on the other hand, the Senators probably wouldn't have gambled much more than that on the in and outer. Which may cheer Robbie somewhat.

England Feared Bryans Appointment As Ambassador

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Grave fears were held by King George of England in 1912 that President Wilson might appoint William Jennings Bryan as ambassador to the court of St. James, according to passages in the diary of Sir Almeric Fitzroy, published today.

This was the choicest revelation in the memoirs of Sir Almeric, who for twenty-five years was the clerk of the privy council. The reference to Bryan was contained in a diary entry of 1912.

Sir Almeric wrote on that occasion:

"Lord Morley found the king very disturbed lest the new president of the United States should send Mr. Bryan as ambassador to this court. It was agreed that Bryce (then ambassador to the United States) should unofficially drop a hint that such an appointment would be unacceptable."

Brooklyn outslugged the Cardinals and with the aid of a ninth inning rally won, 10 to 9. Rogers Hornsby got his 34th homer of the season.

EAST END

SUNDAY SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET

Members of the Sunday school board of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church will meet this evening at 8 o'clock. The session was scheduled for last Tuesday evening but was postponed. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected. A full attendance is desired.

RECORD PRIMARY VOTE EXPECTED

Keen interest is being taken in the coming primaries for borough offices in Midland where a large number of candidates are in the field for the various offices to be filled at the November election. Supporters of the rival aspirants for burgess are working hard in behalf of their favorites and a record vote is expected to be cast.

Missionary Meeting.

Members of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the home of Mrs. George Cox, of Michigan avenue. Mrs. Caroline Mercer will be associate hostess.

Road Work Progressing.

Good progress is being made on the improvement of the road between state line and Smith's Ferry by Rinehart Bros., who hold the contract. Work on the highway between Midland and Smith's Ferry is also steadily advancing in charge of a Midland contracting firm.

Play Trotters Tonight.

Babcock-Wilcox team is scheduled to meet Trotters tonight on the latter's ground. Both teams are playing fast ball and a large crowd is expected to witness the contest. The former has won four straight from the leading contenders during the past week.

Woodburn Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Miss Hattie Woodburn will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home of her sister, Mrs. Sina Curtis, 956 St. George street. Rev. J. F. Dimit, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, will have charge. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Scouts Meet Tonight.

Boy and Girl Scouts will meet in regular session this evening in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Scoutmaster Harold Downard will be in charge of the meeting.

INHERITANCE LAW IS ABOLISHED

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—Another departure from Communism, instances of which have been becoming more frequent of late, was completed today when the council of the people's commissiars decided to abolish the law limiting inheritances to a maximum $5,000. Citizens of the Soviet may now will their entire fortunes to whomever they please.

The old law had many discriminations, permitting certain classes greater privileges than others in the matter of inheritances, and had been the cause of much discontent.

His Failure Hits Champs' Chances

The failure of "Zeb" Zachary, above, to hit his 1924 stride, has handicapped the Washington senators in their efforts to hold the pennant. He won 15 games last year and did good work as a game saver. He has won but half that number to date this year.

SHERDEL

Makes Good With Slow Ball as Biggest Asset.

Baseball wisemen will tell you that a pitcher to succeed in the big leagues must have a good curve or a good fast ball and something to mix it with.

Herewith is presented the name of Mr. William Sherdel, of the St. Louis Cardinals, who is having a measure of success in this, his eighth season in the big show, with a slow ball as his biggest asset.

Modest Bill just slowballs the opposition to death. They get lame backs swinging too quickly at his lobs and eventually become discouraged and all tired out.

If Bill continues to hold his present gait he will wind up the season in the ranks of the pitchers who can be called winning ones on their life-long records. This despite the fact that he has labored with the Cardinals who wallowed around the cellar the first three years he cavorted with them.

When the 1924 season ended he had won a total of 71 games and lost 74. Last year was but a fair one for him. He won eight and lost nine games. In 1922 and 1923, however, when the Cardinals were striking at the main ramparts of the Giant fort, Bill was going good. He won 17 and lost 13 games in 1922 and won 15 games and lost the same number in 1923.

Probably President Robinson, of the Dodgers, isn't really regretting his action in letting Dutch Ruether go last winter. Robbie labored for four years to make a winner or even dependable pitcher out of the southpaw, but got only spasmodic results. Last year, for instance, Dutch won only nine games and lost 13. Not much help there.

But right now Uncle Robbie probably casts an eye on the pitching records once in a while and inadvertently hesitates at the name of Walter Henry Ruether. For this erratic one is helping the Washington Senators step out in front in the American league and hold the pace. Not an heroic part, it is true, but he is doing his bit with considerable dependability.

And what probably does hurt Uncle Robbie is the fact that he let the left-hander go for a song. Washington paid something like $4,000 for him. This is a little sum, compared to the big checks being mailed hither and thither for untried rookies. Of course, on the other hand, the Senators probably wouldn't have gambled much more than that on the in and outer. Which may cheer Robbie somewhat.

England Feared Bryans Appointment As Ambassador

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Grave fears were held by King George of England in 1912 that President Wilson might appoint William Jennings Bryan as ambassador to the court of St. James, according to passages in the diary of Sir Almeric Fitzroy, published today.

This was the choicest revelation in the memoirs of Sir Almeric, who for twenty-five years was the clerk of the privy council. The reference to Bryan was contained in a diary entry of 1912.

Sir Almeric wrote on that occasion:

"Lord Morley found the king very disturbed lest the new president of the United States should send Mr. Bryan as ambassador to this court. It was agreed that Bryce (then ambassador to the United States) should unofficially drop a hint that such an appointment would be unacceptable."

Brooklyn outslugged the Cardinals and with the aid of a ninth inning rally won, 10 to 9. Rogers Hornsby got his 34th homer of the season.

The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Doe Morris

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE.

Again Amoura's eyes searched her father's. It was very plain that he was pleased at the prospect of being rid of her for the evening. What was he up to?

"Please go ahead, then, you precious old dear. You need not feel duty-bound to take me to dinner. My engagement includes dinner, too, and I ought to keep it."

"Oh, no," he protested profusely. "No—."

"You may take me tomorrow evening if you like."

He acquiesed when his glance met his daughter's eyes. With a filial kiss he departed.

The girls met Paula's bee-eff, meaning Boy Friend, and the bee-eff's pal at the Elevated station.

Paula, impressed by her companion's father, was apologetic: "Mas ain't got no car, but he's a swell fellow, and I'm sure his friend is, too."

Amoura wore a black brocaded gown that was severely plain alongside Paula's colorful costume.

"Mac," otherwise Joe McCarty, and his pal, Ray Early, were not such bad looking chaps, Amoura decided as the quartet climbed the stairs to the station platform. Their clothes were of the collegiate cut, affected nowadays by all mechanics, bellboys off duty, and ribbon clerks, but both were chewing gum industriously.

Ray gripped his companion's arm tightly above the arm to help her up the stairs, and when Amoura, without thinking, pulled it free, he stared at her. His glance took in the suggestive, sheer chiffon hose, the dainty satined feet, and he gave his gum an extra churning.

The boys led them to the Grand Cafe, a flamboyant resort on the edge of the "Loop."

"Anything you want, girls, from soup to nuts," Mac announced magnificantly. "Won a big bet on the races today.

Paula smiled exuberantly. Amoura was unresponsive. Her eyes were roving the room; not because she was particularly interested in the throngs of tables filled with munching people, and the dancers who whirled by, but because she wanted to avoid the glances of her escort, opposite her. There was something in his expression that annoyed her; a line about his mouth that was repulsive. She was thinging that she naturally would have to dance with him, and she didn't want to.

Her wandering glance paused at a table and was arrested. No! It couldn't be. But it WAS! Her father! And he was with a young woman. A garish appearing stranger. So! . . . Her cheeks took on a tint. He was up to his old tricks.

"Let's have a little dance now," Mac was saying. "We'll just dance once before the eats come, then we'll go over to Guyon's. More fun over there." He arose. Ray Early got up, smiling down at Amoura. A faint shiver ran through her as she took his arm. When they swung out into the throng of gyrating couples, she noted the position of her father's table and determined not to be seen. Her parent slipped out of her thoughts as there was forced upon her the necessity of evading her partner's efforts to dance cheek-to cheek.

"'Smatter, don't you like me any, Babe?"

"Not so well as that, yet," she responded calmly, ignoring the sobriquet.

"Aw, I don't mean anything by it." She gave her head a little toss, and in the manner of her father, let a shrug respond: Why, then? She felt his arm draw a little tighter around her waist, and she visioned an unpleasant evening. When the music halted, she did not wait for the encore, but started for the table. Her companion followed reluctantly. He did not look at her when he followed her suit and sat down, but inspected the parties at surrounding tables. When, after the encore was played, Mac and Paula returned to the table, he scowled. Paula regarded Amoura curiously.

"No food yet?" the host grumbled. "And me with an apetite like a locomotive for coal." He twisted himself around. "Here he comes! Three cheers!" When his soup plate was placed before him he addressed himself to the waiter: "We want some snappy service, now, garsong." As the individual thus addressed retreated, Mas repeated: "Gar-song! How do you like my French? I can speak lots of it. Chevrolet coupe!"

Paula shook with giggles and gazed on him with adoring eyes. Speak some Spanish, too, Mac."

He grimaced foolishly at Amoura and complied: "Firpo."

Again Paula shook with giggles. It was only the thirty-fifth time Mac had "spoken Spanish" for her.

Amoura scarcely tasted her soup, thick and unsavory. That it was thick and unsavory, however, she did not notice; her eyes persisted in roving to her father's table. He was, it was plain, enjoying his little adventure. Amoura made her glances furtively, fearful that Paula would notice the object of her interest.

But Paula was occupied otherwise. "What's my name, Mac?" she asked.

"Paula She's Lit," he clowned.

"Isn't he just killing?" Paula cried to Amoura. "I never have been able to teach him to pronounce my last name correctly."

"I'm afraid I can't either" Amoura smiled, feeling the need of saying something.

"Yes, 'She's Lit," Mac repeated.

Amoura frowned, she was getting a headache. Again her eyes went to her father's table. Had this been prearranged, she wondered? She imagined it was. Yet he had agreed to take her out to dinner. . . . Poor mother'

She only minced at her meat, and the attention she gave to her salad she thought necessary. She laughed with relief at one of Mac's sallies as they arose from the table. If only she could go home now!

"Let's take a taxi," Max bellowed, when they issued from the cafe.

"Let's take two taxis, you mean," Ray Early responded. Mac grinned at him, and Paula winked at Amoura, who met her companion's glance coldly.

"We'll be over at the left of the entrance, in case we get there first," Mac cried, as he closed the door of the machine into which he had grandly assisted Paula.

"You don't like me, do you, Babe?" Ray Early murmured, taking Amoura's hand, as the taxi gathered speed. She withdrew the member, and turned upon him eyes in which little fires were lighting.

"You're not very subtle, Mr. Early."

"You may call me Ray if you like," he responded impudently.

She did not reply, but eased herself against the window of the taxi, her lips quivering with suppressed anger. He edged over, too, and took her hand again.

"Don't try to high-hat me, girlie. I've got your number." His other arm went around her.

"Yes, 'She's Lit," Mac repeated.

Amoura frowned, she was getting a headache. Again her eyes went to her father's table. Had this been prearranged, she wondered? She imagined it was. Yet he had agreed to take her out to dinner. . . . Poor mother!

She only minced at her meat, and the attention she gave to her salad she thought necessary. She laughed with relief at one of Mac's sallies as they arose from the table. If only she could go home now!

"Let's take a taxi," Max bellowed, when they issued from the cafe.

"Let's take two taxis, you mean," Ray Early responded. Mac grinned at him, and Paula winked at Amoura, who met her companion's glance coldly.

"We'll be over at the left of the entrance, in case we get there first," Mac cried, as he closed the door of the machine into which he had grandly assisted Paula.

"You don't like me, do you, Babe?" Ray Early murmured, taking Amoura's hand, as the taxi gathered speed. She withdrew the member, and turned upon him eyes in which little fires were lighting.

"You're not very subtle, Mr. Early."

"You may call me Ray if you like," he responded impudently.

She did not reply, but eased herself against the window of the taxi, her lips quivering with suppressed anger. He edged over, too, and took her hand again.

"Don't try to high-hat me, girlie. I've got your number." His other arm went around her.

Victor Lawson leaves his Chicago Evening News to the Illinois Trust Co. to operate or sell it, as they choose.

John J. Mitchell, head of that trust company, is as able a business man as there is in Chicago.

Nevertheless, this advice is offered: Sell the Daily News while it is still a valuable property.

If a great bank were left to the greatest of editors, wherever he may be, Mr. Mitchell would advise him to sell the bank, and he would be right.

A newspaper like a baby, must grow or die. Putting a newspaper in the hands of a trust company or a committee, is like leaving a baby in a straight jacket.

Leave it in a straight jacket too long and you will never get it started again. So it is with a newspaper.

Mr. Lawson left three-quarters of his entire fortune to the Chicago Congregational Missionary society, the Chicago Theological seminary and the Young Men's Christian association of Chicago.

This would indicate that when he made the will Victor Lawson was not very close to the little people that made his paper and his fortune, especially to those that stood outside in the rain, waiting to get the "help wanted" advertisement.

Shakespeare's "Hamlet" in modern clothing, with knickerbockers, bobbed hair and cigarettes, is, according to London critics, a great success. It takes extraordinary conditions to make a failure of such a Shakespeare.

Once in London, a lady from the continent did the Lady MacBeth sleep walking scene with a very tight and plainly visible corsets under her nightgown. Even that couldn't kill the bard.

The next step probably will be Hamlet playing the ukulele in the ghost scene, soft jazz music by the band.

To know such a Shakespeare, read him in a book. Whoever needs the methods of modern actors to help Shakespeare's lines couldn't understand those lines anyhow.

While other makers cut prices, Henry Ford decides to paint his cars, change the looks and keep the price.

Once upon a time, before he used the self-started, Ford told his agents, "I have a starter for you." When the agents, much delighted, asked to see it, Ford said, "I have cut the price $50. That will start your Fords.

An interesting birthday party at Morristown, N. J., yesterday. John Aikman Stewart, oldest alumni of Columbia university, oldest trustee of Princeton university and oldest banker in the world, celebrated his one-hundred and third birthday. Mr. Stewart, chairman of the board of the United States Trust Co. in New York city, takes life quietly—"easy drives, quiet talks, much silence and reflection." That's why he has lived to begin his one hundred and fourth year. Anybody "could" do it.

Rev. C. A. Merrill, of Massachusetts, dropped dead playing tennis. You don't need to be told that he was more than 59 years old. Men past 50 should play tennis only with their grandchildren, moving around slowly, letting the children win. Any strain on the heart from a cold bath in the morning to a cold cocktail at night,

WILL EXTRADITE MIDLAND SLAYER

Foreigner Wanted at Gary, Ind., on Murder Charge.

Martin Vrljech is being held in the Midland jail awaiting the arrival of extradition papers from Harrisburg prior to being taken to Gary, Ind., where he is charged with the murder of a farmer named George Simmons, whom it is alleged he shot and killed July 16, 1923.

Vrljech, who was arrested when police raided a poker game in Midland last Saturday was identified through a description sent out by the Gary police following the murder. Later this was made complete by the arrival of a deputy sheriff from the county in which Gary is located.

Attorney William Coglan in an effort to prevent extradition applied to the Beaver county court for a writ of habeas corpus which was denied by Judge George Baldwin.

NEW RECTORY OF ST. ALOYSIUS CHURCH OPENED LAST EVENING

Structure One of Finest in Cleveland Diocese.

Constructed at a cost of approximately $50,000, the new rectory of the St. Aloysius Catholic church, West Fifth street, numbered among the finest in the Cleveland diocese, was opened last night for public inspection. More than a thousand persons viewed the interior of the home, built on the site of the former rectory, adjacent to the church building.

In connection with the opening of the rectory ladies of the parish entertained at a fete on the lawn adjoining.

Excellent workmanship in all details marks the construction of the building. A stone finish presents an exterior view of both substantiality and beauty.

The interior of the rectory, in all of its 21 rooms, is elegantly furnished and equipped.

The building of the rectory was directly supervised by the late Rev. T. A. Dunne, whose tireless efforts in connection with the vast project were consummated recently by death, with his goal in sight.

Rev. Thomas E. Walsh, formerly of Youngstown, who succeeded Rev. Dunne, and Rev. W. J. Fowler, his assistant, carried the plans to completion.

The completion of the rectory places the Catholic church property, which includes the church itself, recently renovated throughout, and a modernly constructed nuns' convent, adjoining the St. Aloysius school, on a par with many of the leading parishes of the diocese.

ARMED BANDITS GET $9,000 OF BIG PAYROLL

Hold up Car at Railroad Crossing in Philadelphia.

SEVEN TAKE PART

Gunmen Make Escape in Auto Driven by Companion.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 28.—Seven heavily armed bandits, wearing stocking masks, early today held up the Pennsylvania Rapid Transit payroll car, containing $80,000 in the central part of Philadelphia. The bandits escaped with three tin boxes containing $9,144.42, the payroll for one of the car barns, after holding at bay the motorman, conductor and a guard with sawed off shot guns and revolvers, according to police.

The men lay in wait for the pay car in a freight car where the pay car crosses the Philadelphia and Reading railroad tracks. The bandits overlooked the rest of the money.

As the pay car approached the railroad crossing six men leaped from a freight car. Two bandits pointed shot guns in the motorman's face and another held a revolver against the conductor's head. Three others leaped on the rear platform of the pay car, and after knocking down the guard with the butt end of their revolvers, hurriedly picked the tin boxes and leaped from the car without stopping to search for the remainder of the money in another part of the car.

The bandits then joined the seventh member of the gang who was holding a fireman on a freight engine at bay with a shot gun.

George Dunn, 7, is Rescued by O. J. Herrington.

Little George Dunn, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dunn of Mapletree street, East End, probably owes his life to Oliver Herrington of Avondale street.

Herrington plunged into a creek near Virginia avenue, East End, this morning and prevented the child, who had slipped over the bank, from drowning.

Workmen have been digging out the creek recently in an effort to clear away the debris and dirt that has clogged the stream bed and caused damage to the Second Presbyterian church property by overflowing.

The Dunn child was playing around the place this morning when, stepping too close to the edge of the creek bank, he suddenly toppled in.

Herrington drove around a nearby corner as he slipped over. He took in the situation at a glance and, leaping from his truck, jumped into the water, several feet deep. He pulled the youngster up to the bank again, safe and sound.

REV. J. F. DIMIT PASTOR FOR 16 YEARS, WILL BE RETURNED HERE

HERE SINCE 1909

Second Oldest Pastor in City From Service Viewpoint.

Rev. John F. Dimit will be returned as pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church for the 17th successive year at the annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Methodist Protestant denomination which will be held in the First Church, Northside, Pittsburgh, beginning Tuesday, September 8.

The congregation of the local church, at a recent business meeting extended Rev. Dimit a unanimous call for another year. The wishes of the congregation are considered in the assignment of pastors in connection with the annual conference meetings.

The local church at the Pittsburgh meeting will be represented by Rev. Mr. Dimit and Samuel Spencer, who is the lay delegate. The meeting will probably close on Monday, September 14th.

Rev. Dimit assumed charge of the East Liverpool church in the fall of 1909, succeeding Rev. Mr. Sisson, who was forced to resign because of failing health. From the viewpoint of service, he is the oldest pastor in the city, with the exception of Rev. J. G. Reinartz, pastor of the St. Johns Lutheran church.

During Rev. Mr. Dimit's pastorate the local church has experienced a wonderful growth in membership. A new church, costing approximately $125,000 was completed about a year and a half ago, under Rev. Dimit's direction.

Last year's conference meeting was held in this city.

Prosecuting Attorney Brookes Working on Legislation.

Initial legislation, of which there will be considerable, is now being prepared by Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes, which will have to do with a three-year road building program as proposed by the county commissioners. It may follow that this legislation will be in shape to be acted upon by the commissioners next Monday, and if not then, it will be completed in time to be considered at a meeting of the board September 8.

A special meeting of the commissioners was held in Lisbon Wednesday afternoon when a three-year road construction program was gone over thoroughly. It is known that the state highway department looks with favor upon speedier road building in Columbiana county, and it is up to the board of commissioners to work out a road program, and at the same time devise ways and means to obtain money to meet the appropriation that has been assured by the state highway department.

It has been intimated by the commissioners for many months that it was the desire of the board to put through a road program during the next few years that would result in the connection of all intercounty highways and main market roads that have been built in part during the years that the 10-mill levy has been in effect. With this idea in view, a road building program to extend over a period of three years is now being designed, and should the program be adopted there will be no "dead ends" to improved highways in any part of Columbiana county.

Such a program would result in the connecting of about every city and village within the county, and this means that about every one of the 18 townships in the county would be concerned in the proposed road building program.

Should it be possible for the county commissioners to finance this program to meet state and federal appropriations, the board will have sufficient money at its command to build additional roads to connect with the intercounty highways and also the main market roads.

Such roads, it is pointed out, are not extensively traveled, and either cinder or slag can be used to surface these roads in order that connections can be made with the concrete roads.

When the new road program is worked out, it will likely be determined that all surfacing will be done with concrete, a type of road that is now being built generally in this county.

Just as soon as the legislation having to do with this new road program is completed by Mr. Brookes and adopted by the commissioners, the matter of financing the series of roads will then be finally determined upon.

CLARKSON GRANGE TO HOLD PICNIC

Final arrangements have been made for the annual picnic and outing of Clarkson Grange No. 1802 which will be held Sept. 4 at the Grange hall in Clarkson. For several years, the event has been held at Echo Dell, but on account of the condition of the roads leading to that spot, it has been decided to have the event at the usual place of meeting. This will be the sixth annual summer outing of this grange.

Walter F. Kirk, a member of the state legislature and a member of the executive committee of the Ohio state grange will be the speaker during the afternoon.

Included in the sporting program will be a race for fat men and one for women; 200 yard dash for young men and also one for young women; 100 dash for children, both boys and girls; nail driving contest for women and also one for girls. A pie eating contest will close the sporting events.

A prize has also been hung up for the most delapidated automobile that will be driven into Clarkson that day!

An invitation has been extended to members of all granges in the county to attend this outing, as a welcome to all non-members of the grange.

"We hope to have the best meeting in years," Secretary James F. Veness declared in announcing the program. This will be the first time Mr. Kirk will have talked in this county.

"PASSION PLAY" TO BE PRESENTED

A new service is in preparation for the Lisbon public on next Sunday evening at the Lisbon operahouse, under the auspices of the First Reformed church and directed by the pastor, Rev. O. J. Harvil. An array of talent has been secured for this service. A solist of commanding influence has been booked and two quartets—male and mixed—will be present. A reader of reputation will contribute to the evening's program.

The "Passion Play" in motion pictures will bring the chief message of the evening. An orchestra will play from 7:10 to 7:30, when the program starts. There will be no admission fee, but a free will offering will be lifted to meet expenses. This is a sacred service.

Irving Willis Hall, of Cleveland and Margaret Lucille Probert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Probert of Salem, and who has been engaged as a nurse, have been granted a marriage license by Probate Judge Lodge Riddle. They are to be married by the Rev. Miller at Salem. Other marraige licenses issued were to Paul Lucician and Olympia Ventresco, of Salem, who who are to be married by the Rev. DIVORCE SOUGHT BY SALEM WOMAN

After Joe Yonovich was fined $1,000 for violating the liquor laws, he gave a note with security for the payment of the fine. But he has left the county and is residing with Mike Tepavac on Wells street, Steubenville.

His wife has now through he counsel, K. L. Coburn of Salem, asks for a divorce, alimony, custody of her children and a restraining order against her husband.

Mrs. Yonovich, who resides on R. D. No. 6 Salem, charges her husband with hibitiual drunkeness, extreme cruelty, in that he ill treated her.

She declares that she put $3,000 into the farm that she and her husband owns, and that he put $2,000 in the deal, and that the deed is made to them jointly. She also asks the court to have Sheriff George Wright restrained from selling the farm to satisfy the note, now in default, which her husband gave to liquidate his liquor fine. Arestraining order is also asked from the court against her husband from in anyway interfering with the plaintiff, or from selling the farm or any chattles thereon.

Hessian Fly Fails To Inflict Usual Amount of Damage

The Hessian fly, the worst insect pest of wheat in Ohio, did four percent less damage throughout the state last year principally because farmers sowed their crop at the right time, a state survey shows.

"Fly-free dates were particularly well observed last fall,' says county agent Lloyd Lower, "but some counties still have on infestation as high as 28 percent. Sowing dates should be observed this fall as rigidly as before. The safest time to sow wheat in Columbiana county is between Sept. 28 and October 4th."

"By postponing wheat sowing until this period the Ohio grower will outwit the Hessian fly. This insect emerges as a fly from the old stubble on about the above date in this county and lives only a few days. If the insect fails to find new wheat plants on which to lay its eggs it will die without having reproduced.

"The survey shows that Drake, Fairfield and Champaign counties have an infestation of more than 20 percent this year, and other counties of the state range to as low as one-half of one per cent. The figures also show that as a general thing infestation was much reduced in districts where the fly-free dates were most rigidly observed.

"County-wide co-operation is necessary. One or two early sown fields in a community may be a menace to the entire district."

The End of August Brings Clearaway Sale Prices in Almost Every Section of the Store

Do You Know?

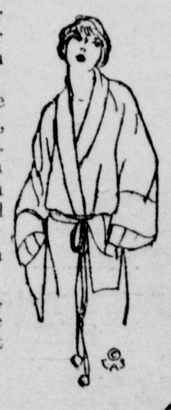

Women as shoppers may be divided into three classes. Those who shop where fancy dictates; those who shop here and there wherever there happens to be a "special sale"; and those who concentrate on a reliable store of long standing that has stood by them through all phases of business conditions, always maintaining honest quality at honest prices.

In the long run, which class of shopper is the gainer? Unquestionably it is those who receive constant, unwavering value in their favorite store. The steady 100% value they receive for every dollar spent totals surprising savings at the end of a year, as there is never a regretted purchase—there is never a loss.

Our patrons are largely of this last class and new ones are being added to our ranks every day.

SHOWER OF OVER-RIPE FRUIT GREETS WIDOW 70, AS SHE MARRIES MAN, 30

CATANIA, Sicily.—A whole neighborhood in this Sicilian city has been in a state of tumult on account of a singular marriage. The disturbances have been so great that the police have had to interevne.

Providenza Leone, a robust woman, seventy-six and quite able to take care of herself, decided, after being a widow for a long period, to marry Tommaso Nicoletti, a bachelor of thirty. She had kept a shop for fifty years and had prospered so that her worldly goods were not to be despised, and her next of kin had had their eyes on her possessions as a sure thing for themselves. Consequently, when they heard of the projected wedding they were furious and determined to prevent it at any cost.

At the hour set for the ceremony these relatives and their friends, who were gathered together in front of the bride's house began to make a verbal demonstration, and their words were accompanied by a primitive orchestra, in which every possible sort of instrument had a part, and the discord and noise were terrific.

As the bridal couple started to go to the Town hall for the civil marriage the crowd covered them with a shower of over-ripe fruit and vegetables. In front of the church the same thing happened. The priest was ready to celebrate the religious part of the wedding; but the police and the carabinieri had to be called to get the disturbers out of the church and permit the ceremony to take place.

MANY FEATURES AT STATE FAIR

Wheeling Fair Management Plans for Big Crowds This Year.

The leading purchasers of "big-time" outdoor acts, according to Frank Wirth, husband of the famous equestrienne, May Wirth, are the large fairs of the United States and Canada, which are constantly seeking novel and sensational features for the entertainment of their enormous crowds. One of the largest buyers of the West Virginia state fair, Wheeling, which, according to Mr. Wirth, has booked through his New York agency, an $11,000.00 program of stellar attractions for the annual exposition, September 7th-12th, including such notable features as the English Ballet; the Gaudsmidts; Sully, Rogers and Sully; the Great Cahill; the Phunny Phord, and Fred's Pigs.

Two noted bands will play each day and evening at the fair. Corvone's 107th Field Artillery band and Lampham's band of soloists. Lampham has played before at the fair, proving so popular that a return engagement was requested, and is too well-known to fair visitors to require any introduction. Corvono's band, called the American Legion band, played for the president of France during the World war and escorted President Woodrow Wilson on his first visit to France. Corvono led the 160-piece Great Lakes Naval band on its tour of the country in behalf of the third and fourth Liberty loans, and enjoys a high reputation among America's leading band masters. On the opening night of the night show of the fair (Labor Day) the two bands will join to give a massed concert.

As the grand climax of each night's show a brilliant pyrotechnic spectacle will be shown.

Entries in exhibit departments and in the racing card are unusually heavy, and there is every promise that the coming fair will surpass all previous ones in every respect.

Locked in his bed room by his mother to prevent his marriage, a youth of County Monahan, Ireland, could not meet his fance at the altar, but escaped after 48 hours, carried the girl by speeding motor to a minister and was quickly married.

Messages sent by wireless to Eastern United States from the West Indies cost 36 cents a word.

VALUED MOSAIC IS UNEARTHED

ROME.—Monsignor Sascioli, director of St. Peter's Museum, has unearthed in the underground vaults of St. Peter's basilica an original unrestored mosaic by the thirteenth century artista Giotti, representing the head of an angel.

This treasure was found beneath another subject, which was popularly supposed to be by Giotti. It now seems that the latter was an imitation done over Giotti's original work.

The mosiac was part of Giotti's great mosaic over the principal entrance to the portico of St. Peter's.

RICH DISCOVERIES IN SOUTH WALES

SYDNEY—Important gold discoveries have been made at Springbrook, New South Wales, and at Blackhill, near Ballarat, Victoria state. That at Springbrook is said to be very rich, assays for the lode yielding six ounces to the ton.

Old-timers are bestirring themselves at Ballarat, the scene of many famous gold rushes of the past. The Blackhill reefs are nearly three feet thick, and it is reported that crushings are giving big yields.

Rome, Italy, is to spend $50,000,000 in public works by 1936.

Roots and Herbs Used in Medicine

The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., of Lynn, Mass., is recognized as the greatest user of roots and herbs in the world. Over half a million pounds are used annually in manufacturing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. These herbs are gathered with the greatest care at the season of the year when the medicinal elements which they contain are at their best. This, in part, accounts for the wonderful efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in restoring ailing women to health and strength.

Fair Living Costs

An economist gives as his explanation of the high retail food costs the fact that such large numbers of purchasers in these days must buy their food in small quantities. The apartment house dweller has no satisfactory storage space for fruits and vegetables. Those articles must be purchased by the pound in quantities small enough to be used up in a few days.

It costs the grocer about as much to deliver these small purchases as it did to handle the larger ones of former days. Hence, the things cost the buyer more in proportion than ever before. There are other complexities in modern life which add to its costliness.

It should be remembered, however, that many of these things add also to the comfort and health of the modern home. Everything must be paid for in labor or in money. If we are to rejoice in freedom from some past labors we must expect to pay something for that freedom.

Wherever living costs can be reduced by sensible standardization, better methods of production and distribution, by the elimination of waste and the fullest utilization of goods, the intelligent consumer will do his part to effect such cost reduction. But where living costs can be reduced only by giving up health, comfort or freedom, intelligent consumers will recognize their fairness and pay them cheerfully.

Sensible And Also Pretty

To a college girl in Evanston, Ill., goes credit for the discovery of a valuable business principle.

Just out of school, and feeling around for something profitable to do, she heard a friend complain that her daughter "would not wear warm pajamas because they were not pretty." It was even so. The girl-graduate looked around the stores and found that light pajamas were pretty, but warm, comfortable ones, suitable for winter, were not. That gave her the business opportunity she was seeking. She bought some flannel in charming colors and patterns and started making pajamas for some of her friends, on trial. The idea took so well that now she has an established trade, sells pajamas all over the United States and in some foreign lands, and is making money with them.

People will not buy sensible clothing if it is not attractive to the eye. They will buy clothing that is not sensible if it is attractive. The ideal way is to make clothing both sensible and beautiful. The same principle applies to other forms of merchandise.

Housing Need Ended

Even while the building boom throughout the country continues, the department of labor finds that the housing shortage is ended. As regards homes, at least, further building might be expected henceforth only in the amount required for normal replacement. Further construction on the scale of the last few years, the department warns, will mean overproduction, with lower prices and depression in the building industry.

The building may let up now; and it may not. The question arises, what is normal in housing accommodations? There are many evidences that the American people have risen to new standards. If so, hereafter they will require better homes and more housing space than ever before, per unit of population. They may also require replacements more frequently. It may prove to be almost as hard to "saturate" the market for homes as the market for automobiles.

Jazz For Work

The use of a jazz band to help Miss Ederle in her channel swim was a new testimonial to the stimulating influence of music. It is evident that music has power not only to soothe the savage breast but to rouse the civilized breast to unusual exertion.

There is probably far more potency in music in general than most people have ever suspected. The particular kind of potency depends on the kind of music played. Some kinds appeal direct to the soul, rousing the finer spiritual forces. Some appeal to the mind or imagination. Others stir the physical forces. Jazz is one of the latter.

The use of jazz to stimulate physical activity might be more widely extended. Why confine it entirely to pastime or sport? If it made people work as hard as it makes them dance, jazz might be a mighty useful force in the world.

That Morphologic Index

Here is a new way to tell whether one is fat or lean. First the investigator gets the individual's morphologic index, and that tells the whole tale. If the index is low the individual is a brachymorph, and that is a short, fat person. If the index is high the individual is a dolichomorph, and that is long and thin.

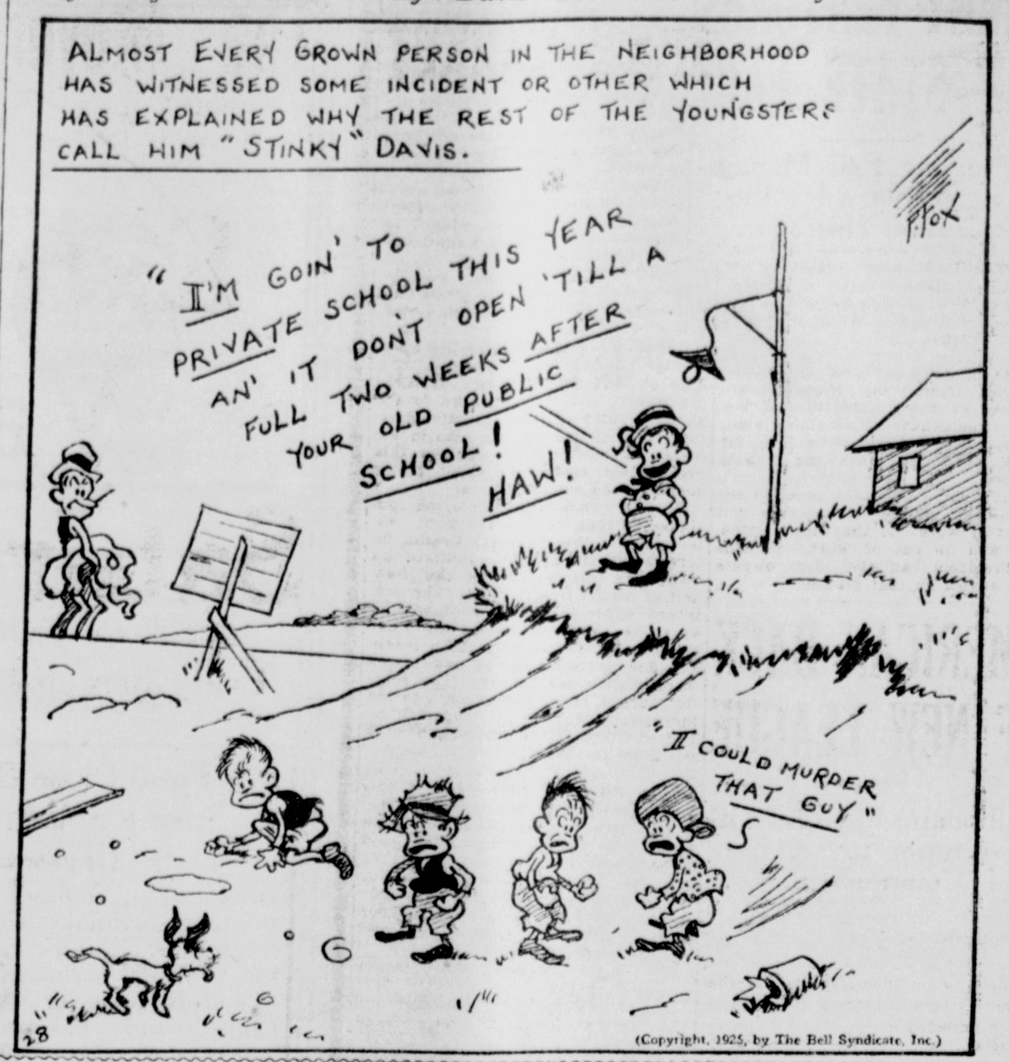

Anyone eager to find out his own true condition may follow these simple instructions. Divide the length of the arm plus the length of one leg by the volume of the body trunk and the result is the wanted—it is wanted, isn't it?—index.

Looking in a mirror may seem to get at the same truths more quickly, but it's a much less scientific way.

After all this fuss about swimming the English channel, don't blame little Willie when he tries to swim the creek.

A fundamentalist is one who believes what was once taught by modernists.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Thoughts and scenes while strolling around New York: The spray of the Plaza fountain. Rising and falling. Like the heartbeat of the city. Pigeons and the honk of geese. Jaundiced Jehus. Whatever became of Oliver Osborne?

A mansion whose only approach is by motor. A sardonic fling at the pedestrian—and book agent. A white-haired man with a fraternity hat band. Atta cake-eater! The cries of flower peddlers. Angling for Fifth avenue promenaders. George Arliss and monocle.

The tea-hounds. Languorous eyelids. Pen wiper mustaches. The parents of a movie child wonder. Sporting a liveried limousine. Howard Chandler Christy, the artist. The asepsis aroma of a hospital. Nurses whispering in the hall. A court yard filled with wheel chairs.

A woman beating a man with an umbrella. Hold 'er Newt, she's a rearin'! A cop and they vanish. The big apartment house on Seventh avenue called "Tragedy Hall." Doughnut and coffee holes. Woolly white dogs with neck bells. Ladies in wrappers. Men in shirt sleeves.

All night jewelry stores. With entire stock in windows. A guitar twangs from an open window. A woman in kid curlers. Singing "All Alone." No wonder! Radios in bootblack parlors. The fringe of the Rialto. Chorus boys and villainous heavies. Pert ingenues and oily haired leads.

The beehive of movie offices with Earl Carroll's bungalow atop. Drug stores that cater to chorus girls. Three steam riveters in a block. And me with second company nerves. Charles K. Harris. The sophisticated crowd of loungers about the Columbia burlesque house.

Broadway lights begin the nightly dance. Wonder what it will all be like 50 years from now.

The midnight movie audiences on Broadway present a strange assortment. They are mostly night workers—printers, cafeteria cashiers and pressmen. There are a few who are sleeping off earlier in the evening indulgences, but I saw only four women in one crowded theater. The morning movie audiences are also mostly men and I am told the larger number are New Yorkers. They are salesmen, collectors and others whose time is largely their own and they kill a little of it with a bit of romance and comedy.

George M. Cohan rarely talks business in his office—indeed he seldom goes there. But if he is trapped by an appointment he takes his man to a little areaway in the rear of the theater that bears his name where he can plunge his hands deep in his trouser pockets and walk up and down. Cohan admits he cannot talk well sitting down. He differs from many actors who can strut sitting down.

Most big executives have some nervous mannerism. They like to fidget. Henry L. Doherty slicks back his hair. A. L. Erlanger fiddles his watch chain. Will Hayes writes his initials over and over again on a blotter. George Horace Lorimer plucks at an eyebrow. Otto Kahn rubs the back of his hand slowly. Roy Howard pulls the lobe of his right ear. And there is a big financier who, only when a big deal is hinging, chews tobacco furiously.

There are fewer chewers of the weed in New York than in perhaps any other city—or it may be white vests are out of fashion. At any rate many of the tobacco shops do not keep chewing tobacco, although they keep snuff and the number of snuff users of both sexes in the city is quite large. Building workers sometimes chew, but the majority smoke. Cigarettes, so the tobacconists say, have claimed nearly all the old time tobacco chewers.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Labor and Education.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28.—Organized labor wants education to have a purposeful function in the expanding spirit of all the people. There can be no question but that life under our democratic ideals makes increasingly large demands upon all citizens. Only through enlarged educational opportunities can labor hope to take advantage of the opportunities contained in such demands.

Labor realizes that if workers have not opportunities to keep pace with changes attending scientific discovery and research and the reformulation of organized information, they are restricted by the barriers much more effective and deep-reaching than those interposed by economic classes, for the possession of information and the training of intellectual powers will enable them to overcome all other obstacles.

Such are highlights in a discussion by Matthew Woll of the questions of labor and larger educational opportunities and the possible cooperation of the American Library association in carrying forward labor's program. Mr. Woll is one of the leading officials of the American Federation of Labor, chairman of its commtitee on education, and chairman of the executive committee of the Workers' Education Bureau.

Fundamental in labor's educational program, he says, it labor's clear-cut distinction between propaganda and education. Facts and truths are the materials with which education, as labor conceives it, deals.

"We would not even if we could," says Mr. Woll, "make of education propaganda instrumentality for any cause. American labor does not conceive of itself as a class inevitably in conflict with all other classes. On the contrary, it believes that upon broad, basic issues the interests of all groups become unified. In education our contention has been for the inclusion of all elements rather than special attention to traditionally limited groups.

"American labor, far from being at war with the rest of the nation, seeks the way to permanent betterment by trying to coordinate labor's interests with the welfare of other social and industrial groups."

As To Public Schools.

So far as the program concerns public schools, continues this authority, labor has steadily sought to broaden and enrich the curriculum and to make the method that of giving the individual control of his resources and abilities so that he may have keener joy in living, do better work, and steadily reach higher levels of understanding. As the age limit for compulsory education has been successively advanced, labor has increasingly realized that education is not something completed with any fixed period of development, but is a process paralleling mental development and that it ought to parallel the whole span of life.

"Thus we found the frontiers of adult education in the traditional university and college training from which we ourselves had been debarred," says Mr. Woll. "Many of us are making sacrifices that our boys and girls shall have academic training. Our invasion of the once exclusive region of higher education has disclosed to us that if we can not go to the university campus, the university can develop a bigger life and its service can flow through ramifications that reach to the humblest walks of men."

For adult education of wage earners labor is giving its undivided moral and financial support to the Workers' Education Bureau which exists, according to its declared purpose, to collect and disseminate information relative to efforts at education conducted by any part of organized labor; to coordinate and assist in every possible manner the educational work now being carried on by the organized workers, and to stimulate the creation of additional enterprises in labor education in the United States.

The bureau is a federation of trade unions and workers education bodies. Upon its executive committee are are representations of the American Federation of Labor, national and international unions which pay the bureau dues on a per capita basis, and local unions as well as workers' educational enterprises.

A Workers' Bookshelf.

For use in its work the bureau is developing a Workers' Bookshelf and a series of syllabi and pamphlets dealing with various trade union policies, social and labor problems. These publications are to meet special needs and to supplement more general writings, and they are said to have set a high standard for textbook writing by their combination of scholarship, simplicity and good printing. Mr. Woll says that because they realize that they need the assistance of many other groups to make the undertaking successful they have sought the cooperation of friendly teachers and socially minded citizens who have had valuable experience to contribute.

Obviously, in Mr. Woll's opinion, there is opportunity for vital cooperation between libraries and workers' education undertakings. Study classes must have books and if the public libraries can furnish them under conditions that make them easily accessible to the worker-students great good will be done. In addition to meeting the known needs of study classes, it is pointed out, there are innumerable ways in which librarians by suggestions and constructive advice can help individuals as well as groups in self-conducted study and quests for culture.

Mr. Woll says that the Federation is now concerned with the problem of increasing the opportunities for technical training, which has a direct bearing upon that essential to the maintenance of craftsmanship, the training of apprentices.

In this connection the program or immediate plan is three-angled: First to secure from affiliated organizations lists of books and treatises on the technical problems of their trades and industries; second, to secure the assistance of the public librarians of the country in making books available on the shelves of public libraries to workers' classes; and, third, to add to the number and increase the quality of such books.

It is suggested that the American Library association could be the clearing agency to interest persons competent to write such books in rendering service as well as to help establish standards to which the books should conform so as to combine authority with simplicity.

"Our trade union movement is something more than an agency concerned with hours, wages and conditions of work," says Mr. Woll, in conclusion. "We have concerned ourselves with such matters as are necessary for the establishment of primary standards of justice pre-requisite to opportunities essential to satisfaction in living. We workers want freedom and opportunity to create and our trade union movement is the agency by which we may possess that heritage.

"We are not seeking to dispossess any other group, but to put into the common life of all greater richness and beauty. We want to find a way to give reality to Democratic ideals and we realize that education must be increasingly important in our methods."

EXPERTS PROBE YOUNG SUICIDE

Dentist Was Haunted by Scenes of Past.

BY COPELAND C. BURG.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—Ghosts of the past caused the dramatic Dr. Thomas W. Young tragedy.

That was the theory on which medical experts were working today in their investigation of the suicide by means of a radio wire tourniquet around his throat in Dr. Young's cell at the height of a sensational trial for the murder of his wealthy wife, Grace Crocan Young.

Harrassing ghostly visions caused Dr. Young to become unbalanced, led to the killing with somnoform, deadly dental gas, of his wife, and finally brought the little dentist's suicide, investigating alienists declared.

"Visions of ghosts pursue me," Dr. Young told alienists who examined him several days ago.

He mentioned particularly the ghost of a brother, said by authorities to have ended his life several years ago in Washington, Pennsylvania.

"I would see my brother's vision just as I dropped off to sleep almost every night," Dr. Young told the specialists. "My brother's vision was always in a big hall. I could see his form plaintly."

FEDERAL AGENTS BREAK UP RING

42 Men Including Sheriff Arrested in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 28.—Federal prohibition officials announced today that the indictment of 42 men, including Walter L. Cohen, negro comptroller of customs and a leader in the Republican party in Louisiana, together with Dr. L. A. Meraux, sheriff of St. Bernard parish, was only the first of a series to entangle in court action a gigantic organized traffic in contraband liquor.

The accused persons, including three deputies of Meraux' and three former members of the New Orleans police force, are all named in a single indictment, which outlines an alleged plot to smuggle 4,250 cases of liquor from Havana to New Orleans at the instance of Alonzo Patterson, and Arthur Battistella, alleged rum ring heads.

According to Assistant Attorney General Arthur N. Sager, the grand jury so far has considered only importation cases. Next will be supplied evidence concerning the interstate shipment carloads of liquor by the ring to "connections" in the principal cities of the Mississippi valley and elsewhere.

The grand jury continued its deliberations today under instructions of Federal Judge H. D. Clayton, of Alabama.

Halt Bootlegging Of Aliens Into U. S. Legion Head Urges

NEW LONDON, Con., Aug. 28.—Drastic action to curb "bootlegigng" of undesirable aliens into the United States should be taken at once, James A. Drain, national commander of the American legion declared in addressing the Connecticut department of the legion today.

"This type of bootlegging," Drain said, "presents a problem which for seriousness, extent and danger of its future consequences to the future well-being of the country challenges comparison with the better known problems of rum running."

Stream Pollution Is Discussed at Columbus Parley

COLUMBUS, Aug. 28.—Plans were being made today looking toward a permanent organization of Ohio steel industries with a view to preventing acid waste from these plants polluting Ohio rivers and streams.

At a conference here between Health Director Monger and 25 representatives of these plants, J. D. Waddell of Nines was chosen to select an executive committee of seven, to be appointed from Ohio six steel plant districts—Cleveland, Canton, Youngstown, Ohio river, Mansfield and western Ohio.

Problem of preventing acid pollution of streams will be considered at district meeting and local organization offered. A research committee to be appointed at a general meeting to be held this fall, it was announced.

WILL DISCUSS ROAD POLICIES

COLUMBUS, Aug. 28.—Explanation of highway policies adopted by State Highway Director Schlessinger is expected to mark a conference here today between Governor Donahey, director Schlessinger and division highway engineers.

For the present, at least it was understood, no drastic changes in policy are contemplated. Gravel roads construction, it was indicated, may be even more extensive than heretofore.

Queen May Visit Grandson When he Returns From Africa

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Queen Alexandra may make her last visit to London this autumn to welcome home her grandson, the Prince of Wales, upon his return from his South African and South American tours.

The queen mother has been in virtual retirement for many months, her health is said to be excellent despite failing eyesight, she has elected to remain in her villa at Sandringham, where the air is more bracing than in London.

Marlborough house, the London residence of the queen mother, remains almost deserted, as the Prince of Wales chooses to continue to reside at St. James palace rather than take over the home which his grandmother has offered him.

MINERS STRIKE NEXT TUESDAY

158,000 Workers Receive Lewis' Strike Order.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 28.—At the stroke of midnight next Monday 158,000 coal miners in the anthracite region will lay down their picks and shovels. Copies of the suspension order signed by John L. Lewis, president of the mine workers' union, here last night and by five other union officials will be received today by 325 local miner unions.

Failure to renew the two-year agreement between operators and miners which expires Sept. 1, was responsible for the strike proclamation. The operators refused to accede to the miners' demands which included a $1 a day increase in wages and recognition of the "check-off."

The antthracite conciliation board will meet here today to determine the number of maintenance men to be left in the mines. A deadlock between the miner and operator representatives on this board delayed the issuance of the suspension order yesterday afternoon. Lewis and his advisors finally decided they could not wait any longer and have the local unions prepared to suspend by Sept. 1st.

No Need for Increase.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Aug. 28.—The nation need entertain no fears of the prices of bituminous coal being pocketed when operations are suspended in the anthracite fields on September 1, George S. Brackett, secretary of the Northern West Virginia Coal Operators' association, told International News Service today.

"At this time of year," Brackett said, "there is always a rush to store the bins for winter and, of course, this causes an increase in coal prices. But I do not believe any sharp or unjust price raising will result from the impending anthracite strike."

Backett, who is in close touch with the bituminous coal situation throughout West Virginia and Kentucky, expressed the belief that there would be no shortage of low-volatile bituminous coal, regarded as the best substitute for anthricite. He estimated that there is a surplus of approximately 20 millions tons of this coal in central Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Kentucky.

"The public will be well taken care of", Brackett added. "While most of the coal produced in northern West Virginia mines is of the high volative type, it is quite satisfactory for use in home and in an emergency it would tide over the important industries.

"Production is going forward on a large scale with a view to meeting the increased demands for West Virginia coal when the anthracite mines shut down. The strike no doubt will prove a boon to the bituminous industry."

Brackett said hundreds of cars of coal are being loaded daily for shipment to the Great Lakes region and that whatever amount was necessary could easily be diverted to the anthracite consuming sections.

Man and Woman Die From Effects Of Headache Powder

TOLEDO, Aug. 28.—Henry Miller, 35, and Melitta Odolni, 22, died today in the county hospital from poison believed to have been contained in headache powder.

The couple were found by police early this morning in a helpless condition in Taylor's tailor shop in Central avenue. Miller died soon after reaching the hospital.

The woman told police that she and Miller had been together in Taylor's shop and that they had sent out for headache powders, soon after taking them they became violently ill.

An investigation was launched by the coroner.

is foolishness at all times—especially after 50.

Slashing of gasoline prices continues in the east and elsewhere. Standard Oil, Tidewater Oil, Gulf Refining and the Texas Co. are having a costly fight.

Later, presumably they will get together in the old quiet way and motor owners will pay back what they are saving now, with compound interest.

Nevertheless, if you haven't an automobile, get one. Don't be a bird without wings.

Mark Sullivan says that if the miners don't strike, many coal mines will be closed, anyhow. Expecting a strike, mine owners have accumulated great coal supplies, and will close down for a while during the marketing of those supplies.

That's not a pleasant prospect for the miners. If they strike, they will be out of work. If they don't strike, they will be out of work. Perhaps the President can give mine owners some advice on that matter.

AMERICAN BACK OF NEW LEAGUE

Millionaire Finances Organization to Combat Communism.

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—An American millionaire is alleged by Moscow Communists to be financing the international league against communism, which, founded by the Swiss attorney, Theodore Ober, is called here "The Black Internatinoale."

Reports of the league, which have fallen into the hands of Communist investigators, have aroused the authorities to brand its activities as "a serious menace to the revolutionary movement."

According to the description of the league given by Moscow observers, it now comprises bureaus in France, Belgium, Germany, England, Spain, Hungary, Bulgaris, Austria, Jugo-Slavia and Italy. Its next intention is to establish national anti-communist centers in the United States, Argentine, Brazil, China, JJapan, Sweden, Denmark, Portugal, Roumania, Esthonia and Lithuania.

At the same time, it is alleged, the league intends to organize through the European bureaus of nations possessing colonies, centers for the spread of anti-communist propaganda in Africa and Asia.

Theodore Ober, organizer of the league, is the Swiss attorney who defended the ex-czarist officer Conradi, who killed the Soviet diplomatic representative, Vorovsky, and thus brought about the strained relations which still exist between Switzerland and Soviet Russia.

MAKES REPLY TO MARSHALL

Darrow Denies That he Sought Publicity in Scopes Trial.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 28.—Questioning the "ethics of a judge in another state giving his opinion, especially when he knows nothing about the case," Clarence Darrow censured yesterday by Justice Marshall of the Ohio supreme court for his actions in the Scopes case, replied today to the Ohio jurist. Darrow stopped in Kansas City on his way home from Kirard, Kans.

Darrow denied he had ever said, as Judge Marshall had quoted him, that "courts are cockpits in which lawyers may fight."

Replying to Judge Marshall's charge, evolution was not an issue in the Scopes case and purely a publicity move by Darrow, the Chicagoan said:

"Judge Marshall should have read the Tennessee statute. The caption was entitled, 'An Act to Prevent the Teaching of Evolution in Public Schools.' The caption is part of the statute.

"The admission of evidence as to the theory of evolution we believed was competent and the lawyers for the defense agreed. It should be assumed that the lawyers who spent much time on the subject were justified in raising the question. I should presume Judge Marshall knows this."

ACTRESS MARRIES EX FOOTBALL STAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 28. — Jeanne Eagles, stage star, and Ted Coy, famous Yale football star of 10 years ago, who were married at Stamford, Conn., Wednesday, are spending their honeymoon at Mrs. Coy's $70,000 summer home, near Ossining, N. Y., it was learned today. Mrs. Coy plans to continue her stage work during the coming winter at least, her friends said.

CHURCH ROBBED TWICE IN WEEK

MARION, O., Aug. 28.—Breaking a door lock thieves last night entered St. Mary's Catholic church and broke into the contribution box for the poor, but got no money, Father F. X. Cotter, pastor reported to police today. This is the second time that the church has been broken into this week. The first time a large silver and gold coffer was taken and the tabernacle in the new main altar was ruthlessly destroyed.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—New factors in motor manufacturing, which are expected to result in lower production costs, were used as the principal arguments in boosting prices of motor stocks in the early trading today. The most important of these are the possible adaptation of the English models of small or "bug type" cars, and the manufacture of a type of engine which will secure a much larger mileage per gallon of gasoline.

Chrysler Motor continued its spectacular advance and reached a new high at 149¼, up 8 points. Jordan, Studebaker and White Motors forged ahead a point or more in active buying. Hudson Motors was also in demand on reports that earnings this year would amount to about $11 a share on the common stock.

St. Paul common and preferred continued strong as the result of announcement that powerful Boston interests will attempt to rehabilitate the company's finances through the channels of higher freight rates. The preferred topped 16 and the common sold up to 8¾. Railroad stocks in other sections of the list were more freely supplied on profit taking and prices were slightly reactionary. The reaction spread, in the second hour, to the industrial stocks and specialties, United States Steel dropping back a full point to 122¾.

BABE SLAYER OPENS FIGHT

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 28.—Attorneys for Cosmo Ferranto, condemned to die early next Friday for the murder of a two-year old baby, today opened an eleventh hour fight to have the sentence commuted.

A petition was sent to Governor Donahey. The chief executive of the state was asked to study the circumstances of the case. Ferranto is said to have been partially insane when he stabbed little Ernest Ferritto.

Ferranto has attempted suicide twice since he was placed behind prison bars.

FIRE DAMAGES TOLEDO HOTEL

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 28.—Fire early today completely gutted the Toledo hotel, forcing eighty guests to flee in their night clothes.

The Toledo Blade occupies an adjoining building.

16 YEARS OLD

By FRANK E. MASON

PARIS — Sixteen-year-old Warren Pershing, son of Gen. John J. Pershing has sown the seeds of a social revolution that may shatter one of the oldest traditions of the best families of France. Warren Pershing has gone to work. While French boys, who consider 25 years a good age to begin to look for a job, are playing tennis or swimming at the seashore, Warren, dressed in grimy overalls, is perspiring in a Paris automobile repair shop as a mechanic's apprentice.

The Paris newspapers are full of accounts of Warren Pershing's energy and initiative. French fathers, who themselves never worked until the age of 25 or 30, are beginning to suggest to indolent sons that if an American generals' son can work at the age of 16, druing his school holidas, they should make themselves useful at the age of 20.

Simone Tery's interview with Warren, published in Le Quotidien, is typical of the stories in the Paris press.

"I found the son of the American generalissimo astride the mudguard of a limousine. His head was buried in the motor. From behind he had the appearance of a large Teddy Bear, dressed from head to foot in grimy, greasy khaki.

"'Is your work interesting?' I asked.

"Warren jumped and turned toward me the face of a child. Sixteen yaers. He appeared to be no more than 13. His peaches and cream complexion is surmounted by a wealth of beautiful blond hair, apparently curled by the angels. Under eyebrows so blond as to be almost unnoticeable, his small blue eyes appear a little hard and cold.

"'How did you happen to have the idea to leave your school in Lausanne and spend your summer vacation working here?'

"'My father thought it was a good iden, and so did I.'

"'Where you ever in Europe before you started going to school in Lausanne?'

"'Where?'

"'Oh, around — everywhere,' with a wave of the youngster's hand, as he continued his work.

"'No.'

"'You're well pleased to be alone'?

"'I've always done what I wanted to.' He appeared to think over this last answer which bothered him. He decided to correct it. "'That is, I've almost always.'"

Belgium's falling cost of living has apparently stopped.

AUTO CLUB OPENS FIGHT ON SPEED TRAPS AND ROAD SIDE COURTS

State Auditor Joseph Tracy was requested today by Wesley S. Thurstin, Jr., Ohio State Automobile association president, to instruct his examiners to make findings against all justices of the peace who have collected fines and costs from motorists.

At the same time Thurstin said the state Automobile association is contemplating starting inquiry to ascertain what right the justice of peace has to try motorists and will insist upon his removal from office if the practice does not cease.

Justices of the peace do not have final jurisdiction in speed cases, but do have the power to inquire into them and then bind the alleged offender over to the probate or common pleas court.

The Ohio State Automobile association special speed trap committee, of which E. M. Diehl, secretary of the Columbiana County Motor club is a member, sponsors this opinion which is supported by a statement from Attorney General C. C. Crabbe which reads:

"Justices do not have final jurisdiction under speed laws. Decided by common pleas court cases of Buras versus state."

In the decision, no final jurisdiction is granted to Justices of the peace by the legislature in criminal cases arising under chapter designated as motor vehicles from Section 12603 to 12628-1 inclusive, of the general code of Ohio, and no jurisdiction can be extended by implication.

"Representing more than 150,000 Ohio auto club members, the Ohio State Automobile association has always been opposed to the reckless driver," Thurston said. "Justice of peace courts will find the state association just as ardent in its fight to oust the reckless driver as it is ambitious to curb the activities of the alleged speed courts, but the association insists all cases be tried in proper courts."

Builds Barn Big Enough to Exercise 100 Cows

Waukesha, Wis.—A furnace-heated "pasture" large enough to accommodate 100 cattle is one of the latest innovations in dairying, now being planned by Howard T. Greene, owner of Brook Hill farm, near here. The structure is to be a huge barn in which the dairy cows can wander as they might in an open field.

Mr. Greene was faced with the problem of turning high-priced pasture land into grain crops and at the same time providing comfort for his milk-producing cows. He solved the difficulty by constructing a barn 190 feet long by 50 feet wide.

"Land is too high priced to provide pasture for several hundred cows," Mr. Greene declared. "The barn will have to serve as a makeshift for the pasture and will give the cows room to exercise. No stanchions will be placed in the barn, for I want the cattle to have the comfort of moving around, which they would not get were they quartered in stanchions.

The walls and floors of the structure will be insulated. Flues provide for circulation of hot air supplied by a furnace in an adjoining building. The barn will be divided into four sections, each to hold 25 cows.

Under the proposed plan each cow will pass a third of the day in the roomier quarters of the "exercise barn," where formerly it would be on pasture. Other parts of the day will be passed in a regular barn in stanchions.

MAN RUN DOWN BY AUTO TWICE.

WORCESTER, Mass.—As Gustaf Johnson, fifty-six, was walking on Malden street, an automobile, operated by Fred Riley, struck the pedestrian, knocked him down and passed over him.

Riley, stopping with a jerk backed up and again ran over the unfortunate Johnson. Johnson was seriously injured.

WOMAN BITES DEPUTY SHERIFF

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — That it is bad policy to bite an officer of the law was demonstrated in court here when a young lady of the flapper type was fined $50 and $10 costs for taking a bite at three deputy sheriffs

The girly went on the "biting spree" when the officers objected to her conduct at a roadhouse. A young lady companion was fined $25 for disorderly conduct when it was shown she was not guilty of biting.

She is taking a summer course in advanced mathematics, science and English literature. Miss Soroka came from the Washington Irving school, in Brooklyn, to the institute of technology on a scholarship.

The Only Difference Is Important!

A merchant in New York, who, like ourselves, does not believe that so-called "sales" safeguard the interests of the public, says that "the only difference, in our opinion, between an ordinary every-day hold-up and a reduction sale is, that in the first you pull a gun on a stranger whereas in the second you pull it on a friend."

"What a store loses in a sale," this merchant says, "is paid for by the excessive prices charged regular patrons. We simply don't do business that way."

Nor do we!

STATE CHURCH MEET LISTED

Disciples of Christ to Meet Next Month in Cameron.

Hancock county will be represented at the state convention of the Disciples of Christ to be held at Cameron September 14-17. Program is being arranged that will bring many of the leading speakers and workers of the Christian church, also a number of leaders from other churches to participate in the convention.

Rev. W. E. Pierce, the pastor of the First Christian church, where the convention is to be held, has advised local disciples that preparation is being made to entertain not less than 300 delegates. This church has just recently completed a new and up-to-date building, said to be one of the most modern in the state, and it will lend itself in an ideal way to the work of the convention.

Besides many of the leading preachers of the state who are to appear on the program, several noted preachers of other states are being invited. The coming of Arthus Nash, "Golden Rule Nash," of Cincinnati, is creating a great deal of interest. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, of New York city, has been asked to deliver one address. Dr. D. N. Jemison, of Cincinnati, founder of the Modern Knights of St. Paul, has already accepted a place on the program. Dr. P. M. Welshimer, of Canton, O., many years head of the largest Bible school in the world, will be one of the speakers.

Physician Advises People

"My wife suffered for years with stomach trouble which did not yield to any treatment. She took a dose of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy last Saturday with wonderful results. I have never seen anything like it before. I have recommended Mayr's Wonderful Remedy to several that I know need this treatment." It removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at Jesse D. Holloway and Druggists Everywhere.

STATE FAIR WILL HAVE MINE EXHIBIT

With her tremendous coal deposits, West Virginia now ranks second only to Pennsylvania in production of this basic commodity. Coal mining is the leading industry of the Mountain state, and it is, therefore, natural that the management of the coming West Virginia state fair, Wheeling, Sept. 7-12, has included, as one of its major attractions, one that will represent coal mining.

Through federal and state aid, coal mining has been a much less hazardous occupation than formerly. The United States Bureau of Mines and state mining departments, co-operating with the mining companies, have succeeded in greatly reducing the death and accident rates in mining, by the installation of safety devices, teaching safety and mine rescue methods, and close and regular inspection of mines. West Virginia has one of the most efficient and progressive mining departments in the country, of which R. M. Lambie is chief, assisted by an able corps of deputy inspectors, and the West Virginia department, co-operating with the United States Bureau of Mines, will put on the mining display at the state fair.

The mine exhibit this year will be quite different from that of former years. It will be located on the first floor of the exposition building, instead of in a tent, as formerly. There will be an interesting display of coal, safetly and mine rescue appliances, etc., but the main feature of the exhibit will be a two-hour show of moving pictures. One will be a reel, taken by the West Virginia Department of Mines, showing actual scenes in West Virginia coal mines.

The other reel was filmed by the United States Bureau of Mines and is a romance entitled "When a Man is a Miner."

WELLSBURG CAR TRACKS DITCHED

The city of Wellsburg carried out recent threats yesterday when a large force of workmen tore up the tracks of the Bethany street car line at the southern entrance to town, after the company had failed to pave between their tracks.

For some time the cars have been operating only to the city limits, due to street repairs, and will likely continue to do so now that their line only runs to the corporate boundary.

This drastic action was taken by council Tuesday night only after failure of the owners of the line, the Wellsburg, Bethany and Washington company, and the operators, the Buffalo Valley Collieries company, to comply with orders last June to pave between their tracks.

Officials of the Wellsburg, Bethany and Washington company make no secret of the fact. It is claimed that the operators have failed to live up to their contract, and that they will junk the line if it is passed back to them.

CHANGES MADE IN WORKMEN'S LAW

Amendments to the West Virginia workmens compensation law passed by the last legislature are now in effect, according to notices sent by Commissioned Lee Ott to all employers enrolled under the act.

Section No. 9 of the law has been changed so that superintendents, traveling salesmen, assistant managers and assistant superintendents are now eligible for the benefits. Heretofore, for no apparent reason, these classes have been without any rights of compensation under the state law.

Section No. 27 has been so amended that maximum disbursements for medical, surgical and hospital treatment are raised from $300 to $800, while through section No. 31, as it now reads the range of compensation is from $8 to $16 a week, the minimum rate having formerly been fixed at $5.00.

TRACTION LINE TO QUIT SERVICE

The public service commission today added the petition of the Sistersville-New Martinsville Traction company to the list of those asking discontinuance of service as a result of road building. Where the other carriers have asked permission to curtail service because of competition following completion of state highways, however, the latest application is unique in that it gives as ground for wishing to discontinue its service that the state is using the right of way in the construction of a highway. The traction company serves Paden City and Brooklyn in addition to the county seats of Tyler and Wetzel counties.

Ask anything that is a matter of fact and the authority will be quoted you. There is no charge for this service. Ask what you want, sign your name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Address The East Liverpool Review-Tribune Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Twenty-first and C Sts., N. W. Washington, D. C.

Even Uncle Sam is inquisitive. Just now he is trying to discover the most popular sizes of women's stockings, the chewing power of false teeth, whether a solar eclipse interferes with radio, and how tough beef is. These are but a few of the many problems the Bureau of Standards is working on. This branch of the Government, as well as all the other departments, is constantly engaged in research and investigations that will benefit the American citizen. Our Washington bureau is in a position to reach these great resources of service and information gathered by the federal government and pass them on to you. This service is free. State your question clearly and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. Drrdess The East Liverpool Review-Tribune. Information Bureau, Frederc J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. The newspapers are saying now that women make better automobile drivers than men. Is this true? A. M. S.

A. Doubtless these newspaper articles to which you refer related to the tests recently made by Dr. F. A. Moss of George Washington University and H. H. Allen, of the United States Bureau of Standards in which 25 men and 10 women were put through a series of tests and it was found that the average reaction time of the women was 0.56 seconds and that of the men 0.59 seconds, and the average variability of the women 0.17 seconds and that of the men 0.22 seconds.

Q. When was the first shutout in base ball? D. M. A.

A. The first shutout in professional ball was made at St. Louis, May 12, 1875, when Chicago beat St. Louis by a score of one to nothing.

Q. Why do the wheels on automobiles seem to turn backwards in the movies? P. M.

A. Motion pictures are in reality a combination of still pictures. The first picture of the automobile shows the spokes of the wheels in one position. If the next exposure of the film were made when spoke number one had advanced far enough to be in the position of spoke number two, the picture would show no motion, as spokes are identical. If spoke one had advanced less than half way to position of spoke two, the forward motion would be noticed. If, however, spoke one advances more than half way to the observer it would have the ward, as that distance would be shorter and the apparent motion would be in that direction.

Q. How much can be covered by the motor thresher in a day? F. T. S.

A. The motor-driven harvester-thresher reaps about 40 acres a day. The farm tractor makes it possible to prepare and plant the land at a rate of 45 acres a day.

Q. What countries have Ministers of Education in the Cabinets? C. R.

POTTERY WORKERS TO HOLD OUTING

At a meeting held this week of the clayshop employes of plant No. 4 of the Homer Laughlin China company it was decided to hold an outing on Saturday, Sept. 5, at Kelly's park, near Leetonia. Committees were named to arrange details. It is planned to have a program of sports in the afternoon with a baseball game between the married and single men as the feature. There will will no dancing in the afternoon, this feature being reserved for night.

PITCHER JAMES THOMAS WEDS

Coming as a surprise to his many friends in Newell is the announcement of the marriage of James Thomas, star pitcher of the Homer Laughlin China team of the Industrial league, and Miss Mary Coulson of Scio, O., which is also the home of the twirler.

The young couple quietly slipped off to New Cumberland on August 20, one day prior to the Homer Laughlin China company outing at Cascade park, New Castle, Pa., and were married. They attended the picnic the following day, after which the bride returned to her home. Thomas had planned to return to Scio in the fall, but it is probable he and his wife will remain here where he is employed in No. 6 plant.

LEAGUE GAME HERE SATURDAY

Announcement was made today that the Homer Laughlin China and Wellsville teams of the Industrial league would play off a postponed game here Saturday afternoon beginning at 4 o'clock. This game was originally scheduled for Wellsville but with their consent it was decided to stage it on the Newell diamond.

The following Saturday, Knowles, Taylor and Knowles will play here, it being one of the two postponed games with the locals. It is possible that both may be played on the same afternoon, but this has not been definitely determined. There is a possibility that league games may be scheduled here for Labor day.

Class Initiated.

Class of candidates were initiated last evening at a meeting of Pride of Newell Rebekah lodge No. 178 held in the Odd Fellows' hall. Refreshments were served by the social committee of the lodge.

Special Court Term.

Arrangements are being perfected for the holding of a special session of the Hancock county circiut court at New Cumberland next month. Number of cases will be heard by Judge J. Harold Brennan of Wheeling who will preside. The regular term of court is not scheduled to open until November.

Mission Band To Meet.

Members of the Sunbeam Mission Band of the First Presbyterian church will meet tomorrow afternoon in the Sunday school room of the church. Miss Jean Spore will be the leader. The subject will be "The Children of China." Program of music and recitations has been arranged.

MONKEYS ESCAPE FROM PARK ZOO

SIOUX CITY, Ia.—Man's developed twentieth century intelligence pitted against the jungle-gained knowledge of a half-dozen monkeys in a battle of wits in Stone Park Zoo, Sioux City, Ia., with final bulletins from the scene showing minor victories for the human contestants. In support of the evolutionary theory of progressive development of mental processes and the generally accepted superiority of human mental equipment, there had been captured but one of a party of six rehesus simians who fled from their large cage in Stone Park Saturday night and since that time have roamed abroad on the trees.

One monkey was beguiled inside the bars by peanuts and candies and two frolic about the cage while the other three, one ferocious and the largest of the family, have roamed far into the woods and all hope has been given up of recovering them untless they come back of their own free will.

Park officials valued the monkeys at from $25 tao $355, and also reported that an opossum had escaped with seven of her family of eleven. Park officials were inclined to believe that human hands had played a part in their liberation.

GRANGE, FOOTBALL STAR, NOT ONLY "RED HEAD" WHO DISTRIBUTES ICE

NESHAMINY FALLS, Pa. — "Red" Grange, the amous Illinois half-back, has a rival. Not a rival as a gridiron star though, but a san ice-distributor. And by the way, this rival is a girl—her friends call her "Red," her last name is Nuneviller, and when she "dresses up" she is known as Miss Peggy Nuneviller, 19 years of age.

She doesn t look a bit like an "iceman.' For she is pretty and the personification of grace, when she swings a 50-pound piece of ice on her shoulder and starts up four flights of stairs to deliver the load to the fourth door of a tenement.

With the aid of her sister, who is 16, "Red"—she likes to be called that, she says—she delivers about eight tons of ice daily. On Saturdays they deliver ten tons.

Not only does "Red" deliver ice to customers, but she drives her truck to the icehouse to get her stock in trade, and loads it on the truck herself.

"Red" has been the city's iceman for two years. She said she started the work "just or fun," helping her father. When her father went into another business "Red" Nuneviller continued and found it very profitable.

Neshaminy's "iceman' 'takes her "vacation' 'in the Winter time. She said: "Oh, I work in a Philadelphia factory. If you dont think thats a vacation, try tossing ice around all summer."

"Red" Nuneviller has read about her rival "Red' 'Grange. She said she admires him "immensely,' 'and would like to meet him.

"I'm not so sure," she sair, "that I couldn't play football. Maybe I will try it sometime. It isn't as hard as carrying ice."

Feed for Young Chicks

The young chicks should not be fed until they are 48 hours old, whether they are with hen or in a brooder. The first feed should consist of baked johnny-cake broken up into small pieces, or hard-boiled eggs mixed with stale bread crumbs or rolled oats, using a sufficient quantity of the latter to make a dry, crumbly mixture or a mash of two quarts of rolled oats, one part bran and one part middlings by weight, mixed with milk or with boiled eggs.

Locomotives recently ordered by the government of Czechoslovakia for its lines will travel sixty-five miles an hour on level stretches and thirty-five miles an hour in the mountains.

Nearly 40 sets of piano keys may be made from an elephant's tooth.

The "Dunce" Didn't Have a Fair Chance In School

Because they could not keep up with the rest of their class many pupils were regarded as stupid. Now it turns out that about half the children in many schools are afflicted with Goiter. This malady produces a nervous, oversensitive condition and unmistakably affects the ability to concentrate or study diligently.

Goiter is Preventable

Medical science has made this discovery and also establishes the fact that Goiter is caused by a lack of Iodine in the food or water supply.

MULKEY'S IODINE SALT is recommended in all families where there are children. It is to be used just like ordinary salt in all cooking and on the table.

Trotters Trim Laughlin, 5 to 4, and Advance to Second Place

Deshler and Pollock Carry Off Honors In City League Contest

Sonny's Double in Fourth Clears Bases and Ties Count at 3 to 3; Pollock's Single, Following Hits by Kinsey and Bayley Produces Winning Counter in Last Inning; Laughlin's Final Effort to Knot Score are Fruitless.

Sonny Deshler pitched and batted the Trotter City Industrial league club to a decisive victory over the Laughlin team in a hard fought clash last evening on the Newell lot. The count was 5 to 4.

The victory put Trotter in second place and but a game behind the leaders, K. T. K., who lost to Wellsville as the Fowlerites were winning. Hits by A. Bayley, Kinsey and R. Pollock in the fifth clinched the contest.

Deshler got away to a bad start. Three hits and a sacrifice netted a run for Laughlin in the first. The West Virginians scored twice in the second on two singles, a walk and a fielder's choice.

Meanwhile Trotter had done nothing on the offensive. But in the fourth Sonny trotted out his stuff. The situation was put right up to him, with two out and the bases full as a result of a double by R. Pollock and walks to E. Bayley and Aufderheide. He made good by doubling to left and clearing the paths, making the count three all.

It was a rejuvenated Sonny that went out to pitch the fourth. Though Watson released a two-bagger at the start he was stopped at third as Sonny fanned DeLong, caused Thomas to go out at first and McConnell to fly to Herbert. Then, darkness impending, A. Bayley singled and stole second and counted on Kinsey's double. And R. Pollock's single scored Kinsey.

Laughlin made a desperate effort to overcome the two-run lead of their opponents in the final half of the fifth. But the club got but one of them. An error by Aufderheide who had taken A. Bayley's place in middle when the latter went to second and E. Bayley to short, made possible the near tie. The shift in the lineup was caused by the retirement of Shortstop Stroble who was hit hard in the leg by a batted ball.

Aufderheide muffed Tisher's long fly, permitting him to hold up at second. He went to third as Moran skied to R. Pollock and scored on the relayed wide throw of E. Bayley to Herbert which went into the crowd. Myers went out, E. Bayley to Heckathorne. H. Stroble, batting for Wilson, singled, but Hartman, swatting for Sayres, was retired, A. Bayley to Heckathorne. The fans, wildly excited, rose to their feet at the final chance for Laughlin to win, but their hopes were dashed as H. Stroble failed to go farther than second.

Charity Taeks K. O.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Charity was out for the full count today after a sock by Eddie Kane, manager of Sammy Mandell, Rockford, lightweight. Kane asked $50,000 as Mandell's guarantee to meet Sid Terris, New York lightweight, in a benefit bout for the Jewish Maternity hospital, according to James Johnston, promoter.

Again the yanks lost to Chicago, this time 6 to 5.

KAPLAN RETAINS FEATHER CROWN

WATERBURY, Conn., Aug. 28.—Kid Kaplan, featherweight champion of the world, held his title today by virtue of a rousing finish which won from the referee a draw in his 15-round bout last night with Babe Herman, the Pacific coast contender.

Herman outfought and outboxed the champion in a big majority of the rounds, but in the opinion of Jack Sheehan, the referee, Kaplan's showing in the final two rounds saved his title.

A crowd of 15,000 greeted the verdict with jeers or silence, and it was a friendly crowd drawn mostly from the champion's own state.

Herman was bitterly disappointed at the decision, apparently believing he had won by a wide margin, as did a majority of the crowd.

Had there been a newspaper decision, the bout would have been awarded almost unanimously to the Californian. The writers gave him no less than seven rounds to Kaplan's five, with three even, and the most favorable count gave him ten rounds to Kaplan's four with one even.

GUN CLUB TO HOLD SHOOT TOMORROW

Members of the East Liverpool Gun club will hold their regular shoot tomorrow at the traps near the country club.

Officers of the organization announced today that the events will start promptly at 3 o'clock.

The slipping Giants were nosed out again by the Reds, 3 to 2, and dropped to six games below the Pirates.

C. & P. NINE WINS FROM K. T. K., 6-5

Jones Victor in First Start for Wellsville Club.

Toeing the slab for the first time this season as a member of the Wellsville City Industrial league team, Pitcher Jones last evening turned in a 6 to 5 victory over K. T. K., the circuit leaders, at Columbian park. It was the C. & P. team's third win of the second half.

Jones was a puzzle the Potters found hard to solve. The five runs made by the locals in the fifth were mostly due to errors on the part of the visitors. Until the final frame, Jones delivered in excellent style and then gave way to Manning, a speed ball artist, as darkness descended over the field.

Runyan's all around performance was one of the game's features. He contributed some fast fielding and led the club's attack with three clean hits, his last blow in the sixth driving in the typing and winning runs.

The Katies used three pitchers, Bucher, who started, giving away to Sainor in the third with one out, and the latter being relieved by Stoffel in the last inning with two men on the bags, none out and K. T. K. leading, 5 to 4. Then Runyan's hit did the damage.

WORLD SERIES CASH RETURNED

Won't Sell Tickets Till Flag is "in," Declares Dreyfus.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 28.—Hundreds of dollars are being received from hopeful followers of the Pittsburgh Pirates, bent on doing their world series ticket shopping early, Sam Dreyfus, secretary-treasurer of the club, announced today. But just as many dollars are being returned to their owners via the next mail.

"We won't accept a single order for world series tickets," Dreyfus said, "until the 'Pirtes actually are 'in' mathematically."

Dreyfus admitted it would be necessary to erect circus seats in the outfield, if Pittsburgh wins the pennant. But the management didn't know how many temporary seats would be built or even approximately how many they would accommodate.

Some say superstition figures in the Pirates' failure to make elaborate preparations for entertaining at a world series.

The Coach - - - 1045
The Sedan - - - 1095
F. O. B. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax

Bodies by Fisher on all Chrysler enclosed models. All models equipped with balloon tires. Hydraulic four-wheel brakes at slight extra cost.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan. Chrysler dealers and superior Chrysler service everywhere.

No other four but the Chrysler Four gives such a smooth flow of power, such sustained speed, such lightning pick-up and almost incredible fuel economy. This is the result of the same fine engineering which produced the phenomenal Chrysler Six.

In no other four is vibration so completely isolated. Chrysler Four smoothness is due to a floating platform spring which supports the front end of the motor and to live rubber bushings which insulate the rear motor bolts eliminating metal to metal contact—distinctive Chrysler design which keeps all vibration away from the frame and out of the body.

No other four has such high quality, or is built to such rigid precision standards and material specifications. More alloy steels are used in the Chrysler Four than in many cars which cost twice as much.

No other four presents the lithe and graceful appearance which is so individually Chrysler. There are many who acclaim it one of the two smartest cars ever built, regardless of price—and both are Chrysler.

No other four offers such roadability and riding ease because of the Chrysler principles of low center of gravity, correct distribution of weight and Chrysler spring suspension combined with balloon tires.

No other four is so safe because of the Chrysler hydraulic four-wheel brakes, which are optional at slight extra cost.

And, to cap the climax, no other four carries with it the same feeling of trust and confidence in its quality and craftsmanship. Because this Four is a product of Chrysler, and is as inevitably stamped with the Chrysler genius as its companion car, the Chrysler Six.

Come in—we are eager to demonstrate to you these and other matchless Chrysler Four advantages.

Chrysler Six—Phaeton, Coach, Roadster, Sedan, Royal Coupe, Brougham, Imperial and Crown-Imperial—attractively priced from $1395 to $2095, f. o. b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax.

OLSO, FORMERLY CHRISTIANIA, REBUILT FROM RUINS OF FIRE

NEW YORK—Oslo, whose date line now figures so often in news of Amundsen, the Norwigean polar explorer, is the rechristened Christiana and capital of Norway. It was founded in 1047 and has a population of 242,000.

Since January 1, by royal decree, it has been known as Oslo, the old name of the city and a name older than the town. Before King Haraald Hadraade built the famous St. Mary's Church, in the eleventh century, the site had been used since time immemorial as a fair grounds.

Oslo was known as Oslo until 1624, when a great fire ruined the greater part of the city. Where upon King Christian IV. ordered the inhabitants to move a mile farther west under the guns of the Akersnus fortress. There he planned the present town and named it after himself—Cristiania.

The friction betwen Norway and Sweden over the dispute as to the ownership of Greenland overcame the inertia against changing the name of the town. The lower House of the Storthing, or Congress last june passed a bill to change the name of the town. On July 4, 1924, the Upper House made the bill a law. It came into effect January 1, the City Council having requested that the change not be effective until after the tercentenary of Christiania last September.

The city is new nearly all modern, but built on the originaldesigns of King Christian. The chief industries are iron foundries, weaving, spining and paper mills. Hugs quantities of matches are also made there. The shipping trade is extensive.

LONDON HAS OLD STYLE OMNIBUS

LONDON.—London has gone back to the horse-drawn omnibus of a hundred years ago.

Mindful of the fact that American tourists are interested in things ancient, two alert young Englishmen have started a horse-drawn omnibus service through the streets of London, so that tourists may experience the thrills their grandfathers had.

Snuff colored, large buttoned, becapped coats, and high hats are worn by the drivers of these ominbuses, and their vehicles are said to be nearly a hundred years old.

The carabinieri have arrested the father, but the other members of the family are still in hiding.

Congressman Sabath Has Ambition to Humanize Immigration Rules

As a Native of Bohemia, Illinois Legislator Shows Keen Interest in Matter Pertaining to Welfare of Immigrant.

A tremendous ambition to humanize the American immigration laws is the pet hobby of Representative Adolph J. Sabath (D. of Illinois), himself an immigrant and one of the outstanding immigration authorities of congress.

Coming to the United States from Bohemia in his youth, Sabah has maintained a deep personal interest in the welfare of immigrants. He knows their heartaches, their disappointments and their joys, and he has set his life to eliminate from the immigration statutes all provisions that unnecessarily inflict hardships upon those seeking a new home in America.

The story of Sabath's own life is a story of conquest against great odds. He was but a "shaver" when he landed in New York, an alien in a foreign land, but aflame with the fires of ambition. He went direct to Chicago, where he became a shoe clerk in one of the foreign settlements. He shortly became accustomed to American ways and American institutions, became a citizen and entered politics. He studied law, was admitted to the bar, was elected a municipal court judge for 12 years and then came to congress, where he has served ten consecutive terms.

Aids Immigrants.

Now he wants to take the sting out of our immigration laws. In the new selective service bill he initiaed the provisions which admit the wives and minor children of naturalized citizens, outside the quota limits. It is his belief that an American citizen has the right to bring his family from any corner of the globe to live beneath his roof. His next goal will be to amend the law so that the parents of a citizen may be admitted outside the immigration quotas.

While he demands humanized immigration, Sabath is a bitter foe of the "open door." He wants to keep out all undesirable aliens and has always maintained this stand.

For recreation, the Congressman takes long walks he loves to watch baseball games and sometimes indulges in golf. He would like to play golf regularly—if this secret can be told—but he's a little afraid of what the voters back in Chicago might say about it. Anyway, he keeps a bag of golfsticks in his office, and not so long ago his knowledge of the game was brought to light in a peculiar way.

The congressman's brother, Judge Joseph Sabath, of Chicago, visited the office, noticed the golf bag and asked:

"Do you play?"

The congressman said he did. Then Brother Joe said:

"I don't see how you can play with this outfit—there's no driver or putter in your bag."

"Oh, isn't there?" was all that Adolph could say.

A few days later Brother Joe sent the congressman the missing clubs, and now he's all set for golf.

Is a City Farmer.

Sabath is a city farmer, too. He has a farm out West on which he grows nothing but onions and potatoes, but he visits it often enough to make him familiar with all the farmer's problems. It is a sort of hobby, too, for he prizes highly the farm's crops.

The Chicagoan also has another claim to congressional distinction. He is one of the best-dressed men in the house. He favors silk shirts with narrow pin stripes, and the sartorial effect is the envy of his colleagues.

Sabath is a smoker, too, preferring the pipe. He is always content when supplied with his pipe, a can of tobacco and a box of matches—a big box, too. It is said he generally uses a box of matches for every smoke.

But here's his secret weakness: He loves pinochle and longs some day to acquire the pinochle championship of congress. But he doesn't get enough time to practice, so there's no telling whether that ambition ever will be fulfilled.

Seek Medal for Hero.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE.—Friends of Charles Crambacker, 16, are making an effort to obtain a Carnegie hero medal for the youth because of his bravery displayed in rescuing Miss Sara Morgan, a local girl, from almost certain death by drowning in the lake at the Belmont Hills Country club, near here. The girl fell from a log on which she was propelling herself about the lake and had gone down twice in 11-feet of water when Crumbacker reached her.

Insurance Men to Meet.

Conn. Joseph P. Hershberger is Most Loyal Gander of the Ohio Pond, all sections of Ohio and other cities outside this state, it was announced.

YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE ANSWERED.

Upper Michigan Pioneers Think Expedition Will Raise Trader of 1849.

Northport, Mich.—Interest has been aroused among old settlers here by the report from Chicago that a seaplane is being outfitted to locate sunken treasure in this northern end of Lake Michigan. Various stories are making the rounds as to the character of the treasure. A sailing vessel with a government pay roll in gold, a ship laden with contraband whisky, these are the most popular.

So far as the oldest settler recollects, there never was any smuggling in these waters that ended with disaster. Only one instance of government interference is known. That was when the two-masted Merrimac attempted to smuggle liquor from Sarnia to Northport to be bootlegged to the Ottawa Indians. The revenue cutter, Andy Johnson, fired two shots over the Merrimac's bows as she attempted to run ashore in Northport harbor. This story is vouched for by Mrs. Jessie W. Hilton, granddaughter of Northport's first white settler, Rev. George N. Smith.

Recalls Indian Legend.

Mrs. Hilton said it is the Indian tradition that no sailing vessel entered the bay until the early '50s. When Nanaboshoo, the Ottawa god, blew his breath upon the waters of Lake Michigan and separated the shoal waters of Grand Traverse bay from their mother-bosom, white men were unknown. Only Indians paddled their dugouts around Cat Head point entrance to the bay. The Indians were superstitious about the bay, especially Hog island, now Ford's island, twenty nautical miles due south from Cat Head. Even now, few rest in their ninety-mile paddling from the straits to claim a haven on its deeply-wooded shores. Water demons, the Indians say, are ever waiting, ready to drag the unwary traveler to the depths.

However, Mrs. Hilton has evidence that there lay just within Cat Head point, at the entrance of Grand Traverse bay, a ship lost in the early fifties. Her grandfather, Reverend Mr. Smith, came upon a specter when he entered the bay in the little two-masted sailing vessel, Merrill, in May, 1849. He had come from his Black river missionary field among the Ottawas to find a home for his Indians on the west shore of Grand Traverse bay. The ship, according to Reverend Mr. Smith, "lay down in the deep, a long stark spar pointing from its watery sepulcher." The following winter, when the bay was frozen, his Ottawa charges, fulfilling their belief that none should know of the resting place of the dead, cut off the spar level with the frozen surface.

According to the story which has come down to Mrs. Hilton, the sunken vessel was known as the Venus. It was owned by Capt. Peter Nelson and a man known as Robinson. They did a fur-trading business. George Bigelow, a stepson of Capt. Nelson, who kept Traverse light on Cat Head point in the early '50s, has told Mrs. Hilton that he remembers seeing the spar sticking from the water. The lighthouse referred to was erected in 1852 and is still in use.

No Ships Salvaged There.

Gil M. Dame, erstwhile politician and now president of Cherry Home corporation, voiced the belief of the people in the vicinity. "This section of the lake," said Mr. Dame, "never gives up its dead. No lost vessel has ever been salvaged. Down went the Sardenis, off Gardners' point on Cat Head bay. She was loaded with salt, enough to anchor a dreadnaught. She was never salvaged."

Gil Dame, also owned a ship, the W. C. Kimball, which he sold to Kehl & Stevens. On her maiden trip for her new owners, on May 8, she was lost with her crew of five, and has never been heard of since. Her deck load of shingles washed ashore all along Grand Traverse bay, and with it a trunk, but no trace of the crew, for, say old settlers, "this section of the lake never gives up its dead."

Mrs. James Stevens, widow of the captain, walked the shore day after day. She ended in the insane asylum, where she died two years ago.

The trunk washed ashore from the Kimball told a tale of fate. It belonged to a young Norwegian, Staley Johnson, who, after crossing the Atlantic, and making his way to Chicago had boarded the Kimball. Fate had let him cross the Atlantic, only to betray him on an inland sea.

A brother of Mrs. Hilton, Will P. Wolfe, was first mate of the Kimball. Wolfe was the friend of many well-known men, among them James Whitcomb Riley and Harry C. New, now postmaster general. Wolfe had been city editor of the Indianapolis News at a time when Riley, New, Harry Gingham and Luther Benson were on the staff. Maurice Benson, author of the "Tallahassie Girl," which he wrote in Northport, at Wolfe's residence, was also an intimate of the lost mate.

The Ottawas have a legend, Mrs. Hilton said, which relates that many, many years ago a great famine overcame all beasts of the Wisconsin shore. Death stalked abroad and many swam into the great waters never to return.

The airplane service between Barranquilla and Girardot, Colombia, is to be increased to twice-a-week trips in a plane with eight-passenger capacity instead of the two-passenger hydroplanes now in use.

MAN, 100 YEARS OLD STILL ACTIVE

LENINGRAD—Ivan Shcherbina, carpenter of the town Kremenchouk, has worked 100 years and is still going strong.

He claims to have worked longer than any man in the world, and to be the oldest active carpenter alive.

His claims are backed by the fact that he is now 105 years old, has been at the bench since he was five years old, and today drives a plane with the best of them.

He has survived five czars and three revolutions.

Ivan's home town trade union has just celebrated the centenary of his going to work by awarding him a pension of $2.50 a month. Besides this he reecives a small social insurance pension.

But Ivan refuses to quit. Asked if he weren't ready to take a rest, Ivan replied that the habits of 100 years were too strong to break.

"I'll work until I die," he said.

Marathon Gasoline

To the man on the street who is the final judge of the quality of any commercial article, the essential properties of gasoline are five in number:—

1. EASE IN STARTING.
2. ACCELERATION.
3. POWER FOR HILL CLIMBING.
4. ABSENCE OF KNOCK.
5. MILES PER GALLON.

Each of these properties is directly dependent upon a specific type of gasoline stock. No refinery organization can make gasoline that will give complete satisfaction to the motorist if it does not have access to a great variety of crude oils, if it does not use the most modern processes and refining methods and if its crudes are not blended to give all of the properties possessed by good gasoline. In these respects WE are very happily situated.

EAST END

SUNDAY SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET

Members of the Sunday school board of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church will meet this evening at 8 o'clock. The session was scheduled for last Tuesday evening but was postponed. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected. A full attendance is desired.

RECORD PRIMARY VOTE EXPECTED

Keen interest is being taken in the coming primaries for borough offices in Midland where a large number of candidates are in the field for the various offices to be filled at the November election. Supporters of the rival aspirants for burgess are working hard in behalf of their favorites and a record vote is expected to be cast.

Missionary Meeting.

Members of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Boyce Methodist Episcopal church will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the home of Mrs. George Cox, of Michigan avenue. Mrs. Caroline Mercer will be associate hostess.

Road Work Progressing.

Good progress is being made on the improvement of the road between state line and Smith's Ferry by Rinehart Bros., who hold the contract. Work on the highway between Midland and Smith's Ferry is also steadily advancing in charge of a Midland contracting firm.

Play Trotters Tonight.

Babcock-Wilcox team is scheduled to meet Trotters tonight on the latter's ground. Both teams are playing fast ball and a large crowd is expected to witness the contest. The former has won four straight from the leading contenders during the past week.

Woodburn Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Miss Hattie Woodburn will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the home of her sister, Mrs. Sina Curtis, 956 St. George street. Rev. J. F. Dimit, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, will have charge. Burial will be made in Riverview cemetery.

Scouts Meet Tonight.

Boy and Girl Scouts will meet in regular session this evening in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Scoutmaster Harold Downard will be in charge of the meeting.

INHERITANCE LAW IS ABOLISHED

MOSCOW, Aug. 28.—Another departure from Communism, instances of which have been becoming more frequent of late, was completed today when the council of the people's commissiars decided to abolish the law limiting inheritances to a maximum $5,000. Citizens of the Soviet may now will their entire fortunes to whomever they please.

The old law had many discriminations, permitting certain classes greater privileges than others in the matter of inheritances, and had been the cause of much discontent.

His Failure Hits Champs' Chances

The failure of "Zeb" Zachary, above, to hit his 1924 stride, has handicapped the Washington senators in their efforts to hold the pennant. He won 15 games last year and did good work as a game saver. He has won but half that number to date this year.

SHERDEL

Makes Good With Slow Ball as Biggest Asset.

Baseball wisemen will tell you that a pitcher to succeed in the big leagues must have a good curve or a good fast ball and something to mix it with.

Herewith is presented the name of Mr. William Sherdel, of the St. Louis Cardinals, who is having a measure of success in this, his eighth season in the big show, with a slow ball as his biggest asset.

Modest Bill just slowballs the opposition to death. They get lame backs swinging too quickly at his lobs and eventually become discouraged and all tired out.

If Bill continues to hold his present gait he will wind up the season in the ranks of the pitchers who can be called winning ones on their life-long records. This despite the fact that he has labored with the Cardinals who wallowed around the cellar the first three years he cavorted with them.

When the 1924 season ended he had won a total of 71 games and lost 74. Last year was but a fair one for him. He won eight and lost nine games. In 1922 and 1923, however, when the Cardinals were striking at the main ramparts of the Giant fort, Bill was going good. He won 17 and lost 13 games in 1922 and won 15 games and lost the same number in 1923.

Probably President Robinson, of the Dodgers, isn't really regretting his action in letting Dutch Ruether go last winter. Robbie labored for four years to make a winner or even dependable pitcher out of the southpaw, but got only spasmodic results. Last year, for instance, Dutch won only nine games and lost 13. Not much help there.

But right now Uncle Robbie probably casts an eye on the pitching records once in a while and inadvertently hesitates at the name of Walter Henry Ruether. For this erratic one is helping the Washington Senators step out in front in the American league and hold the pace. Not an heroic part, it is true, but he is doing his bit with considerable dependability.

And what probably does hurt Uncle Robbie is the fact that he let the left-hander go for a song. Washington paid something like $4,000 for him. This is a little sum, compared to the big checks being mailed hither and thither for untried rookies. Of course, on the other hand, the Senators probably wouldn't have gambled much more than that on the in and outer. Which may cheer Robbie somewhat.

England Feared Bryans Appointment As Ambassador

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Grave fears were held by King George of England in 1912 that President Wilson might appoint William Jennings Bryan as ambassador to the court of St. James, according to passages in the diary of Sir Almeric Fitzroy, published today.

This was the choicest revelation in the memoirs of Sir Almeric, who for twenty-five years was the clerk of the privy council. The reference to Bryan was contained in a diary entry of 1912.

Sir Almeric wrote on that occasion:

"Lord Morley found the king very disturbed lest the new president of the United States should send Mr. Bryan as ambassador to this court. It was agreed that Bryce (then ambassador to the United States) should unofficially drop a hint that such an appointment would be unacceptable."

Brooklyn outslugged the Cardinals and with the aid of a ninth inning rally won, 10 to 9. Rogers Hornsby got his 34th homer of the season.

SURRENDER

The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Poe Norris

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE.

Again Amoura's eyes searched her father's. It was very plain that he was pleased at the prospect of being rid of her for the evening. What was he up to?

"Please go ahead, then, you precious old dear. You need not feel duty-bound to take me to dinner. My engagement includes dinner, too, and I ought to keep it."

"Oh, no," he protested profusely. "No—."

"You may take me tomorrow evening if you like."

He acquiesed when his glance met his daughter's eyes. With a filial kiss he departed.

The girls met Paula's bee-eff, meaning Boy Friend, and the bee-eff's pal at the Elevated station.

Paula, impressed by her companion's father, was apologetic: "Mas ain't got no car, but he's a swell fellow, and I'm sure his friend is, too."

Amoura wore a black brocaded gown that was severely plain alongside Paula's colorful costume.

"Mac," otherwise Joe McCarty, and his pal, Ray Early, were not such bad looking chaps, Amoura decided as the quartet climbed the stairs to the station platform. Their clothes were of the collegiate cut, affected nowadays by all mechanics, bellboys off duty, and ribbon clerks, but both were chewing gum industriously.

Ray gripped his companion's arm tightly above the arm to help her up the stairs, and when Amoura, without thinking, pulled it free, he stared at her. His glance took in the suggestive, sheer chiffon hose, the dainty satined feet, and he gave his gum an extra churning.

The boys led them to the Grand Cafe, a flamboyant resort on the edge of the "Loop."

"Anything you want, girls, from soup to nuts," Mac announced magnificantly. "Won a big bet on the races today.

Paula smiled exuberantly. Amoura was unresponsive. Her eyes were roving the room; not because she was particularly interested in the throngs of tables filled with munching people, and the dancers who whirled by, but because she wanted to avoid the glances of her escort, opposite her. There was something in his expression that annoyed her; a line about his mouth that was repulsive. She was thinging that she naturally would have to dance with him, and she didn't want to.

Her wandering glance paused at a table and was arrested. No! It couldn't be. But it WAS! Her father! And he was with a young woman. A garish appearing stranger. So! . . . Her cheeks took on a tint. He was up to his old tricks.

"Let's have a little dance now," Mac was saying. "We'll just dance once before the eats come, then we'll go over to Guyon's. More fun over there." He arose. Ray Early got up, smiling down at Amoura. A faint shiver ran through her as she took his arm. When they swung out into the throng of gyrating couples, she noted the position of her father's table and determined not to be seen. Her parent slipped out of her thoughts as there was forced upon her the necessity of evading her partner's efforts to dance cheek-to cheek.

"'Smatter, don't you like me any, Babe?"

"Not so well as that, yet," she responded calmly, ignoring the sobriquet.

"Aw, I don't mean anything by it."

She gave her head a little toss, and in the manner of her father, let a shrug respond: Why, then? She felt his arm draw a little tighter around her waist, and she visioned an unpleasant evening. When the music halted, she did not wait for the encore, but started for the table. Her companion followed reluctantly. He did not look at her when he followed her suit and sat down, but inspected the parties at surrounding tables. When, after the encore was played, Mac and Paula returned to the table, he scowled. Paula regarded Amoura curiously.

"No food yet?" the host grumbled. "And me with an apetite like a locomotive for coal." He twisted himself around. "Here he comes! Three cheers!" When his soup plate was placed before him he addressed himself to the waiter: "We want some snappy service, now, gar-song." As the individual thus addressed retreated, Mas repeated: "Gar-song! How do you like my French? I can speak lots of it. Chevrolet coupe!"

Paula shook with giggles and gazed on him with adoring eyes. Speak some Spanish, too, Mac."

He grimaced foolishly at Amoura and complied: "Firpo."

Again Paula shook with giggles. It was only the thirty-fifth time Mac had "spoken Spanish" for her.

Amoura scarcely tasted her soup, thick and unsavory. That it was thick and unsavory, however, she did not notice; her eyes persisted in roving to her father's table. He was, it was plain, enjoying his little adventure. Amoura made her glances furtively, fearful that Paula would notice the object of her interest.

But Paula was occupied otherwise. "What's my name, Mac?" she asked.

"Paula She's Lit," he clowned.

"Isn't he just killing?" Paula cried to Amoura. "I never have been able to teach him to pronounce my last name correctly."

"I'm afraid I can't either" Amoura smiled, feeling the need of saying something.

"Yes, 'She's Lit," Mac repeated.

Amoura frowned, she was getting a headache. Again her eyes went to her father's table. Had this been prearranged, she wondered? She imagined it was. Yet he had agreed to take her out to dinner. . . . Poor mother!

She only minced at her meat, and the attention she gave to her salad she thought necessary. She laughed with relief at one of Mac's sallies as they arose from the table. If only she could go home now!

"Let's take a taxi," Max bellowed, when they issued from the cafe.

"Let's take two taxis, you mean," Ray Early responded. Mac grinned at him, and Paula winked at Amoura, who met her companion's glance coldly.

"We'll be over at the left of the entrance, in case we get there first," Mac cried, as he closed the door of the machine into which he had grandly assisted Paula.

"You don't like me, do you, Babe?" Ray Early murmured, taking Amoura's hand, as the taxi gathered speed. She withdrew the member, and turned upon him eyes in which little fires were lighting.

"You're not very subtle, Mr. Early."

"You may call me Ray if you like," he responded impudently.

She did not reply, but eased herself against the window of the taxi, her lips quivering with suppressed anger. He edged over, too, and took her hand again.

"Don't try to high-hat me, girlie. I've got your number." His other arm went around her.
